PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION.

THIS book has been compiled from official papers in the Foreign Office, and is intended chiefly for official use.

In preparing the compilation free use has been made of the collection of Treaties published in 1845, and re-printed as a Parliamentary Blue Book in 1853, as well as of a collection published in 1812, from which most of the earlier Treaties in the collection of 1845 were taken.

In many cases the historical notes consist of official reports, with merely such alterations as were required to throw them into a form suitable for a book of this kind. Where this is the case, it is acknowledged at the head of the note.

1st March 1862.

PREFACE TO REVISED EDITION.

THE compiler of the present Edition desires to record his obligations to Colonel Thullier, C.S.I., R.A., Surveyor General of India, and to Captain Waterhouse, R.A., Assistant Surveyor General, for the valuable series of maps by which it is illustrated and which have been prepared under their supervision.

PART I.

TREATIES, ENGAGEMENTS, AND SUNNUDS

RELATING TO THE

TERRITORIES COMPRISED WITHIN, OR IN POLITICAL RELATION WITH,

THE

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNORSHIP OF BENGAL.

BENGAL.

IN 1599 an Association was formed to trade with the East Indies, and on 31st December 1600 they obtained an exclusive Charter of privilege, constituting them a body politic and corporate, by the name of "The Governor and Company of Merchants of London trading to the East Indies."

The Company's first factory was established at Surat.

In 1624, a Firman was obtained from the Mogul Emperor, permitting the English to trade with Bengal, but restricting them to the port of Piplee, in Midnapore. The regular connection of the Company with Bengal, however, did not commence till 1642, when a factory was established at Balasore; and in 1652 permission was obtained for unlimited trade, without payment of customs, on an annual payment of 8,000 Rupees.

In 1661 Charles II. granted a new Charter, vesting the Company with power to make peace or war with any Prince not Christian, and to seize and send to England unlicensed traders. A fresh Charter was again granted in 1693, confirming the exclusive privileges of the Company for twenty-one years.

1698 a rival Company was formed, known as the new or "English Company" which amalgamated with the old or "London Company" in 1702, and parties took the name of "The United Company of Merchants to the East Indies."

During the administration of Shaista Khan, Soobahdar of Bengal, the English were subjected to much oppression. Shaista Khan exacted a duty of $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on their merchandize, and his officers arbitrarily extorted large sums from the factors, till in 1685 it was resolved to seek redress by force of arms. The hostilities of the English exasperated the Emperor Aurungzeb, who ordered that the English should be expelled from his dominions. The Company's factories were seized, and their affairs were brought to the brink of ruin, when negotiations for peace were set on foot, and a reconciliation was effected.

In 1698 the English obtained permission from Azam-oos-Shan, grandson of Aurungzeb, and Governor of Bengal, to purchase the towns of Sootanooty, Govindpore, and Calcutta. The Sunnid is not supposed to be extant; but it is more a matter of antiquarian interest than of historic importance.

✓ In 1756 Seraj-ood-Dowlah became Soobahdar of Bengal. He had previously manifested aversion to the English. The Governor of Calcutta having refused to deliver up one of the principal officers of finance under the Nawab's late uncle, the Governor of Dacca, whom the Nawab had resolved to plunder, Seraj-ood-Dowlah attacked and captured Calcutta on 5th August. One hundred and forty-six English fell into his hands and were thrust into "The Black Hole," where all save twenty-three perished in the night. On 2nd January 1757 Calcutta was re-taken by a force which had been despatched from Madras under Clive and Admiral Watson, and on the 4th of February the Nawab's army was surprised and defeated by Clive. Overtures were then made by the Nawab, and on 9th February 1757 a Treaty (No. I.) was concluded, by which the Nawab agreed not to molest the Company in the enjoyment of their privileges, to permit all goods belonging to the Company to pass freely by land or water, without paying any duties or fees, to restore the factories and plundered property, to permit the Company to fortify Calcutta, and to establish a mint. Three days after a Contract (No. II.) with the Nawab, offensive and defensive, was signed.

War having broken out between France and England, Clive attacked the French settlement of Chandernagore. Seraj-ood-Dowlah furnished the French with arms and money, and was preparing to make common cause against the English. At this juncture a confederacy was formed among Seraj-ood-Dowlah's chief officers to depose him. The English joined this confederacy, and concluded a Treaty (No. III.) with Meer Jaffier Ali Khan.

At the battle of Plassey, which was fought on 23rd June 1757; the power of Seraj-ood-Dowlah was completely broken, and Jaffier Ali was installed by Clive as Soobahdar of Bengal.

In 1758 the Shahzadah, afterwards Shah Alum, having, in consequence of some dispute with his father, the Emperor Alumgeer II., fled from Delhi, entered into a league with the Soobahdars of Oudh and Allahabad for the conquest of the Lower Provinces. The Prince advanced into Behar with about 40,000 men, and laid siege to Patna.

Meer Jaffier was greatly alarmed by the Prince's advance, and at his solicitation Clive marched with all the force he could muster to the relief of Patna; but ere he reached that place the Shahzadah's Army had almost entirely dispersed.

On Clive's return the Nawab Meer-Jaffier granted him as a jaghire the quit-rent, about three lakhs per annum, which the Company had agreed to pay for the zemindaree of Calcutta.*

In 1759 an armament of seven ships from Batavia unexpectedly made its appearance in the mouth of the river. Jaffier Ali had secretly encouraged the Dutch to send this force. Being afraid of the power of the English, he wished to balance that of the Dutch against it, while the latter were eager to share in the wealth which the British had acquired in Bengal. Clive, though sensible of the responsibility he would incur by attacking the forces of a friendly power, was satisfied that if he allowed the Batavian armament to join the garrison at Chinsurah, the Nawab would throw himself into the arms of his new allies, and the English ascendancy in Bengal would be exposed to serious danger. To prevent this, he obtained from the fears of the Nawab a mandate, directing the newly arrived armament to leave the river. Under the authority of this order, and the pretext of enforcing it, Clive caused the Dutch to be attacked both by land and water. They were completely defeated on both, and all their ships were taken. A Convention (No. IV.) was then signed, by which the Dutch agreed to pay an indemnity for losses, and the English to restore the ships and property.

An Agreement (No. V.) was at the same time made between the Nawab and the Dutch, which was guaranteed by the Governor in Council of Fort William.

To meet his pecuniary engagements, Jassier had recourse to the severest exactions. He resigned himself to unworthy favorites; and it became necessary to depose him in favor of his son-in-law, Meer Kasim Ali Khan, with whom a Treaty (No. VI.) was concluded on 27th September 1760. By this Treaty the British obtained possession of Burdwan, Midnapore, and Chittagong.

Serious disputes arose between Meer Kasim and the English regarding the right of the servants of the Company to trade and to have their goods passed free of duty, which led at last to war. Negotiations were opened with Meer Jassier, and on 10th July 1763 a Treaty (No. VII.) was executed between him and the Company. Meer Kasim, after sustaining a series of defeats, and revenging himself by the murder of his English prisoners, fled to Oudh, and eventually to Delhi, where he died in great indigence and obscurity in 1777.

In 1764 Meer Jassier agreed (No. VIII.), in addition to the sums for which he had contracted in the recent Treaty, to pay five lakhs a month towards the expense of the war which was then being carried on against the Vizier of Oudh, so long as it lasted.

Meer Jassier died in January 1765, and was succeeded by his son, Nujm-ood-Dowlah, with whom a new Treaty (No. IX.) was formed, by which the Company took the military defence of the country entirely into its own hands, and among other conditions the Nawab bound himself to appoint, by the advice of the Governor and Council, a Deputy to conduct the Government, and not to be removed without the consent of the Council.

In 1764 Shuja-ood-Dowlah, the Vizier of Oudh, under the pretence of assisting Meer Kasim Ali, had invaded Behar, but his army was completely routed, and the Vizier was obliged to throw himself on the generosity of the English. The whole of his dominions were restored to him, except Allahabad and Corah, which were given to the Emperor of Delhi, who, on his part, conferred the Dewancee of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa on the Company, by Imperial Firman (No. X.); the English becoming security for the regular payment of twenty-six lakhs a year by the Nawab, and agreeing to allow the Nawab the annual sum of 53,86,181 Sicca Rupees for the support of the Nizamat.

Nujm-ood-Dowlah died on 8th May 1766, and was succeeded by his brother Seif-ood-Dowlah, a youth of sixteen. A Treaty (No. XI.) was formed with him, by which he ratified the Treaties formerly concluded with his father and brother, and the Company agreed to support him in the Nizamut, and to allow him an annual stipend of 41,86,131 Rupees.

Seif-ood-Dowlah was succeeded in 1770 by his brother Mobarik-ood-Dowlah, with whom a new Engagement (No. XII.) was made. By this engagement the Nawab's stipend was fixed at 31,81,991 Rupees. This is the last Treaty which was formed with the Nawab. The office of Soobahdar had now become merely a nominal one, all real power having passed into the hands of the Company. In 1772 the stipend was reduced to sixteen lakhs a year, at which rate it is paid to this day. In 1873 the affairs of the Nawab Nazim having fallen into confusion, Commissioners were appointed under a special Act to arrange for the liquidation of his debts and to ascertain the amount of jewels and immoveable property held by the Government for the purpose of upholding the dignity of the Nawab Nazim for the time being. By this Act the Nawab was declared incapable of contracting any pecuniary obligation.

On the 13th August 1814 a Treaty* was concluded at London between Great Britain and the Netherlands, providing among other stipulations for the

I. Sa Majesté Britannique s'engage à restituer au Prince Souverain des Provinces Unies des Pays-Bas, dans le délai qui sera fixé ci-après, les Colonies, Comptoirs, et Etablissements dont la Hollande était en possession au commencement de la dernière guerre, c'est-à-dire, au 1er Janvier, 1803, dans les Mers et sur les Continens de l'Amérique, de l'Afrique, et de l'Asie, à l'exception du Cap de Bonne Espérance, et des Etablissements de Démérary, Esséquibo, et Berbice, desquelles possessions les hautes Parties Contractantes se réservent le droit de disposer par une Convention Supplémentaire, qui sera négociée ci-après conformément aux intérêts mutuels des deux Parties, et en particulier sous le rapport des stipulations contenues dans les Articles 6 et 9 du Traité de Paix conclu entre Sa Majesté Britannique et Sa Majesté Très-Chrétien, le 30 Mai, 1814.

II. Sa Majesté Britannique consent à céder en toute Souveraineté l'Ile de Banca, située dans les Mers Orientales, au Prince Souverain des Pays-Bas, en échange de l'établissement de Cochin et de ses dépendances sur la côte de Malabar, lequel restera en toute souveraineté à Sa Majesté Britannique.

His Royal Highness the Prince Sovereign, on his part, having nothing more at heart than the perpetual duration of peace between the Crown of England and the United Netherlands, and wishing to do His utmost to avoid anything which might affect Their mutual good understanding, engages not to erect any fortifications in the Establishments which are to be restored to Him within the limits of the British Sovereignty upon the Continent of India, and only to place in those establishments the number of troops necessary for the maintenance of the police.

V. Those colonies, factories, and establishments, which are to be ceded to His Royal Highness the Prince Sovereign of the United Netherlands by His Britannic Majesty, in the Seas or on the Continent of America, shall be given up within three months, and those which are beyond the Cape of Good Hope within the six months which follow the ratification of the present Convention.

ARTICLE ADDITIONNEL.

II. Le petit district de Bernagore, situé près de la ville de Calcutta, étant nécessaire pour assurer la tranquillité et la police de cette ville, le Prince d'Orange consent à céder le dit district à Sa Majesté Britannique, contre le paiement annuel à Son Altesse Royale, de telle somme qui, au jugement de Commissaires à nommer de part et d'autre, sera trouvée juste et raisonnable, en égard aux profits ou revenu ordinairement perçus par le Gouvernement Hollandais dans le district en question.

Article the Dutch agreed to cede to the British Government the district of Bernagore on payment of an annual sum to be fixed by mutual agreement.

In pursuance of these arrangements formal deeds of transfer were executed in the cases of Chinsurah and Bernagore respectively (Nos. XIII. and XIV.). The transfer of Calcapore to the Dutch remained in abeyance in consequence of their assertion of a claim to the exercise of certain prescriptive rights of sovereignty and independence within that factory which were inconsistent with its purely commercial status.

The tenure of the Dutch was not of long duration. By Articles 8 and 13 of the Treaty between Great Britain and the Netherlands, dated 17th March 1824 (No. XV.), the Dutch settlements in Bengal were again made over to the British Government, in whose possession they have ever since remained, and formal deeds of transfer of the settlements of Chinsurah, Fultah, Calcapore, Balasore, Dacca, and Patna* were executed (Nos. XVI. to XX.).

Additional Articles signed at Liege, 7th April 1814:—

III. On 7th March 1815 a* Treaty was signed between Great Britain and France by which the conditions of the supply of salt, opium, and saltpetre, to the French Establishments in India were regulated. To give full effect to the stipulations of this Treaty, a Convention* was agreed upon on 18th May 1818 between the Administrators of the French Establishments in India and the Government of Fort St. George by which the manufacture of salt in the French possessions throughout India was to cease, and 4,000 Star Pagodas were to be paid annually to the French Government as an indemnification to the proprietors of the salt pans. The British Government also engaged to supply at prime cost such a quantity of salt as would suffice for the domestic use of the inhabitants of the French Settlements in India, the French Government agreeing to sell this salt at approximately the same price as that obtained by the British Government in the adjoining districts.

The same facility is granted within the countries restored, to all persons, inhabitants or others, who shall have formed any establishments during the time which those countries were possessed by Great Britain.

In 1839 a Convention (No. XXIII.) was signed by which the French Government at Chandernagore renounced their right to the supply of salt in consideration of receiving an annual payment of Rupees 20,000, and further agreed to give every facility for the sale of British salt in Chandernagore and to assist the British Government in realizing the revenue produced by its consumption.

In 1853 a Convention (No. XXIV.) was signed at Paris by which the boundaries of the French and English possessions round Chandernagore were re-adjusted.

The French possess jurisdiction over Gyretty, a village lying about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles south of Chandernagore and separated from it by British territory.

Let them pass and repass without receiving a single cowrie from any of their people; and interfere not with the English Company's Gomastabs on any account, but rather take care that through all your districts their business be not obstructed in any way.

ARTICLE 1e.

Que Messieurs les Anglois étant dans les termes d'un accommodement effectuent que leur allié le Nawab s'en retourne ou au moins qu'il se tienne tranquille dans son camp, sans nous faire aucun tort, et que les articles de notre accommodement soient acceptés approuvés & confirmés par le Nawab, comme principal, autant qu'ils le concernent, tant pour le présent que pour l'avenir.

REPONSE

De la part des Anglois.

ARTICLE 1e.

Nous nous sommes déjà servi de tout notre crédit auprès du Nazim, et nous continuerons de même pour l'engager à faire rétirer son armée, le moment que les Messieurs du Gouvernement Hollandois ont rempli ses ordres. Les articles convenus entre les Anglois et les Hollandois ne peuvent point être entremêlés dans le Traité que le Gouvernement de Hougly doit conclure avec le Nazim comme principal.

Comme on n'a agi ni par déclaration de guerre, ni par commission, nos troupes & gens de Mer, ne peuvent être considerés comme prisonniers de guerre qui soient sujets à une capitulation, mais simplement comme des arretés temporels ; de sorte qu'ils doivent être libres, et sortir avec tous les Honneurs militaires.

4e.

Qu'on nous laisse dans une possession Libre, tranquille & pas diminuée, de nos établissements commerce, droits & prérogatives.

5e.

Que toutes les Personnes, Possessions, Etablissements, Terres, Maisons, Vaisseaux, batimens, tant de la Compagnie, qu'aux particuliers, & tout ce qui en depend, soient declarés libres & rendus en présence des Députés exprès, des deux partis, dans l'état qu'ils étoient.

6e.

Les Ratifications seront échangées sous l'approbation de Messieurs les Directeurs des Compagnies le plustôt qu'il sera possible.

3e.

Nous ne regardons point les Officiers et Troupes Hollandoises comme nos prisonniers ; mais comme ceux du Nazim : Nous sommes donc prêts à les relâcher dès que le gouvernement de Hougley ont fini leur negotiation avec le Nazim, à l'Exception de ceux qui veulent entrer dans notre service, ou qui demandent la protection du pavillon anglois.

4e.

Nous n'avons jamais interrompu messieurs les Hollandois dans leurs justes droits, ou priviléges et ne sommes point dans l'intention de le faire.

Convenu, & arrêté que la Langue françoise, dont on s'est servi dans quelques exemplaires de ce présent traité d'accordement, & dont on sera obligé de se servir à lavenir dans son exécution, ne fournira aucun exemple qui pourroit être allégué au préjudice des Maitres et Principaux respectifs des deux parties Contractantes, mais qu'on se réglera dans la suite selon ce qu'on trouvera à l'égard des Principaux des deux partis, qui sont dans le droit, coutume & posession d'expédier & recevoir pareils Traité & actes dans une autre Langue que le françois déjà observé, ou ce qui doit être observé.

Le present Traité & les accessions qui y peuvent intervenir, retiennent la même vertu, & propriété, que si la même coutume y avoit été observée; & les articles séparés qu'on y voudroit entremettre conserveront pareillement la même efficace, quo s'ils étoient inserés dans le traité.

TRANSLATION.

IN THE NAME OF THE Most HOLY TRINITY.

To all whom these Presents concern, or may in any way interest, be it known.

The most noble and most respectable President and Council of Fort William, and the most noble and respectable Director and Council of Fort Gustavus in these territories, animated by an ardent desire to remove all the troubles, obstacles, and differences which have been experienced in Bengal, and to re-establish complete tranquillity in their respective settlements, have, with this view, nominated, vested with full powers, and deputed the following gentlemen to Garethy, the place appointed for the conferences :—

On the part of the most noble and most respectable President and Council of Fort William, Messrs. Richard Becher and John Cooke, Counsellors of the Government.

On the part of the most noble and most respectable Director and Council of Fort Gustavus, Messrs. John Bacheracht and John Charles Kist, Members of the Political Council and of the Department of Justice, who discussed the different matters of which the insertion in the present treaty of settlement was considered necessary by their Principals here; and after mature deliberation, a pacification was agreed upon, the result of which has been an entire cessation of hostilities both by sea and land, according to the terms of the following Articles:—

Demands on the part of the English.

ARTICLE 1.

The Director and Council of Chinsura shall afford due satisfaction to the President and Council of Fort William for the insult offered to the British flag by the Commanders of Dutch vessels, and for the detention of several of our ships, which have been seized and stopped down the river, contrary to Treaties and the alliance subsisting between the two nations, as well as for other acts of hostility committed by the said vessels.

ARTICLE 2.

The Director and Council of Chinsura shall indemnify both the Company and individuals for all losses caused by the Commanders of their vessels, whether by their orders or not, and shall immediately give up all our ships, munitions, and effects which may still be in their hands.

Executed at Garhetty, the 1st December 1759.

(Signed) RICHD. BECHER.
" JOHN COOKE.

Demands on the part of the Dutch.

ARTICLE 1.

That the English shall cause their ally, the Nawab, to return, or at least to remain quiet in his camp, without doing us any injury, and that the Articles of our settlement shall be approved, accepted, and confirmed by Replies on the part of the Dutch.

ARTICLE 1.

The Director and Council of Chinsura state, that as they have always entertained pacific sentiments, the troubles which have arisen and affected the good understanding between the two nations cannot but be a source of great pain, and that what has passed respecting the British flag and the insults offered, has taken place without their orders and to their regret.

Those acts may probably have been committed by the people composing the crew under a misconception of orders. With this explanation it is hoped that the Governor and Council will be satisfied.

ARTICLE 2.

As Dutch vessels have also suffered great loss and injury, it seems hard to insist upon indemnification, but what there is in effects shall willingly be restored.

The Governor and Council are requested to consider this Article in a spirit of equity. In the event of their not desisting, we shall endeavor to satisfy them.

(Signed) JOHN BACHERACHT.
" J. C. KIST.

Replies on the part of the English.

ARTICLE 1.

We have already used all our influence with the Nazim, and will continue doing so with a view to induce him to withdraw his army, as soon as the gentlemen of the Dutch Government have fulfilled his orders.

the Nawab as a principal, in as far as they concern him, as well for the present as for the future.

The Articles agreed upon between the English and the Dutch cannot be intermixed in the Treaty which the Government of Hooghly is to conclude with the Nazim as principal.

ARTICLE 2.

There shall be a mutual oblivion of all that passed during the prevalence of troubles which have now ceased, as well as a perfect assurance of friendship, fidelity, and communication between the two nations through the respectable Chiefs of each, without the toleration of any hostility on either side, under any pretext whatsoever. Each shall do his best to maintain this good understanding and to augment the welfare of both, without directly or indirectly aiding those who may desire to hurt either nation.

ARTICLE 3.

As the acts done have not resulted from a declaration of war, our troops and seamen cannot be considered as prisoners of war, subject to a capitulation, but simply as persons under temporary detention; they should, therefore, be released and allowed to depart with military honors.

ARTICLE 4.

That we shall be left in free, quiet, and undiminished possession of our establishments, commerce, rights, and prerogatives.

ARTICLE 5.

That all persons, possessions, establishments, lands, houses, vessels, belonging as well as to the Company as to individuals, and all

ARTICLE 2.

Approved, so far as this Article does not contravene our alliance with the Nazim of the country, and shall be observed while friendship shall subsist between our respective Sovereigns in Europe.

ARTICLE 3.

We do not regard the Dutch Officers and troops as our prisoners, but as those of the Nazim. We shall, therefore, be prepared to release them as soon as the Government of Hooghly shall have brought its negotiations with the Nazim to a close, with the exception of such of them as may wish to enter our service, or may apply for the protection of the British flag.

ARTICLE 4.

We have never interrupted the Dutch gentlemen in the enjoyment of their just rights or privileges, and have no intention to do so.

ARTICLE 5.

All the vessels, barks, &c., in our possession, shall be restored as soon as our demands shall have been complied with, or an assurance given that dependent thereon, shall be declared free, and restored in the state in which they were, in presence of the special deputies of the two parties.

they shall be, on the part of the Director and Council of Hooghly.

ARTICLE 6.

The ratifications shall be exchanged with approbation of the Directors on the part of the respective Companies as soon as practicable.

ARTICLE 6.

Agreed.

ARTICLE 7.

Finally, the two parties shall be reciprocally guaranteed in respect to the execution of the foregoing Articles.

ARTICLE 7.

We do not see the necessity of this Article.

Agreed and resolved, that the French language, which has been used in some copies of the present Treaty, and which it shall become necessary to use hereafter in its execution, shall furnish no ground or any allegation to the prejudice of the respective masters and principals of the two contracting parties, but that matter shall be regulated according to the practice of the principals who are in the habit of despatching and receiving similar treaties and acts in other than the French language.

Any separate Articles which may be appended shall have the same force as if they had been inserted in the Treaty.

RATIFICATION.

We, the undersigned, accept, by these presents, the foregoing Articles of a mutual settlement negotiated and adopted for the general pacification of the establishments of our respective masters and principals through our Deputies, namely, on the one part, Messrs. Richard Becher and John Cooke, Counsellors at Fort William, and on the other, Messrs. John Bacheracht and John Charles Kist, Members of the Political Council and of the Department of Justice at Fort Gustavus here; and we approve, confirm, and ratify the same, in the name, and subject to the approbation of, our respective masters and principals in Europe, promising to cause immediately and faithfully the mutual restitution stipulated in the aforesaid Articles, with a view to the removal of the misunderstandings and disorders which have hitherto prevailed, and, moreover, to bring the contents of this convention as far as may be necessary, by means of a formal publication, to the knowledge of all those who are dependent on us, in order that the same may, in all essential points, be religiously observed, so as to avoid in future whatever may tend to disturb the friendship and good understanding now happily subsisting between our respective establishments.

In witness whereof, we have signed and affixed to these presents the Seals of the two East India Companies, respectively.

DEMANDS made on the part of the NABOB MEER MAHOMED JAFFIER KHAN, and agreed to by the COUNCIL at the time of signing the Treaty.

ARTICLE 1.

I formerly acquainted the Company with the particulars of my own affairs, and received from them repeated letters of encouragement and kindness with presents; I now make this request that you will write in a proper manner to the Company, and also to the King of England the particulars of our friendship and union, and procure for me writings and encouragement, that my mind may be assured from that quarter, that no breach may ever happen between me and the English, and that every Governor, Counsellor, and Chiefs of the English that are here, or may hereafter come, may be well disposed and attached to me.

ARTICLE 2.

Since all the English gentlemen, assured of my friendly disposition to the Company, confirm me in the Nizamut, I request that to whatever I may at any time write, they will give their credit and assent, nor regard the stories of designing men to my prejudice, that all my affairs may go on with success, and no occasion may arise for jealousy or ill-will between us.

ARTICLE 3.

Let no protection be given by any of the English gentlemen to any of my dependents, who may fly for shelter to Calcutta or other of your districts, but let them be delivered up to me on demand. I shall strictly enjoin all my Fouzدارs and Aumils, on all accounts to afford assistance and countenance to such of the Gomastahs of the Company as attend to the lawful trade of their factories; and if any of the said Gomastahs shall act otherwise, let them be checked in such a manner as may be an example to others.

ARTICLE 4.

From the neighbourhood of Calcutta to Hooghly, and many of their Per-gunnahs bordering upon each other, it happens that, on complaints being made, people go against the talookdars, ryots, and tenants of my town, to the prejudice of the business of the Circar; wherefore let strict orders be given that no peons be sent from Calcutta, on the complaints of any one upon my talookdars or tenants; but on such occasions let application be made to me, or to the Naibs of the Fouzdarry of Hooghly that the country may be subject to no loss or devastations; and if any of the traders, which belonged to the Bucksbunder and Azimgunge, and have settled in Calcutta, should be desirous of returning to Hooghly, and carrying on their business there as formerly, let no one molest them. Chandernagore and the French factory were presented to me by Colonel Clive, and given by me in charge to Ameer Beg Khan; for this reason let strict orders be given that no English gentleman exercise any authority therein, but that it remain, as formerly, under the jurisdiction of my people.

ARTICLE 5.

Whenever I may demand any forces from the Governor and Council for my assistance, let them be immediately sent to me, and no demand made on me for their expenses.

The demands of Nabob Shujah ul Mulek, Hossam & Dowla, Meer Mahomed Jaffier Khan Behauder, Mahabut Jung, written in five Articles, we, the President and Council of the English Company, do agree and set our hands to, in Fort William, the 10th of July 1763.

No. IX.

ARTICLES of a TREATY and AGREEMENT concluded between the GOVERNOR and COUNCIL of FORT WILLIAM, on the part of the ENGLISH EAST INDIA COMPANY and the NABOB NUDJUM UL DOWLA.

On the part of the Company.

We, the Governor and Council, do engage to secure to the Nabob Nudjum ul Dowla, the Soubahdarry of the Provinces of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa; and to support him therein with the Company's forces against all his enemies. We will also at all times keep up such force as may be necessary effectually to assist and support him in the defence of the Provinces; and as our troops will be more to be depended on than any the Nabob can have, and less expensive to him, he need therefore entertain none but such as are requisite for the support of the Civil Officers of his government, and the business of his collections through the different districts.

We do further promise that in consideration the Nabob shall continue to assist in defraying the extraordinary expenses of the war, now carrying on against Shujah ul Dowla, with five lakhs of Rupees per month, which was agreed to by his father; whatever sums may be hereafter received of the King, on account of our assistance afforded him in the war, shall be repaid to the Nabob.

On the part of the Nabob.

In consideration of the assistance the Governor and Council have agreed to afford, in securing to me the succession in the Soubahdarry of Bengal, Behar, and Orissa, heretofore held by my father, the late Nabob Meer Jaffer Ally Khan, and supporting me in it against all my enemies, I do agree and bind myself to the faithful performance of the following Articles:—

ARTICLE 1.

The Treaty which my father formerly concluded with the Company upon his first accession to the Nizamut, engaging to regard the honor and reputation of the Company and of their Governor and Council as his own, and granting perwannahs for the currency of the Company's trade, the same Treaty, as far as is consistent with the Articles hereafter agreed to, I do hereby ratify and confirm.

ARTICLE 2.

Considering the weighty charge of Government, and how essential it is for myself, for the welfare of the country, and for the Company's business, that I should have a person who has had experience therein to advise and assist me, I do agree to have one fixed with me, with the advice of the Governor and Council in the station of Naib Soubah, who shall accordingly have immediately under me the chief management of all affairs: And as Mahomed Reza Khan, the Naib of Dacca, has in every respect my approbation and that of the Governor and Council, I do further agree that this trust shall be conferred on him, and I will not displace him without the acquiescence of those gentlemen; and in case any alteration in this appointment should hereafter appear advisable, that Mahomed Reza Khan, provided he has acquitted himself with fidelity in his administration, shall in such case be reinstated in the Naibship of Dacca, with the same authority as heretofore.

ARTICLE 3.

The business of the collection of the revenues shall, under the Naib Soubah, be divided into two or more branches as may appear proper; and as I have the fullest dependence and confidence on the attachment of the English and their regard to my interest and dignity, and am desirous of giving them every testimony thereof, I do further consent that the appointment and dismission of the Muntaseddees of those branches, and the allotment of their several districts, shall be with the approbation of the Governor and Council; and, considering how much men of my rank and station are obliged to trust to the eyes and recommendations of the servants about them, and how liable to be deceived, it is my further will that the Governor and Council shall be at liberty to object and point out to me when improper people are entrusted, or where my officers and subjects are oppressed, and I will pay a proper regard to such representations, that my affairs may be conducted with honor, my people every where be happy, and their grievances be redressed.

ARTICLE 4.

I do confirm to the Company, as a fixed resource, for defraying the ordinary expenses of their troops, the Chucklas of Burdwan, Midnapore, and Chittagong, in as full a manner as heretofore ceded by my father. The sum of five lakhs of Sicca Rupees per month for their maintenance was further agreed to be paid by my father; I agree to pay the same out of my treasury, while the exigency for keeping up so large an army continues. When the Company's occasions will admit of a diminution of the expenses they are put to on account of those troops, the Governor and Council will then relieve me from such a proportion of this assignment, as the increased expenses incurred by keeping up the whole force necessary for the defence of the Provinces will admit of: And as I esteem the Company's troops entirely equal thereto and as my own, I will only maintain such as are immediately necessary for the dignity of my person and government, and the business of my collections throughout the Provinces.

ARTICLE 5.

I do ratify and confirm to the English the privilege granted to them by their Firmaund and several Husbulhookums of carrying on their trade by means of their own dustuck, free from all duties, taxes or impositions, in all parts of the country, excepting in the article of salt, on which a duty of $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. is to be levied on the rowana or Hooghly market price.

ARTICLE 6.

I give to the Company the liberty of purchasing half the saltpetre produced in the country of Purnea, which their Gomastahs shall send to Calcutta; the other half shall be collected by my Fouzdar for the use of my offices; and I will suffer no other persons to make purchases of this article in that country.

ARTICLE 7.

In the Chuckla of Sylhet, for the space of five years, commencing with the Bengal year 1171, my Fouzdar and a Gomastah on the part of the Company shall jointly provide chunam, of which each shall defray half the expense, and half the chunam so made shall be given to the Company.

ARTICLE 8.

Although I should occasionally remove to other places in the Provinces, I agree that the books of the Cirear shall be always kept and the business conducted at Moorshedabad, and that shall, as heretofore, be the seat of my government: And wherever I am, I consent that an English gentleman shall reside with me to transact all affairs between me and the Company, and that a person of high rank shall also reside on my part at Calcutta to negotiate with the Governor and Council.

ARTICLE 9.

I will cause the Rupees coined in Calcutta to pass in every respect equal to the siccas of Moorshedabad without any deduction of batta; and whosoever shall demand batta shall be punished: The annual loss on coinage, by the fall of batta on the issuing of the new siccas, is a very heavy grievance to the country; and, after mature consideration, I will, in concert with the Governor and Council, pursue whatever may appear the best method for remedying it.

ARTICLE 10.

I will allow no Europeans whatever to be entertained in my service, and if there already be any, they shall be immediately dismissed.

ARTICLE 11.

The kistbundee for payment of the restitution to the sufferers in the late troubles as executed by my father, I will see faithfully paid. No delays shall be made in this business.

ARTICLE 12.

I confirm and will abide by the Treaty which my father formerly made with the Dutch.

ARTICLE 13.

If the French come into the country I will not allow them to erect any fortifications, maintain forces, or hold lands, zamindarries, &c., but they shall pay tribute, and carry on their trade as in former times.

ARTICLE 14.

Some regulations shall be hereafter settled between us for deciding all disputes which may arise between the English Gomastahs and my officers, in the different parts of the country.

In testimony whereof, we, the said Governor and Council, have set our hands and affixed the seal of the Company to one part hereof; and the Nabob before-named hath set his hand and seal to another part.

(A true copy.)

(Signed) W. MAJENDIE, Secretary.

MEM.—This Treaty was executed by the President and Council of Fort William, on the 20th of February 1765, and by the Nabob on the 25th of the same month.

No. XXIV.

AGREEMENT made between the FRENCH and BRITISH GOVERNMENTS relative to the limits of the SETTLEMENT of CHANDEENAGORE.

WHEREAS the mixture of English and French territories, jurisdictions, and other rights belonging to the two Governments, respectively, around the French Settlement of Chander-nagore in the East Indies, is the

ATTENDU que le mélange des territoires anglais et français, et des jurisdictions, et autres droits appartenant aux Gouvernements respectifs, autour de l'établissement français de Chander-nagore dans les Indes Orientales présente cause of inconvenience to which the Governments of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of His Majesty the Emperor of the French are desirous of putting a stop;

The undersigned, Her Britannic Majesty's Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary at Paris, and His Majesty the Emperor's Minister for Foreign Affairs duly authorized by their respective Governments have agreed as follows:

1st.—That the limits of the jurisdiction and of all other rights whatever of the French Government on the territory of the French Settlement of Chandernagore in Bengal shall be according to the plan drawn up in common by the respective Commissioners of the two Governments and annexed to the proposition for the settlement of the limits of the French territory at Chandernagore signed provisionally (excepting the reserves contained in it) at Chander-nagore on the 4th of September 1852; to the South and West, the excavation commonly called the French Ditch, and to the North the same Ditch or the line indicated in the plan by an orange outline.

With regard to the boundary to the East or on the side of the river Hooghly, matters shall remain as they are in respect to the jurisdiction or other rights whatsoever of the settlement of Chandernagore, without prejudice to the respective claims of the two Governments.

And inasmuch as the section of the boundary above-mentioned from the termination of the ditch to the bank of the river is very intricate and confused owing to the inter-des inconvenients auxquels le Gouvernement de Sa Majesté la Reine du Royaume Uni de la Grande Bretagne et d'Irlande et celui de Sa Majesté l'Empereur des Français désirent mettre un terme;

Les soussignés Ambassadeur Extraordinaire et Plenipotentiaire de Sa Majesté britannique à Paris, et Ministre des Affaires Etrangères de Sa Majesté l'Empereur des Français dûment autorisés par leurs Gouvernements respectifs sont convenus de ce qui suit :

Quand à la limite d l'Est ou du côté du fleuve Hoogly les choses en resteront, pour la juridiction et autres droits quelconques de l'établissement de Chandernagor, dans l'état actuel, sans préjudice des prétentions respectives des deux gouvernements.

Et attendu que la limite ci-dessus énoncée depuis l'extrémité du fossé jusqu'à la rivière, reste très confusée par le pèle-mèle des maisons des habitants des deux territoires, il sera établi, à spersion of the houses of the inhabitants of the two territories; therefore in order to render the boundary as exact and clear as possible, and thus to obviate all future disputes upon the point, pillars of masonry or some other material shall be erected at a joint expense throughout the whole extent of this said portion of the boundary.

2nd.—That, on the one hand, the Government of Bengal shall recognize the exclusive jurisdiction of the French Government over the whole of the territory included in the limits above described.

3rd.—That, on the other hand, the French Government shall relinquish to the Government of Bengal the jurisdiction which the former now exercises within portions of territory at Goualpara, Cantaporieour, Tonquiponcour Duplesiepoty, Barasette, situate without the circuit of the Ditch round Chandernagore; and that this cession shall include also the revenue or land rent now collected by the French Government from these said lands amounting annually to a sum of one hundred and eighty rupees one ganda and a half (Rupees 180 1½ ganda) as detailed in the schedule which accompanies the draft of Agreement drawn up at Chandernagore on the 4th of September 1852.

4TH.—That, on its side, the Government of Bengal will consent by way of compensation to relinquish to the French Government the annual revenue of thirty-five rupees, fourteen annas five gandas (Rupees 35 14 annas 5 gandas) now collected by the former of the two Governments from the lands dependent on the frais communs, sur l'étendue de la ligne sus-indiquée, des bornes en maçonnerie ou en toute autre matière à fin de rendre cette limite aussi précise et apparente que possible et de prévenir par ce moyen toutes contestations ultérieures sur ce point.

2d.—D'une part, le Gouvernement du Bengale reconnaîtra comme appartenant exclusivement au Gouvernement français la juridiction sur tout le territoire compris dans les limites ci-dessus indiquées.

4me.—De son côté, le Gouvernement du Bengale consentira à titre de compensation, à transférer en la possession du Gouvernement français le revenu annuel de trente cinq Roupies quatorze annas, cinq gandas (R. 35 14 a. 5 g.) que perçoit le premier de ces deux Gouvernements sur des terrains en régie dépendant du Talouk de Dogra et Telinipara

Talook of Digra and Telinipara which lie to the north of the French Ditch; and further to make a reduction of one hundred and forty-four rupees, one anna, fourteen gandas and a half (Rupees 144 1 anna 14½ gandas) in the annual rent of 3,520 francs or about Rupees 1,466 now paid to the Hoogly Treasury by the Government of Chandernagore as representatives of certain ancient Talookdars.

In witness whereof the undersigned have signed the present Agreement and have affixed the seals of their Arms thereunto.

Done at Paris the 31st of March 1853.

Et

Pierre Paul Damien, Victorin Duffaur de Gavardie, Juge Président de 1ere instance.

Robert Barclay Chapman of the same Civil Service,

Commissioners appointed by the Most Noble the Governor-General of India,

Having proceeded jointly and independently to investigate the de facto ancient limits of the French Settlement at Chandernagore,

And having failed to determine, by any sufficient documentary evidence, the existence of any such limits fixed by treaty, ~

Do hereby agree to recommend to our respective Governments the adoption of the following conditions, viz., 1stly.—That the limits of the jurisdiction of all other rights whatever of the French Government shall be as delineated in the annexed plan, that is to say, that the boundary to the eastward shall be the right bank of the Hooghly river. That the boundary to the southward and westward shall be the excavation commonly called the French ditch. That the boundary to the northward shall be also the said French ditch, or, where the ditch does not exist, the line indicated in the plan by an orange edging.

And, inasmuch as the last section of the boundary from the termination of the ditch to the bank of the river is very intricate and confused owing to the interspersion of the houses of the inhabitants of the two territories, therefore, in order to render the boundary as exact and clear as possible and thereto obviate all future disputes upon the point, it has been agreed that in the event of these propositions being definitively

D'après les constatations et vérifications aux quelles nous avons procédé soit contradictoirement, soit séparément pour reconnaître quelles sont de facto les anciennes limites du territoire français de Chandernagor au Bengale.

A défaut de documents suffisants sur l'existence de ces limites, telles qu'elles ont pu être fixées par les traités,

Sommes d'accord de proposer à nos Gouvernements respectifs l'adoption de l'ensemble des conditions suivantes, savoir :

1. Que les limites de la Juridiction et de tout droit quelconque du Gouvernement français, seront selon des indications du plan ci-annexé, à l'Est, l'espace jusqu'on peut s'étendre le mouillage des péniches et bateaux du côté de la rive droite de l'Hougly ; au Sud et à l'Ouest, l'excavation appelée le fossé français ; et au Nord, le même fossé et la ligne indiquée sur le plan ci-annexé par un liséré orange.

Et attendu que cette dernière limite depuis l'extremité du fossé jusqu'à la rivière reste très confusée par le pèle mêle des maisons des habitants des deux territoires, il a été convenu que si le présent projet décharge recevait une sanction définitive il serait établi à frais communs, sur l'étendue de la ligne sus indiquée, des bornes en maçonnerie ou en toute autre matière à fin de rendre cette limite aussi précise et apparente que possible et de prévenir par ce moy-

COOCH BEHAR.

THE Rajahs of Cooch Behar probably belong to the tribe of Cooch, a people of Thibetan or Tamul origin, now largely scattered on the North-Eastern Frontier. More than three centuries ago two brothers, named Bissoo Sing and Sissoo Sing, established by their conquests a principality in the north-eastern part of India. The former is the immediate ancestor of the Rajahs and of the Nazir Deos, or Ministers, of Cooch Behar. Bissoo Sing's son, Nur Narain, extended his empire eastwards over Lower Assam, and at this time the Cooch territories must have embraced the greater part of the Dinagepore, Rungpore, and other districts which once formed the kingdom of Kamroop. About 1603 the Mogul armies, greatly encroached on the little State of Behar, until about the beginning of the last century the Rajah's dominions were reduced to their present limits.

The British Government came in contact with Cooch Behar in 1772. The Bhootias, whose trade with Bengal was carried on through the countries occupied by the Cooch Chiefs, appear to have always maintained a connection with Cooch Behar, and to have occasionally interfered in its affairs. Some years previous to 1772, the then Rajah of Cooch Behar, Dhujinder Narain, who had a dispute regarding succession with his brother, Ram Narain, deprived the latter of the appointment of Minister. Ram Narain appealed to the Bhootias and was reinstated by them. The Rajah afterwards, however, put the Minister to death, for which the Bhootias carried him off to the hills, appointing his brother, Rajinder Narain, Rajah in his place. On the death of Rajinder Narain shortly after, the Nazir Deo set up Durrinder Narain, son of Dhujinder Narain, as Rajah. The Bhootias had on their side appointed to the guddee Berjinder Narain, the son of the captive Rajah's elder brother; each party proceeded to maintain the Chief nominated by itself, and the Nazir Deo being worsted and driven out of the country, applied to the East India Company for aid. This was granted after the Nazir Deo had, in 1773, concluded, in the name of Durrinder Narain, a Treaty (No. XXV.) by which the Rajah agreed to acknowledge subjection to the British Government, to allow his estate to be annexed to Bengal, and to make over to the British Government one-half of the annual revenues of Cooch Behar for ever. The other moiety he was to retain on condition of remaining firm in his allegiance to the British Government, who, on the other hand, bound themselves to assist the Rajah with a force whenever he might require it for the defence of the country, the Rajah bearing the expense. Captain Jones, with a number of sepoys, proceeded to Cooch Behar, dispossessed the Bhootias, and pursuing them to the hills compelled them to make terms with the British Government. A Treaty was concluded with Bhootan in 1774, and agreeably to one of its Articles, Rajah Dhujinder Narain was released from confinement. Though in 1776 a Sunnud (No. XXVI.) was granted to Rajah Dhujinder Narain conferring on him the zemindaree of Cooch Behar, he did not re-assume the government of the State until the death of his son, Durrinder Narain, which occurred in 1780. Rajah Dhujinder Narain died in 1783, and an infant reported to be his son, Hurrinder Narain, was put forward as Rajah. Disturbances ensued, and in 1788 two Commissioners were sent to enquire into the affairs of the State, on whose report a British Commissioner was appointed to the management of the State. The Rajah came of age in 1800, and the Commissioner was withdrawn. As however the Rajah could not manage the affairs of the State, Commissioners were re-appointed in 1802, and again in 1805, 1813, and 1817, to supervise the administration. This duty eventually devolved on the Governor-General's Agent, North-East Frontier. Hurrinder Narain died at Benares in 1839. Shibinder Narain, a natural son of the deceased Rajah, was then placed upon the guddee. Before his death he adopted one of his brother's sons, named Narainder Narian, who succeeded him in 1847. Narainder Narian being at this time about four years old, the State was governed by Rajendro Narain Koer, brother of the late Rajah, as Regent. He died in 1857, and the two widows of Rajah Shibinder Narain undertook the management of affairs. In 1862 Rajah Narinder Narian received a Sunnud (No. XXVII.) guaranteeing to him the right of adoption. He died in August 1863 in the twentieth year of his age, and was succeeded by his son, Nripendro Narain, the present Rajah, who is a minor about thirteen years of age. During the Rajah's minority the State is managed by the Commissioner of Cooch Behar.

The abolition of slavery in Cooch Behar has been formally proclaimed, and the British rupee declared the only legal tender. A new settlement for twenty years commencing from 1873 has been authorized, and the administration modelled on that of the British provinces. The gross revenue of the State from all sources is Rupees 10,70,693. The Rajah pays a tribute of Rupees 67,700-15-0, at which amount it was permanently fixed in 1780. The population of Cooch Behar amounts according to the last census to 532,565 souls; its area is 1,306 square miles; the military force consists of 80 men. The Rajah receives a salute of 13 guns.

No. XXV.

TREATY with the RAJAH of COOCH BEHAR.

ARTICLES of TREATY between the HONORABLE EAST INDIA COMPANY and DURRINDER NARAIN, RAJAH of COOCH BEHAR.

Durrinder Narain, Rajah of Cooch Behar, having represented to the Honorable the President and Council of Calcutta the present distressed state of the country, owing to its being harassed by the neighbouring independent Rajahs, who are in league to depose him, the Honorable the President and Council, from a love of justice and desire of assisting the distressed, have agreed to send a force, consisting of four Companies of Sepoys and a field piece, for the protection of the said Rajah and his country against his enemies, and the following conditions are mutually agreed on :—

1st.—That the said Rajah will immediately pay into the hands of the Collector of Rungpoor 50,000 Rupees, to defray the expenses of the force sent to assist him.

2nd.—That if more than 50,000 Rupees are expended, the Rajah will make it good to the Honorable the English East India Company, but in case any part of it remains unexpended that it be delivered back.

3rd.—That the Rajah will acknowledge subjection to the English East India Company upon his country being cleared of his enemies, and will allow the Cooch Behar country to be annexed to the Province of Bengal.

4th.—That the Rajah further agrees to make over to the English East India Company one-half of the annual revenues of Cooch Behar for ever.

6th.—That in order to ascertain the value of the Cooch Behar country, the Rajah will deliver a fair hustabood of his district into the hands of such person as the Honorable the President and Council of Calcutta shall think proper to depute for that purpose, upon which valuation the annual malguzary, which the Rajah is to pay, shall be established.

7th.—That the amount of the malguzary, settled by such person as the Honorable the East India Company shall depute, shall be perpetual.

8th.—That the Honorable English East India Company shall always assist the said Rajah with a force when he has occasion for it for the defence of the country, the Rajah bearing the expense.

9th.—That this Treaty shall remain in force for the space of two years, or till such time as advices may be received from the Court of Directors, empowering the President and Council to ratify the same for ever.

This Treaty, signed, sealed, and concluded by the Honorable the President and Council at Fort William, the fifth day of April 1773, on the one part, and by Durrinder Narain, Rajah of Cooch Behar, at Behyar Fort, the 6th Maug 1179 Bengal style, on the other part.

SUNNUD granted to the RAJAH of COOCH BEHAR.

HER MAJESTY being desirous that the Governments of the several Princes and Chiefs of India who now govern their own territories should be perpetuated, and that the representation and dignity of their Houses should be continued, I hereby, in fulfilment of this desire, convey to you the assurance that, on failure of natural heirs, the adoption by yourself and future Rulers of your State of a successor according to Hindoo law and the customs of your race will be recognized and confirmed.

Be assured that nothing shall disturb the engagement thus made to you so long as your House is loyal to the Crown and faithful to the conditions of the Treaties, grants, or engagements which record its obligations to the British Government.

TIPPERAH.

THE Rajahs of Tipperah are of the Khsettrya caste, and claim descent from the Lunar race. The family name is Dev Burmon.

There is no reliable account as to the limits of the ancient State of Tipperah; but at various times it gained conquests and possessions, which carried its armies from the Sunderbunds in the west to Burmah in the east, and from Kamroop in the north to Burmah in the south. The military prestige of the Tipperah Rajahs was at its height during the 16th century, and it was not till the beginning of the 17th century that the Moguls obtained a footing in the country. About 1620, however, in the reign of Jahangeer, a Mogul force invaded Tipperah under the command of Nawab Fattel Jung. The capital was taken, and the Rajah sent a prisoner to Delhi. He was offered his State again on condition of paying tribute, but refused. The Mogul troops, after occupying the country for two and a half years, were forced by an epidemic to leave it. Eventually however the Nawab of Moorshedabad seized on a large portion of the territory in the plains, and parcelled it out among his Mussulman nobles.

The western and southern portions of Tipperah are included in Toder Mull's rent-roll, but they were only conquered, according to Grant, in Shah Jehan's reign. In 1728 there was a re-conquest, when the district was placed on the rent-roll under the name of Roshunabad, a large number of Mussulman troops were posted in the country, and in the course of a few years Tipperah became a Mogul province.

In 1765 Tipperah came under British rule. Krishna Manik was made Rajah by the aid of the English, in succession to the former Mussulman Governor. Krishna Manik died about 1780. There being no Joobraj, his Ranee ruled the country for some time, but eventually at her request Government recognized her nephew, Rajendra Manik, as Chief. At the death of Rajendra Manik towards the close of the last century anarchy prevailed. Ultimately in 1808 the British Government recognized Durga Manik as Rajah. On the death of Durga Manik, his rival claimant, Ram Gunja, was appointed Rajah by the British Government. He died in 1826 when he was succeeded by his brother, Kassee Chundra Manik, who was in turn succeeded in 1830 by another brother, Krishna Kishore Manik.

Krishna Kishore Manik died in 1850, when his son, Ishan Chundra Manik, was recognized as Chief. On his death in 1862 the succession was disputed, but the question was eventually decided in 1870 in favor of the late Chief's brother, Beer Chundra Manik, the present Rajah. In 1871 it became necessary to appoint a Political Agent to Hill Tipperah, as the Kookies were in the habit of retaliating for the Rajah's proceedings against them by raids on British territory.

The British Government has no Treaty with Tipperah.

The Rajah of Tipperah stands in a peculiar position, inasmuch as in addition to "Hill Tipperah" he is the holder of a very considerable zemindaree in the district of Tipperah in the plains, and though a British subject in his zemindaree, becomes by crossing the border more or less an independent Ruler.

Succession is determined in a peculiar way. The ruling Rajah has the power of nominating any of his brothers or sons, or in default of such heirs as his successor under the title of "Joobraj," and a successor to the "Joobraj" under the title of "Burra Thakoor." On the Rajah's death the "Joobraj" becomes Rajah and the "Burra Thakoor" becomes "Joobraj" and in turn Rajah, even to the exclusion of the Rajah's natural heirs. The eldest son however succeeds if no nomination has been made. The succession when disputed is settled in British Courts of law, the decision given regarding the zemindaree in the plains carries with it the right to the Chiefship of Hill Tipperah. Nuzzerana is taken on succession.

The area of Hill Tipperah is 3,867 square miles, the country is hilly and covered with dense forests. More than 1,000 square miles in the interior are believed to be uninhabited. The population is estimated at 74,242 souls, of which the hill tribes number about 41,829. Cultivation by the plough is contrary to their traditions; instead, they burn the jungle and sow paddy, cotton, and chillics in holes dug in the clearance or "joom." The income derived from the hills is 1,86,932 Rupees, while the zemindarees have a gross rental of over 6,00,000 Rupees. The principal trade is in cotton and timber. The Rajah has a military force of about 200 men; he receives a salute of 13 guns.

Looshais.—To the south-east of Tipperah lies the territory of the Looshai Kookies, who owed allegiance to the Rajahs of Tipperah. This tribe is a most warlike one, and became independent in 1826 during the confusion which attended the disputed succession to the Raj of Tipperah and which was followed by a series of raids. In 1848-49 they drove up the other tribes from the south into Cachar. The political relations on this frontier were at that time in the hands of Colonel Lester, and that officer by a judicious employment of the Kookies as soldiers and by an expedition undertaken against the Looshais to punish them for certain depredations, exerted such a salutary influence over them that for some time they gave no trouble. Communication with them became frequent, Bengalee traders going up to their villages and returning with ivory and wax in return for salt, clothes, &c.

In 1862 a series of raids was committed on Sylhet villages by Sookpilall, at that time the most considerable of the Looshai Chiefs, but proposals to coerce him were for various reasons abandoned. In December 1868 Sookpilall's followers committed devastations in Hill Tipperah and advanced into Sylhet, plundering and burning villages on their way. Similar outrages were committed early in 1869 by other Looshais on tea gardens in Cachar. A small force in two columns was despatched against these tribes, but, owing to the lateness of the season and the scarcity of supplies, returned without fully accomplishing the objects in view. In December 1869 Mr. Edgar, Deputy Commissioner of Cachar, visited the Looshai country at the invitation of some of the Chiefs and concluded arrangements with Sookpilall which on the occasion of a second visit in 1870 were embodied in a Sunnud (No. XXVIII) given to Sookpilall and accepted by him with the reservation that he was only responsible for the security of traders from the Chutturchoora range of hills to the Sunai, as his authority did not extend east of that river.

In 1871 serious raids were committed by Looshais, Syloos, and Howlongs in Hill Tipperah, Sylhet, and Cachar. A strong force in two columns was organized against the offending tribes, the captives were recovered, and verbal Agreements were taken from the Chiefs to live amicably with all British subjects from Munnipore to Arracan and to allow free access to their country.

A general movement of the Looshais to the northward is taking place, caused partly by their search for India-rubber, in which a brisk trade has lately sprung up, and partly by the pressure of the Pois, a powerful tribe, who are advancing from the south-east.

other Looshai Lalls, Muntries, and people shall not in any way injure or

If any Looshai suffers any injury or annoyance at the hands of Cachar who has been ordered by Government to do justice in such cases.

When the Burra Sahib of Cachar or any Government Officer who may the hills.

If in any year no European Government Officer goes to the hills, then Sookpilall, &c., shall send to the Burra Sahib (Deputy Commissioner) at

If at any time all the above orders of Government be not carried out, the said Government may revoke this Sunnud and pass such orders as it thinks proper. But as long as Sookpilall, &c., shall obey all these orders and any similar ones which the Government may issue from time to time for the preservation of peace on both sides of the above-mentioned line, the Government will not interfere with the affairs of their villages, and will leave them in the undisturbed possession of their village land.

nineteen estates,* known as the Tributary Mehalas. Two of these, Angool and Banki, have been annexed by Government for the misconduct of the Rajabs, and Bahmunghattee, a wild part of Mohurbhunj, has been taken under management owing to the misgovernment of the Rajah.

The other seventeen are held by Tributary

Rajabs, who administer civil and criminal justice, controlled by the undefined authority of the Superintendent.

The most powerful Chiefs of the Tributary Mehalas are the Rajahs of Mohurbhunj and Keonjhur; both the late Rajahs rendered good service during the mutinies. Maharajah Gudadhur Bhunj of Keonjhur died in March 1861 leaving two illegitimate sons. The succession of the elder, Dunnoorjai, was disputed by Brindabun of the Mohurbhunj family who was said to have been adopted by the Maharajah and was supported in his claims by the Ranees. A suit under Act XI. of 1816, by which claims to succession to these Mehalas are decided, was instituted and decided in favour of Dunnoorjai, who was put in possession of the State on attaining his majority in 1867. In 1868 the Bhooyahs and other tribes who had given in their allegiance, rose in rebellion under the leadership of Rutna Naik, carried off the unpopular Minister with a number of his and the Maharajah's adherents, and murdered him. A considerable force was sent against the insurgents, and after a harassing campaign Rutna Naik and other ringleaders were captured and brought to trial. Four persons, including Rutna Naik, convicted of the murder of the Minister and others, were executed, and 189 others were sentenced to various terms of transportation or imprisonment. The country was placed under British superintendence and the tribes returned to their allegiance. The State has now been made over to the direct control of the Rajah on his undertaking to maintain the settlements approved by Government and to make no change without previous sanction.

Pal Lehra was formerly part of Keonjhur but was separated from it in 1865: the Chief of Pal Lehra continues to pay the revenue demand to the Rajah of Keonjhur, but is to all intents and purposes independent of him.

In 1862 the Khond subjects of the Rajah of Boad irritated at his exactions broke out in open revolt, which was not checked without the aid of regular troops.

The Engagements with the Chiefs of the Tributary Mehals (Nos. XXIX. to XXXVII.) sufficiently explain the nature of their relations with the British Government.

The Chiefs of these Mehals have agreed to abandon all monopoly of salt and all restrictions on its free transit through or sale in their territories.

Boad and Atmullick were transferred from the South-Western Frontier Agency in 1837; these two States are liable to reassessment of tribute, but the former engagements, which having been made for a limited time had long expired, were in 1875 renewed by Sunnud (No. XXXVIII.) for a period of twenty years.

In 1842 the principal States entered into an Agreement (No. XXXIX.) for the suppression of Suttee.

In 1862 Sunnuds (No. XL.) were conferred on these Chiefs guaranteeing to them the right of adoption, and in 1874 they received Sunnuds (No. XLI.) conferring on them the hereditary title of Rajah. Nuzzerana is taken on successions.

TRIBUTARY MEHALS OF CHOTA NAGPORE.

These Mehals formed part of the South-Western Frontier Agency created in Sirgoojah.

Oudeypore.
Jushpore.
Gangpore.

Korea.
Bonai.
Chang Bukar.
Singbhoom.

1833 on the suppression of the Cole insurrection: its designation was changed in 1854 to that of Commissionership of Chota Nagpore. The other Mehals under Chota Nagpore were transferred to the Central Provinces in 1862. See Nagpore Vol. III.

The territories forming these States, with the exception of Singbhoom, were ceded in 1817 by Raghojee Bhonsla, and in 1818 Government sent a Superintendent to Sirgoojah to restore order in the country, which had become distracted by domestic feuds. In 1820 and 1825 Engagements (Nos. XLII. and XLIII.) were made with the Chief of Sirgoojah. In 1819 Engagements (Nos. XLIV. and XLV.) were also taken from the Chiefs of Jushpore and Korea, of which latter State Chang Bukar was then a feudal dependency; but in 1848 separate Settlements (No. XLVI.) were made with Korea and Chang Bukar. Jushpore and Oudeypore were originally feudal dependencies of Sirgoojah and the former still pays tribute through that State.

The State of Oudeypore was treated as a lapse in 1852 in consequence of the Chief, Dhiraj Sing, having been convicted of manslaughter, but Government continued to pay its tribute to Sirgoojah. In 1860 the State was conferred on Lall Bindessuree Pershad Sing Deo Bahadoor, younger brother of the Chief of Sirgoojah, as a reward for his services in the mutiny, and an Agreement (No. XLVII.) was made with him. From this time Oudeypore became a distinct tributary State, the Rajah paying his tribute direct to Government and Sirgoojah receiving credit for the same.

The Singbhoom country was never conquered by the Mahrattas, and was in the position of an independent State, when Rajah Ghunsham Sing tendered his allegiance to the British Government in 1818. The object of the Rajah was partly to be recognized as owning the allegiance of his kinsmen, the Rajah of Seraikela and the Thakoor of Khursowan, and partly to procure assistance in subduing the refractory tribe of the Lurka Coles. The Rajah's pretensions to supremacy were not recognized. An Agreement (No. XLVIII.) was taken from him only as regards his own estate. It is believed that separate Engagements were taken from the Rajah of Serikela and the Thakoor of Khursoan; but no copies of these are extant.

The estate of the Rajah of Singbhoom, afterwards styled the Rajah of Porahat, was confiscated for rebellion in 1857.

In 1875 the settlements with these Chiefs which had long expired were renewed for a period of twenty years, and they received Sunnuds of which a form (No. XLIX.) is given declaring the fact, and the liability of their States to a revision of tribute at the close of that period. An exception was made in favour of Oudeypore.

The Lurka Coles were subdued in 1821, and an Agreement (No. L.) was made with them, by which they bound themselves to be subject to the British Government, and to pay a fixed tribute to their Chiefs. But in consequence of repeated outrages it was found necessary to send a force against them in 1836, when fresh Engagements were verbally made and solemnly sworn to, by which they bound themselves to obey and pay revenue to the British Government. In the following year each of the headmen received a Sunnud (No. LI.) and pottah, in the former of which all the conditions which they had sworn to abide by were specified. Whenever a new headman is appointed, he receives a Sunnud, and swears to abide by the conditions. In 1857 a large number of the Lurka Coles espoused the cause of the Rajah of Porahat, but on the restoration of order they reverted to peaceful pursuits.

Your responsibilities, too, will be the same as theirs. You must not conceal any crime or hush up a case, but you must decide it impartially. You must submit to the Agent, Governor-General, Monthly Criminal Returns and Reports. If you fail in the payment of the Government revenue, and if it be proved that you are guilty of neglect of your Police duties, of disobedience of orders, of the crime of oppression and tyranny over your Ryots, or of taking or giving bad counsel, the whole Zemindarry of the said Pergunnah will be resumed by the Government, and you will be debarred from all interference with it. In the above event the Orders of Government are positive; you should therefore be cautious and vigilant in all respects.

N. B.—The Agreement with the Chang Bukar Zemindar was drawn up in the same terms precisely.

TRANSLATION of a SUNNUD given by CAPTAIN TICKELL to RAORIA MANKEE of KOWSIL-LAPOSSI, in BUR PEER, dated 10th December 1838.

Be it known to you, Raoria, Mankee, of Kowsillapossi, in Bur Peer, that the post of Mankee in Bur Peer is given to you, therefore I give you this Sunnud under orders of the Agent, Governor-General, of the 10th December 1838. You must act in accordance therewith. In conformity with your Agreement, made in presence of the Agent, Governor-General, and Assistant Commissioner, you will be held responsible for all the crimes, viz., theft, murder, dacoity, highway robbery, and plunder, &c., occurring in all the villages under your charge. If the revenue of your Illakah be not received on the fixed date, you will be held personally responsible for it: the Government revenue will be collected according to the current settlement, and such as may be hereafter made. You will perform your duties zealously, and must arrest and deliver up criminals. You must not willingly allow offenders to escape in any way, whether in consideration of relationship or bribes. If any offenders escape from another Illakah, and take refuge in your Illakah, you must arrest them and bring them to Court, and if you conceal them or favor their cause, it will be to your discredit. You must report to the Court at once the occurrence of any theft, murder, dacoity, highway robbery, and plunder, &c., that takes place in your Illakah, and you are authorized to try and determine yourself petty cases, such as quarrels, altercations, &c., and report the fact to the Court. You are to remain loyal, and obey any orders given you by myself or any person constituted my successor. For your assistance a Moondah has been appointed in each village in your Illakah. They must obey your orders, and they will also promise before the Agent, Governor-General, and Assistant Commissioner, that they will obey their Mankee's orders, and aid him; whatever good or bad occurs in their respective village, they must report it to the Mankee: if they cannot find the Mankee, they will report the fact to the Naib Mankee. If I become ill or go to some other place on my own business, another Officer will be appointed to discharge the duties entrusted to me at present. Moreover, if you receive orders to arrest any offender either from the Assistant Commissioner or Acting Assistant Commissioner, you must arrest the offender and bring him to Court. If the offender absconds from your Illakah to any other, you must trace and arrest him. Or if the Mankee of other Illakah requires assistance from you to apprehend a felon, you must comply instantly, and make no excuse and exert yourself to the utmost, so that the felon may be secured. If you be ill, or may have occasion to visit other villages, you must entrust your duties to your Naib. He is appointed by Government for those duties. Moreover, if you see that you will be detained for some time at some place on your own business, you must report that to the Court—that there may exist no anxiety in your mind. If you receive any orders from any Rajah, Baboo, Zemindar, or Karpurdauz, on any pretence whatever, you must not fail in your engagement; on the contrary, you must arrest the bearer of the said order, and bring him to the Assistant Commissioner or to the Officer in charge for the time being. If anybody disturbs the peace of your Illakah, you must collect your force or followers, and arrest the man and bring him to the Assistant Commissioner. If the disturber of the peace leaves your Illakah for another, you must go there, apprehend him, and bring him to Court, and must not knowingly let him escape: you must always act up to the above instructions. You will receive a separate Pottah, and will receive one-tenth out of the revenue which will be collected by Government from your Illakah. If you neglect the discharge of the Government duties entrusted to you, then the tenth part of the revenue promised to be paid to you will be withheld, and the Pottah of the Mankeeship will be taken back and given to some other person: you must keep this as a Sunnud.

TRANSLATION of a POTTAH given by CAPTAIN TICKELL to RAORIA MANKEE of KOW-SILLAPOSSI, in BUR PEER, dated 19th March 1839.

Be it known to Raoria Mankee of Kowsillapossi, in "Sath Bunturia:" the undermentioned villages are entrusted to you. You are nominated Mankee of those villages: you must keep the ryots in those villages satisfied, and settle them. You must be attentive to the Government orders, and collect the revenue of your Illakah according to the settlement, and bring it yourself. Whatever revenue will come from any village, one-sixth of it will be given to the Moondah, and from the remainder you will get one-tenth. Therefore this Pottah is given to you.

(Here follows specification of villages.)

SIKKIM.

From a Report by Dr. A. Campbell, Superintendent of Darjeeling, and other documents in the Foreign Office.

SIKKIM, known as Dinjong by the inhabitants and in all the neighbouring countries, is bounded on the north by Thibet, on the east by Bhootan, on the west by Nipal, and on the south by the Rummam and Great Runject Rivers, which divide it from the Darjeeling Hill Territory.

Very little is known of the history of the earlier Rajahs of Sikkim. Their ancestor Pencho Namguay is supposed to have owed his position to three Dookpa Lamas, who some three hundred years ago converted the Lepchas and made him Chief of the country. About the middle of the last century, Jeedah, the Deb Rajah of Bhootan, invaded and took Sikkim, and held possession of it for six or seven years. The Sikkim Rajah, who was quite a boy, fled to Lassa whence after being educated he was sent back to his own country.

About the year 1780 the Goorkhas from Nipal began to make inroads into Sikkim. In 1788 the Sikkim Rajah, severely pressed by the Goorkhas, applied for assistance to the Governments of Thibet and Bhootan, and, with their aid, compelled the Goorkhas to retire towards Ilum Ghurrie on the Kankayi, where they had erected forts to secure a communication with Morung. The Bhootan troops soon afterwards returned to their own frontier; this was followed by the submission of the greater part of the Sikkimese to the Goorkhas and the Rajah fled for refuge into Thibet.

Our relations with Sikkim commenced at the outbreak of the war with Nipal in 1814-15. The Goorkhas commenced inroads in Sikkim as early as 1780, and, when the encroachments on British territory issued in war, they had overrun Sikkim as far eastward as the Teesta River, including the Morung or Terai at the foot of the hills. It was the object of the British Government to give every possible assistance to the Maharajah of Sikkim to expel the Goorkhas, and on the conclusion of the Nipal war the country between the Mechi and the Teesta, which had been wrested by us from the Nipalese, was made over by Treaty (No. LII.) to him. The main object of this Treaty was to shut out the Nipalese from the means of carrying out any views of aggrandizement to the eastward.

From 1817 to 1825 there does not appear to have been any business transactions between the Maharajah of Sikkim and the British Government. About this year, however, the Minister of the Rajah Buljeet, a Lepcha Chief, was murdered, when all his adherents of the same tribe, about 800, under the guidance of Eklathye Kajee, fled from Sikkim and took refuge in Nipal. Shortly after this disputes arose on the Sikkim and Nipal boundary, which came under the cognizance of the Governor-General's Agent for the North-Eastern Frontier and the Resident in Nipal. In 1828 Captain Lloyd was deputed to the Sikkim Frontier in connection with these disputes. He penetrated the hills in company with Mr. J. W. Grant, the Commercial Resident at Manda, as far as Rinchingspoong. These gentlemen, attracted by the position of Darjeeling, brought it to the notice of the Governor-General, and it was resolved by Government to open negotiations with the Maharajah of Sikkim on the first convenient occasion for the cession of Darjeeling to the British Government in return for an equivalent in lands or money. This opportunity occurred in 1834-35, when the Lepcha refugees in Nipal made an inroad into the Sikkim Terai, and Colonel Lloyd was deputed to enquire into the causes of the disturbance. The refugees were obliged to return to Nipal, and the negotiation ended in the unconditional cession by the Maharajah of the Darjeeling tract under a Deed of Grant (No. LIII.), dated February 1835.

In 1841 the Government granted an allowance of Rupees 3,000 per annum to the Maharajah as compensation for the cession of Darjeeling, and in 1846 a further sum of Rupees 3,000 in all Rupees 6,000 per annum.

The settlement of Darjeeling advanced rapidly, its population having risen from not more than 100 souls in 1839 to about 10,000 in 1849, chiefly by immigration from the neighbouring States of Nipal, Sikkim, and Bhootan, in all of which slavery is prevalent. There was free trade in labour and all other commodities, with forest land enough for all comers to settle in, and every encouragement given to the new arrivals. The increased importance of Darjeeling, under free institutions, was a source of early and constant jealousy and annoyance to the Dewan of the Maharajah, who was himself the monopolist of all trade in Sikkim, and it was shared in by the Lamas and other principal people in the country, who lost their rights over slaves settling as British subjects in our territory. The plan pursued was through reports and secret emissaries to frighten our new subjects, by declaring that they should be delivered up as escaped slaves to their former masters, and by discouraging the resort in every way of the Sikkim people to Darjeeling ; added to which some British subjects were occasionally kidnapped to be sold into slavery, and there were frequent denials of aid in capturing and surrendering criminals. There has always been an arrangement for a mutual exchange of slaves between Sikkim and Bhootan, and Dr. Campbell, the Superintendent of Darjeeling, was constantly importuned by the Maharajah of Sikkim and his Dewan to get the British Government to follow a similar course with Sikkim, which was of necessity steadily refused.

In 1849 Dr. Hooker and Dr. Campbell, while travelling in Sikkim, with permission of Government and the Maharajah, were suddenly seized and made prisoners. The object was to force Dr. Campbell to relinquish claims for the surrender of criminals ; to make him, while in durance, agree to the dictation of the Dewan regarding the giving up of escaped slaves ; and to detain him until these enforced conditions should be sanctioned by Government. Foiled by the declaration that whatever concessions might be extorted then would not be confirmed by Government, and intimidated by the declaration of the Governor-General that the Maharajah's head should answer for it if a hair of the head of Dr. Campbell or Dr. Hooker were hurt, the Sikkimese eventually released the prisoners on 24th December 1849.

In February 1850 an avenging force crossed the Great Runjeet River into Sikkim. The expedition resulted in the stoppage of the grant of Rupees 6,000 per annum to the Maharajah, the annexation of the Sikkim Terai, and the portion of the Sikkim Hills bounded by the Rummam River on the north, the Great Runjeet and the Teesta on the east, and by the Nipal Frontier on the west. This new territory was put under the management of the Superintendent of Darjeeling, and, through the rapid increase of population and suitability for tea, has become very valuable ; the revenue derived from it and from Darjeeling now amounting to about 75,000 Rupees per annum. The Dewan was ostensibly dismissed from office, and for some years matters proceeded smoothly and well between Sikkim and our Government. But this man worked his way into power again through his wife, an illegitimate daughter of the Maharajah, and the kidnapping of our subjects was resumed without the possibility of obtaining redress. In April and May 1860 two aggravated cases of kidnapping were reported to Government. All ordinary efforts to procure restitution of our subjects and the surrender of the offenders, who were adherents of the Dewan, having failed, the Governor-General in Council resolved to occupy the territory of the Maharajah lying to the north of the Rummam River and to the west of the Great Runjeet, and to retain it until our subjects were restored, the offenders given up, and security obtained against a recurrence of similar offences. On the 1st November 1860 the Superintendent of Darjeeling crossed the Rummam with a small force, and advanced as far as Rinchingpoong. But he was eventually forced to fall back on Darjeeling. A stronger force was then despatched under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Gawler, and accompanied by the Hon'ble Ashley Eden as Envoy and Special Commissioner. The force advanced to the Teesta when the Sikkimese acceded to the terms dictated by the Governor-General, and a new Treaty (No. LIV.) consisting of twenty-three Articles, was concluded by the Envoy with the Maharajah in person on the 28th of March 1861.

The allowance of Rupees 6,000 per annum forfeited by the Maharajah in 1850 was restored in 1862, as an act of grace, to his son and successor Sekeong Kuzoo: it was increased in 1868 to Rupees 9,000, and in 1873 to Rupees 12,000, on the understanding that it was granted without any reference to the increased value of Darjeeling and purely as a mark of consideration for the Maharajah.

In 1868 the Maharajah solicited permission for the return of the Ex-Dewan, but the request was refused as being contrary to the 7th Article of the Treaty of 1861, and likely to lead to intrigues for the succession.

Maharajah Sekeong Kuzoo died in 1874 and was succeeded by his half brother Thothup Namguay who is now 15 years of age.

The area of Sikkim is about 1,550 square miles, and the population probably not more than five to the square mile, or 7,000, in the following proportion:—

Lepchas 3,000
Bhootias 2,000
Limboos 2,000

There is no money revenue, and the contributions in kind from agricultural produce and transit duties on trade would, if converted into money, probably not exceed Rupees 7,000 per annum. The country is, to a great extent, covered with forest and thick underwood, and is most difficult to travel in.

The trade with Sikkim is not at present of much value; the exports from British territory amount to about Rupees 20,000 per annum, the imports from Sikkim to about Rupees 5,000; a considerable increase in these amounts may however be anticipated on the completion of a road, the right to make which through Sikkim to the frontier of Thibet is secured by Article 13 of the Treaty of 1861. The Maharajah is tributary to China, through the viceroyalty at Lassa, and of late years, since his loss of territory through the misconduct of his officers, he has received an annual allowance from Lassa of Rupees 1,000 to 2,000.

COPY of a SUNNUD granted to the RAJAH of SIKKIM, dated 7th April 1817.

The Honorable East India Company, in consideration of the services performed by the Hill tribes under the control of the Rajah of Sikkim, and of the attachment shown by him to the interest of the British Government, grants to the Sikkimputtee Rajah, his heirs and successors, all that portion of low land situated eastward of the Meitche River, and westward of the Maha Nuddee, formerly possessed by the Rajah of Nepaul, but ceded to the Honorable East India Company by the Treaty of Segoulee, to be held by the Sikkimputtee Rajah as a feudatory, or as acknowledging the supremacy of the British Government over the said lands, subject to the following conditions:—

The British Laws and Regulations will not be introduced into the territories in question, but the Sikkimputtee Rajah is authorized to make such laws and regulations for their internal government, as are suited to the habits and customs of the inhabitants, or that may be in force in his other dominions.

The Articles or Provisions of the Treaty signed at Titalya, on the 10th February 1817, and ratified by His Excellency the Right Honorable the Governor-General in Council, on the 15th March following, are to be in force with regard to the lands hereby assigned to the Sikkimputtee Rajah, as far as they are applicable to the circumstances of those lands.

It will be especially incumbent on the Sikkimputtee Rajah and his officers to surrender, on application from the officers of the Honorable Company, all persons charged with criminal offences, and all public defaulters who may take refuge in the lands now assigned to him, and to allow the police officers of the British Government to pursue into those lands and apprehend all such persons.

In consideration of the distance of the Sikkimputtee Rajah's residence from the Company's Provinces, such orders as the Governor-General in Council may, upon any sudden emergency, find it necessary to transmit to the local authorities in the lands now assigned, for the security or protection of those lands, are to be immediately obeyed and carried into execution in the same manner as if coming from the Sikkimputtee Rajah.

In order to prevent all disputes with regard to the boundaries of the low lands granted to the Sikkimputtee Rajah, they will be surveyed by a British Officer, and their limits accurately laid down and defined.

No. LIV.

TREATY, COVENANT, or AGREEMENT entered into by the HONORABLE ASHLEY EDEN, ENVOY and SPECIAL COMMISSIONER on the part of the BRITISH GOVERNMENT, in virtue of full powers vested in him by the RIGHT HONORABLE CHARLES EARL CANNING, GOVERNOR-GENERAL in COUNCIL, and by HIS HIGHNESS SEKEONG KUZOO, MAHARAJAH of SIKKIM on his own part.

Whereas the continued depredations and misconduct of the officers and subjects of the Maharajah of Sikkim, and the neglect of the Maharajah to afford satisfaction for the misdeeds of his people, have resulted in an interruption, for many years past, of the harmony which previously existed between the British Government and the Government of Sikkim, and have led ultimately to the invasion and conquest of Sikkim by a British force; and whereas the Maharajah of Sikkim has now expressed his sincere regret for the misconduct of his servants and subjects, his determination to do all in his power to obviate future misunderstanding, and his desire to be again admitted into friendship and alliance with the British Government, it is hereby agreed as follows:—

I.

All previous Treaties made between the British Government and the Sikkim Government are hereby formally cancelled.

II.

The whole of the Sikkim Territory now in the occupation of British forces is restored to the Maharajah of Sikkim, and there shall henceforth be peace and amity between the two States.

III.

The Maharajah of Sikkim undertakes, so far as is within his power, to restore, within one month from the date of signing this Treaty, all public property which was abandoned by the detachment of British Troops at Rinchinpoong.

IV.

In indemnification of the expenses incurred in 1860 by the British Government in occupying a portion of the territory of Sikkim as a means of enforcing just claims which had been evaded by the Government of Sikkim, and as compensation to the British subjects who were pillaged and kidnapped by subjects of Sikkim, the Sikkim Government agrees to pay to the British authorities at Darjeeling the sum of 7,000 (seven thousand) Rupees in the following instalments, that is to say:—

May 1st, 1861	1,000
Nov. 1st, 1861	3,000
May 1st, 1862	3,000

As security for the due payment of this amount, it is further agreed that, in the event of any of these instalments not being duly paid on the date appointed, the Government of Sikkim shall make over to the British Government that portion of its territory bounded on the south by the River Rummam, on the east by the Great Runjeet River, on the north by a line from the Great Runjeet to the Singaleelah Range, including the monasteries of Tassidin, Pemonchi, and Changacheling, and on the west by the Singaleelah Mountain Range, and the British Government shall retain possession of this territory and collect the revenue thereof, until the full amount, with all expenses of occupation and collection, and interest at 6 per cent. per annum, are realized.

V.

The Government of Sikkim engages that its subjects shall never again commit depredations on British territory, or kidnap or otherwise molest British subjects. In the event of any such depredation or kidnapping taking place, the Government of Sikkim undertakes to deliver up all persons engaged in such malpractice, as well as the Sirdars or other Chiefs conniving at or benefiting thereby.

VI.

The Government of Sikkim will at all times seize and deliver up any criminals, defaulters, or other delinquents who may have taken refuge within its territory, on demand being duly made in writing by the British Government through their accredited agents. Should any delay occur in complying with such demand, the Police of the British Government may follow the person whose surrender has been demanded into any part of the Sikkim territory, and shall, on showing a warrant, duly signed by the British Agent, receive every assistance and protection in the prosecution of their object from the Sikkim officers.

VII.

Inasmuch as the late misunderstandings between the two Governments have been mainly fomented by the acts of the Ex-Dewan Namguay, the Government of Sikkim engages that neither the said Namguay, nor any of his blood relations, shall ever again be allowed to set foot in Sikkim, or to take part in the councils of, or hold any office under the Maharajah or any of the Maharajah's family at Choombi.

VIII.

The Government of Sikkim from this date abolishes all restrictions on travellers and monopolies in trade between the British territories and Sikkim. There shall henceforth be a free reciprocal intercourse, and full liberty of commerce between the subjects of both countries; it shall be lawful for British subjects to go into any part of Sikkim for the purpose of travel or trade, and the subjects of all countries shall be permitted to reside in and pass through Sikkim, and to expose their goods for sale at any place and in any manner that may best suit their purpose, without any interference whatever, except as is hereinafter provided.

IX.

The Government of Sikkim engages to afford protection to all travellers, merchants, or traders of all countries, whether residing in, trading in, or passing through Sikkim. If any merchant, traveller, or trader, being a European British subject, shall commit any offence contrary to the laws of Sikkim, such person shall be punished by the representative of the British Government resident at Darjeeling, and the Sikkim Government will at once deliver such offender over to the British authorities for this purpose, and will, on no account, detain such offender in Sikkim on any pretext or pretence whatever. All other British subjects residing in the country to be liable to the laws of Sikkim; but such persons shall, on no account, be punished with loss of limb, or maiming, or torture, and every case of punishment of a British subject shall be at once reported to Darjeeling.

X.

No duties or fees of any sort shall be demanded by the Sikkim Government of any person or persons on account of goods exported into the British territories from Sikkim, or imported into Sikkim from the British territories.

XI.

On all goods passing into or out of Thibet, Bhootan, or Nepal, the Government of Sikkim may levy a duty of customs according to such a scale as may, from time to time, be determined and published without reference to the destination of the goods, provided, however, that such duty shall, on no account, exceed 5 per cent. on the value of the goods at the time and place of the levy of duty. On the payment of the duty aforesaid a pass shall be given, exempting such goods from liability to further payment on any account whatever.

XII.

With the view to protect the Government of Sikkim from fraud on account of undervaluation for assessment of duty, it is agreed that the custom officers shall have the option of taking over for the Government any goods at the value affixed on them by the owner.

XIII.

In the event of the British Government desiring to open out a road through Sikkim, with the view of encouraging trade, the Sikkim Government will raise no objection thereto, and will afford every protection and aid to the party engaged in the work. If a road is constructed, the Government of Sikkim undertakes to keep it in repair, and to erect and maintain suitable traveller's rest-houses throughout its route.

XIV.

If the British Government desires to make either a topographical or geological survey of Sikkim, the Sikkim Government will raise no objection to this being done, and will afford protection and assistance to the Officers employed in this duty.

XV.

Inasmuch as many of the late misunderstandings have had their foundation in the custom which exists in Sikkim of dealing in slaves, the Government of Sikkim binds itself, from this date, to punish severely any person trafficking in human beings, or seizing persons for the purpose of using them as slaves.

XVI.

Henceforth the subjects of Sikkim may transport themselves without let or hindrance to any country to which they may wish to remove. In the same way the Government of Sikkim has authority to permit the subjects of other countries, not being criminals or defaulters, to take refuge in Sikkim.

XVII.

The Government of Sikkim engages to abstain from any acts of aggression or hostility against any of the neighbouring States which are allies of the British Government. If any disputes or questions arise between the people of Sikkim and those of neighbouring States, such disputes or questions shall be referred to the arbitration of the British Government, and the Sikkim Government agrees to abide by the decision of the British Government.

XVIII.

The whole military force of Sikkim shall join and afford every aid and facility to British Troops when employed in the Hills.

XIX.

The Government of Sikkim will not cede or lease any portion of its territory to any other State, without the permission of the British Government.

XX.

The Government of Sikkim engages that no armed force belonging to any other country shall pass through Sikkim, without the sanction of the British Government.

XXI.

Seven of the criminals, whose surrender was demanded by the British Government, having fled from Sikkim and taken refuge in Bhootan, the Government of Sikkim engages to do all in its power to obtain the delivery of those persons from the Bhootan Government, and in the event of any of these men again returning to Sikkim, the Sikkim Government binds itself to seize them, and to make them over to the British Authorities at Darjeeling without delay.

XXII.

With a view to the establishment of an efficient Government in Sikkim, and to the better maintenance of friendly relations with the British Government, the Maharajah of Sikkim agrees to remove the seat of his Government from Thibet to Sikkim, and reside there for nine months in the year. It is further agreed that a Vakeel shall be accredited by the Sikkim Government, who shall reside permanently at Darjeeling.

XXIII.

This Treaty, consisting of twenty-three Articles, being settled and concluded by the Honorable Ashley Eden, British Envoy, and His Highness Sekeong Kuzoo Sikkimputtee, Maharajah, at Tumloong, this 28th day of March 1861, corresponding with 17th Dao Neepoo 61, Mr. Eden has delivered to the Maharajah a copy of the same in English, with translation in Nagri and Bhootiah, under the seal and signature of the said Honorable Ashley Eden, and His Highness the Sikkimputtee Maharajah, and the Sikkimputtee Maharajah has in like manner delivered to the said Hon'ble Ashley Eden another copy also in English, with translation in Nagri and Bhootiah, bearing the seal of His Highness and the said Hon'ble Ashley Eden. BHOOTAN.

THE first intercourse of the British Government with Bhootan commenced with the expedition sent in 1772 for the relief of the Rajah of Cooch Behar. (See p. 95). The Bhootias, driven out of Cooch Behar, and pursued into the hills, threw themselves on the protection of Thibet. The Teshoo Lama, then Regent of Thibet, and guardian of the Grand Lama of Lassa, addressed the Government of India on their behalf. The application was favorably received, and a Treaty of peace (No. LV.) was concluded on 25th April 1774, by which the Bhootias agreed to pay to the British Government an annual tribute of five Tangun horses, to deliver up the Rajah of Cooch Behar, and never to make any incursions into British territory or molest their ryots in any way.

Bhootan appears to have formerly belonged to a tribe called Tephoo, who are generally believed to have been a people from Cooch Behar. About 200 years ago the Tephos were ousted by a body of Thibetan sepoys from Kampa, who settled in the country and elected a Lama from Lassa as their Chief. He was shortly afterwards driven out by another Lama named Doopgein who proved an able ruler under the title of Dhurm Rajah. He appointed Penlows, or Lieutenant-Governors, and Jungpens, or Governors of forts, to administer the country, and kept them under complete control. On his death he was succeeded by his supposed incarnation. The new Dhurm Rajah, when he grew up, considering that temporal and spiritual powers were incompatible, confined himself entirely to the latter, and appointed a Minister to wield the former. This Minister by degrees became the Deb Rajah and temporal ruler of Bhootan. At present the Deb Rajah is chosen by election from time to time from among certain great functionaries of the State, the Dhurm Rajah generally holds his office for life.

There is no further trace of the history of Bhootan till about a century ago, when a certain Deb Rajah, Jeedah, invaded and took Sikkim, and held possession of it for six or seven years.

From that time, with the exception of two unsuccessful commercial missions in 1774 and 1783, there was little intercourse with Bhootan, until our occupation of Assam, which connected the British and Bhootan frontiers. With the annexation of Assam there commenced a continued series of aggressions by the Bhootias on British Territory, followed by reprisals on the part of the British Government and the occupation of the Doars or passes which lie at the foot of the Bhootia Hills. Besides the Kooreapara Doar, formerly governed by the Towang Rajah, who was immediately dependent on Lassa, there are in all eighteen* Doars, eleven on the Bengal frontier and seven on the frontier of Assam. Over the Bengal

Doars, which extend from the Teesta, on the eastern boundary of Sikkim, to the Monas, the Bhootias for many years held sovereign dominion; and, previous to the annexation of Assam by the British Government during the first Burmese War, had also wrested four of the Assam Doars from the Native Government, while the other three were held on a sort of joint tenure by the Bhootias and Assamese.

The Bhootias paid to the Assam Government for the Doars a tribute of Rupees 3,049, partly in money and partly in goods; and after the annexation of Assam, the tribute was paid to the British Government, who also continued the system of joint occupation of the three Doars of Kooreapara, Boorce Gooma, and Kulling, holding them for four months every year and making them over to Bhootan for the other eight months.

In 1841, in consequence of renewed aggressions and the increasing disorganization of the country, the whole of the Assam Doars were annexed to the British possessions, and a sum of Rupees 10,000 was allotted to be annually paid to the Chiefs as compensation, which sum was considered to be equal to one-third of the revenue of the Kamroop and Durrung Doars. No written Agreement was made regarding this arrangement. These Doars have now been placed under the control of the Chief Commissioner of Assam.

A similar arrangement, under a written Engagement (No. LVI.), was made in 1844 with the Bhootias of Towang. A sum of Rupees 5,000 a year was paid for the resumption of the Kooreapara Doar as one-third of its net revenue.

In 1859, owing to repeated acts of kidnapping and plunder by the Bhootias, the territory known as the Ambaree Fallacottah on this side the Teesta, and which was held in farm from Bhootan, was taken possession of, the terms of its restoration being fully explained to the Deb Rajah. As these outrages did not cease, and it was doubtful owing to the usurpations of the frontier Governors whether letters to the Bhootan Government were not intercepted, the Deb and Dhurm Rajahs were informed that a mission would be sent to explain the demands of the British Government, the consequences of not acceding to them, and the terms of the Treaty with the Rajah of Sikkim, whom the Bhootan authorities had threatened with attack under the pretence that the Ambaree Fallacottah rents had been withheld owing to the rupture between him and the British Government. After a year's delay, caused by the evasive replies of the Bhootan Government, the Mission started in December 1863.

The Envoy reached Poonakha on the 13th of March 1864, where he found the Deb and Dhurm Rajahs puppets in the hands of the Tongso Penlow, the successful head of an insurrection which had lately taken place. By this man, who refused to treat except on condition of the restoration of the Assam Doars, the mission were subjected to gross outrage and insult; with difficulty they obtained permission to return after the Envoy had signed under compulsion an Agreement that the British Government would re-adjust the whole boundary between the two countries, restore the Assam Doars, deliver up all runaway slaves and political offenders who had taken refuge in British territory, and consent to be punished by the Bhootan and Cooch Behar Governments acting together if they ever made encroachments on Bhootan.

The engagement which had been extorted from the Envoy was at once repudiated by the British Government, and as a punishment for the outrageous treatment to which the mission had been subjected, the Ambaree Fallacottah was declared (No. LVII.) to be permanently annexed to the British dominions, the payment of revenue to Bhootan from the Assam Doars was stopped for ever, and the Bhootan Government were informed that if the demands of the British Government were not complied with by 1st September 1864, such further measures would be taken to enforce them as might appear to be necessary. No steps having been taken within the time specified to comply with these demands, the Bengal Doars were permanently annexed (No. LVIII.) to the British territories, and the districts were occupied in force by British troops.

Within a few months the Bhootan Government made overtures for peace and asked for the restoration of the Doars. They were informed that the Doars could not be restored; that if they were sincerely desirous of peace would consent to the conditions laid down by the British Government which would be granted; but that if they delayed and an advance on Poonch became necessary much more stringent terms would be exacted. Preliminary negotiations were accordingly opened, and during their continuance hostilities were suspended. The principal terms offered to the Bhootan Government were that they should surrender all British subjects and all subjects of Cooch Behar and Sikkim detained in Bhootan against their will; that they should subscribe articles for the mutual extradition of criminals, the maintenance of free trade, and the arbitration by the British Government of all disputes between the Bhootan Government and the Chiefs of Cooch Behar and Sikkim; that they should cede to the British Government the whole of the Doars together with certain hill posts protecting the passes into Bhootan; that they should deliver up two British guns which were left at Dewangiri; return the Agreement they had extorted from the Envoy, and apologize for the insult offered to the British Government in the person of their Envoy; and that in consideration of the fulfilment of these terms the British Government would pay to the Bhootan Government from the revenues of the Doars an annual sum beginning with Rupees 25,000 and rising to Rupees 50,000. The Treaty extorted from the Envoy was given up and an apology was tendered for the insults offered to him, but as the guns which had been lost were in possession of the Tong-o Penlow who had not signified his adherence to the terms, a separate Agreement (No. LIX.) was concluded, providing that no payment would be made to the Bhootan Government until the guns were actually given up. They were eventually surrendered on 25th February 1866. The permanent arrangements effected were recorded in a Treaty (No. LX.) concluded on 11th November 1865; and by Proclamation (No. LXI.) of 4th July 1866 the Doars were declared to be annexed to the territories of Her Majesty the Queen. The gross revenues of these districts at the time of cession were estimated at Rupees 1,50,000.

In accordance with the provisions of Article 5 of the Treaty of 1865, payment of the allowance to the Bhootan Government was temporarily withheld in 1868, in consequence of the Bhootias having put a stop to intercourse between Bhootan and Buxa, and of their having disregarded the provisions of Article 4 by sending an officer of inferior rank to receive the annual payment. In 1869 dissensions broke out among the Bhootia Chiefs and have since been of frequent occurrence, but the British Government has held itself aloof from the complications of Bhootan politics. The name of the present Deb Rajah is Gantem Numbge: he succeeded in 1873.

To the east of the Towang country are the independent clans of the Rooprye and Shergaiah Bhootias, whose custom it was to enter the Char Doar and Now Doar, which have been held by the British Government since the occupation of Assam, and to levy black mail; this was eventually arranged by an annual payment of money, and these tribes receive, under Agreement (No. CVI.), Rupees 2,527-7 a year. Similar payments are made to the Thebengiah Bhootias, but they do not appear to have subscribed any Engagement.

KHUREETA to HIS HIGHNESS the DEB RAJAH,—(dated Simla, the 9th June 1864.)

You are well aware that for many years past wanton outrages have been committed by your subjects within the territories of the British Government and within the territories of the Rajahs of Sikkim and Cooch Behar, who are under British protection. Men, women, and children have been kidnapped and sold into slavery; some have been put to death; others have been cruelly wounded; and much valuable property has been carried off or destroyed. These outrages, it is well known, are not the act of individual criminals, who set the laws of Bhootan at defiance; they are perpetrated with the knowledge and at the instigation of some of the leading Chiefs of Bhootan. Over a period of thirty-six years these aggressions have extended. Many remonstrances have been in vain addressed to the Bhootan Government, and the British Government has been compelled, in its own defence and the defence of its protected and subordinate allies, to have recourse to measures of retribution. In 1828 and 1836 the British Government were most reluctantly forced to occupy the Booree Gooma and the Banska Doars, but these districts were subsequently restored to the Bhootan Government in the hope that the Bhootan Government would fulfil the offices of friendship towards their neighbour by restraining their subjects from the commission of such aggressions for the future.

This hope proved illusory, and after the British Government had in vain endeavoured to secure a better understanding with the Bhootan Government

* Ghurkola.	Chappakhamar.	by means of a friendly mission, it became
Banska.	Bijnee.	necessary in 1841 to annex permanently*
Chappa Goonee.	Booree Gooma.	to the British dominions the seven*
Kulling.		Assam Doars, a measure which, it was believed, would convince the Bhootan Government that British territory cannot with impunity be persistently and wantonly violated. Nevertheless, the British Government, willing to believe in the friendship of your Government, and careful only to secure an undisturbed frontier and to leave at peace with the people of Bhootan, paid to your Government annually a sum of Rupees 10,000 from the revenues of these Doars.

But even this moderation on the part of the British Government, this sign of its anxiety above all things for peace, was misunderstood. Outrages did not cease. Precautions had to be taken for the defence of the British frontier, and not only the Deb and Dhurma Rajahs, but the local Governors on the frontier, particularly the Tongso Pillo, had to be distinctly warned that unless these insults to the British Government were put a stop to, the British Government would have no alternative but to resort to further measures of retribution.

These warnings were ineffectual; it is unnecessary to repeat the numerous acts of aggression to which the British Government patiently submitted, and the further remonstrances which were addressed to your Government before they carried their threats into execution by the stoppage of the rent of Rupees 2,000 a year for the Ambaree Fallacottah, which the British Government held in farm. Of the reasons which forced the British Government to this measure, your Government were duly informed, and you were warned that the rents of Ambaree Fallacottah would not be paid until full reparation should be made, captives released, and the guilty parties punished. These measures also proved ineffectual; and as the British Government were unwilling to be committed to a course of retributive coercion, it was determined to make one effort more by peaceful negotiation and the despatch of a friendly mission to explain fully the demands of the British Government and to put the relations of the two Governments on a satisfactory footing. Of this intention the Bhootan Government were informed in 1862 by a special messenger, who carried letters to the Deb and Dhurma Rajahs, and by more recent letters addressed to you by the Honorable the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. The mission, under the conduct of the Honorable Ashley Eden, a high functionary of the British Government and my Envoy and Plenipotentiary, reached your Court at Poonakha on 13th March 1864. Mr. Eden was the bearer of a Draft Treaty which he was instructed to negotiate with you. The terms of that Treaty were so just and reasonable, and so favorable to the best interests of both Governments, that I did not anticipate its rejection, more especially as Mr. Eden had full discretion to modify any of the details not inconsistent with the principles of the Treaty to meet the wishes of the Bhootan Government. It was, of course, optional with you to accept or reject this Treaty in whole or in part, and had you received my Envoy in the manner suited to his rank as my representative, and as by the usages of nations he ought to have been received, but declared your inability to accede to the demands of the British Government, this rejection of my proposals, however much to be regretted as forcing the British Government to coercive measures for the protection of the persons and property of its subjects, would not in itself have been an offence.

But you are aware that not only have the just demands of the British Government been refused, but they have been refused in a manner disgraceful to yourself and to your Durbar and insulting to the British Government. Not only has the Envoy deputed to your Court not been received with the dignity due to his rank; he has not even received that protection from personal insult and violence which is extended to an Envoy by the laws of all nations save the most barbarous. By the Tongso Pillo and his coadjutors in Council the letter addressed to you on the part of the British Government has been treated with contumely; my Envoy was publicly insulted and derided in your own presence, and has been compelled under threats of personal violence to sign an engagement agreeing to restore the Assam Doars.

This engagement I entirely repudiate, not only because it was beyond Mr. Eden's instructions to agree to any such terms, but because the engagement was extorted from him by personal violence and threats of imprisonment. The treatment to which the mission which was deputed to your Court to remove all causes of dispute by peaceful negotiation was subjected, has been so disgraceful that the British Government cannot allow the Government of Bhootan to go unpunished.

I am aware that your authority has been usurped by the Tongso Pillo and other Chiefs, but it cannot be permitted that, for the insubordination of your Chiefs and the internal distractions which weaken the Government of Bhootan, the subjects of the British Government should suffer and the Envoy of the British Government should be insulted and maltreated.

I therefore inform you that the district of Ambaree Fallacottah, heretofore held in rent from the Bhootan Government, is permanently annexed to the British dominions, and that all payments of rent from that district and of revenues from the Assam Doars to the Bhootan Government have ceased for ever. You have been informed both in writing and by my Envoy that all British subjects of Cooch Behar and Sikkim, of whom there are said to be more than three hundred, who are now held captive by your Chiefs and in your monasteries, or are detained in Bhootan against their will, must be released, and that the property which has been carried off from British territory, or Cooch Behar, or Sikkim within the last five years, must be restored. I now warn you that, unless these demands are fully complied with by the 1st day of September next, that is, three months from this date, I shall take such further measures to enforce these demands as may seem to me to be necessary.

(Sd.) JOHN LAWRENCE.

The same to the Dhurm Rajah.

PROCLAMATION.

For many years past outrages have been committed by subjects of the Bhootan Government within British territory, and in the territories of the Rajahs of Sikkim and Cooch Behar. In these outrages property has been plundered and destroyed, lives have been taken, and many innocent persons have been carried into and are still held in captivity.

The British Government, ever sincerely desirous of maintaining friendly relations with neighbouring States, and specially mindful of the obligations imposed on it by the Treaty of 1774, has endeavoured from time to time by conciliatory remonstrance to induce the Government of Bhootan to punish the perpetrators of these crimes, to restore the plundered property, and to liberate the captives. But such remonstrances have never been successful, and, even when followed by serious warning, have failed to produce any satisfactory result. The British Government has been frequently deceived by vague assurances and promises for the future, but no property has ever been restored, no captive liberated, no offender punished, and the outrages have continued.

In 1863 the Government of India, being averse to the adoption of extreme measures for the protection of its subjects and dependent allies, despatched a special mission to the Bhootan Court, charged with proposals of a conciliatory character, but instructed to demand the surrender of all captives, the restoration of plundered property, and security for the future peace of the frontier.

This pacific overture was insolently rejected by the Government of Bhootan. Not only were restitution for the past and security for the future refused, but the British Envoy was insulted in open Durbar, and compelled, as the only means of ensuring the safe return of the mission, to sign a document which the Government of India could only instantly repudiate.

For this insult the Governor-General in Council determined to withhold for ever the annual payments previously made to the Bhootan Government on account of the revenues of the Assam Doars and Ambaree Fallacottah, which had long been in the occupation of the British Government, and annexed those districts permanently to British territory. At the same time, still anxious to avoid an open rupture, the Governor-General in Council addressed a letter to the Deb and Dhurma Rajahs, formally demanding that all captives detained in Bhootan against their will should be released, and that all property carried off during the last five years should be restored.

To this demand the Government of Bhootan has returned an evasive reply, from which can be gathered no hope that the just requisitions of the Government of India will ever be complied with, or that the security of the frontier can be provided for otherwise than by depriving the Government of Bhootan and its subjects of the means and opportunity of future aggression.

The Governor-General in Council has therefore reluctantly resolved to occupy permanently and annex to British territory the Bengal Doars of Bhootan, and so much of the Hill territory, including the Forts of Dallingkot, Panakha, and Dewangiri, as may be necessary to command the passes, and to prevent hostile or predatory incursions of Bhootanese into the Darjeeling District or into the plains below. A Military Force amply sufficient to occupy this tract and to overcome all resistance, has been assembled on the frontier, and will now proceed to carry out this resolve.

All Chiefs, Zemindars, Munduls, Ryots, and other inhabitants of the tract in question are hereby required to submit to the authority of the British Government, to remain quietly in their homes, and to render assistance to the British troops and to the Commissioner who is charged with the administration of the tract. Protection of life and property and a guarantee of all private rights is offered to those who do not resist, and strict justice will be done to all. AGREEMENT entered into by High Officers of the BHOUTAN Government for the surrender of the two Guns.

We, Samdojey Deb Jimpey and Themseyrensey Donai, the two high officers of the Bhootan Court, will go back to the Deb Rajah and fully explain to His Highness about the two guns which fell into the hands of the Bhootan troops on the evacuation of Dewangiree, and obtain His Highness' consent to go to Tongso about them. If we succeed in getting back the guns by bringing Tongso Penlow to terms, we will either bring the guns back and restore them at Sinchula, or else cause them to be handed over to the British officers at Dewangiree; but if we should unfortunately be unsuccessful, one of us will come down to the Representative of the British Government for assistance, and, in the meantime, we agree to explain to His Highness the Deb Rajah that no money payment can be expected under the 4th Article of the Treaty. We further agree that no money payment under the Treaty shall be due to the Bhootan Government in the event of Mr. Eden and Cheeboo Lama declaring that a second copy of the Treaty extorted from them was left by them in Bhootan, until such time as the said second copy shall be found and surrendered to the Representative of the British Government, and we fully understand and acknowledge that, until the two* British guns are restored, no money payment under the Treaty will be due to the Bhootan Government.

* They were eventually surrendered on 25th February 1866.

Done this 10th day of November 1865, corresponding with 23rd-0th month, Bhootan year Shim Lung, or one day previous to the date fixed for the formal signature of the Treaty in public Durbar at Sinchula.

PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS in the Proclamation issued on the 12th November 1864, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council announced his resolution of occupying permanently and annexing to British territory the Bengal Doars of Bhootan and so much of the hill territory, including the forts of Dalimkote and Dewangiree, as might be necessary to command the passes and to prevent hostile or predatory incursions of Bhootanese into the Darjeeling District, or into the plains below;

And whereas, in pursuance of that resolution, the British Government, under Article II. of a Treaty concluded on the 11th day of November 1865, has obtained from the Government of Bhootan for ever the cession of the whole of the tract known as the Eighteen Doars bordering on the districts of Rungpoor, Cooch Behar, and Assam, together with the Talook of Ambaree Fallacottah and the Hill territory on the left bank of the Teesta, up to such point as may be laid down by the British Commissioner appointed for the purpose;

TREATIES, ENGAGEMENTS, AND SUNNUDS

RELATING TO THE

TERRITORIES COMPRISED WITHIN, OR IN POLITICAL RELATION WITH,

THE

ASSAM.

THE first Treaty with any of the Assam Chiefs was a Commercial Agreement (No. LXIL) made in 1793 with Rajah Surgy Deo. But Government never ratified or published it, on the ground that the Rajah's government was not sufficiently strong to ensure its observance.

The country subsequently relapsed into anarchy and fell under the Burmese. It was invaded by the British when the first Burmese war broke out. The Burmese, after perpetrating the most unheard-of atrocities, were driven out, and the Province, which was now almost depopulated, was annexed to the British dominions.

In 1833 Upper Assam was granted to Rajah Poorunder Sing, with whom a Treaty (No. LXIII.) was made. The Rajah's Government was mild but weak. He fell deeply into arrears in the payment of his tribute, and declared his inability to meet the engagements by which he had bound himself. The management of the country was therefore resumed by Government.

Assam was formerly administered under the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, but in 1874 certain territories* were transferred to the control of the Supreme Government and formed into the Chief Commissionership of Assam ; Sylhet being added subsequently.

No. LXII.

TRANSLATION of a new system of COMMERCE adopted by the MAHARAJAH SURGY DEO, ASSAM, 28th February 1793.

The Maharajah Surgy Deo highly sensible of the benefit he has experienced from the aid which has been afforded to him by the English Government, and desirous not only of cementing the harmony and friendship which subsists between him and that power, but also of extending the beneficial effects thereof, in general, to the subjects of Bengal and Assam has, at the recommendation of Captain Welch, the representative at his Court of the said English Government, agreed to abolish the injudicious system of Commerce which has heretofore been pursued, and to adopt in its stead the following plan, liable, however, to such alterations and amendments as occasions may require, for the mutual benefit and comfort of the subjects of both countries.

ARTICLE 1.

That there shall henceforth be a reciprocal and entire liberty of Commerce between the subjects of Bengal and those of Assam, for all and singular goods and merchandizes, on the conditions and in such manner as is settled in the following rules.

ARTICLE 2.

That to facilitate this free intercourse between the subjects of both nations, those of Bengal, in fulfilling the conditions hereafter prescribed, be permitted to proceed with their boats loaded with merchandizes into Assam, and to expose their goods for sale, at any place or in any manner may best suit their purposes, without being subject to any other duties than are established by these Articles.

ARTICLE 3.

That a regular Impost be levied on all goods or merchandizes, whether of Export or Import, and that these duties be fixed as follows:—

Imports.

1st.—That the Salt of Bengal be subject to an Impost of 10 per cent. on the supposed prime cost, reckoning that invariably at 400 Rupees per 100 maunds of 84 secca weight to the seer.

2nd.—That the Broad Cloths of Europe, the Cotton Cloths of Bengal, Carpets, Copper, Lead, Tin, Tutanag, Pearls, Hardware, Jewellery, Spices, and the various other Goods imported into Assam, pay an equal Impost of 10 per cent. on the Invoice price.

3rd.—That Warlike Implements and Military Stores be considered contraband and liable to confiscation, excepting the supplies of these articles which may be required for the Company's troops stationed in Assam, which, and every other matter of convenience for the said troops, whether of clothing or provisions, are in all cases to be exempt from duties.

Exports.

1st.—That the Duties to be levied on all articles of Export (except in such cases as are hereafter mentioned) be invariably 10 per cent., reckoning agreeable to the rates hereby annexed to each, viz. :—

			Rs. As P.
Mooga Dohtees per md. of 84 sa. wt. to the seer			... 95 0 0
Mooga Thread,	ditto	ditto	... 70 0 0
Pepper,	ditto	ditto	... 0 0 0
Elephants' Teeth,	ditto	ditto	... 50 0 0

Chuprah and Jury Lal,	ditto	ditto	... 3 8 0
Munjeet,	ditto	ditto	... 4 0 0
Cotton	ditto	ditto	... 0 0 0

2nd.—That all articles of Export not herein specified (with the exception of the following), and for which no certain calculation can be made, be subject to an equal Impost, in such instances always to be paid in kind; and with respect to these articles which have been particularized, that the Duties be received either in money or kind, as may be most convenient to the Merchant: but as it may happen that a temporary scarcity of grain may occur either in Bengal or Assam, to provide against which, Rice and every description of Grain to be exempt from Duties.

ARTICLE 4.

That any person or persons detected in attempting to defraud the Surgy Deo of the Duties hereby established, shall be liable to a confiscation of his, or their property, and for ever after debarred the privilege of the trade.

ARTICLE 5.

That for the purpose of collecting the said Duties, Agents be appointed, and Custom Houses established for the present, one at the Candahar Chokey, and one at Gowhatta.

ARTICLE 6.

That it be the business of the Agents to be stationed at the Candahar Chokey to collect the Duties on all Imports and on all Exports, the produce of the country to the westward of Gowhatta, for which they are to be held responsible. They are to examine all boats passing up and down the river, and, after having settled with the proprietor for the amount of the Duties, they are to grant him a passport, specifying the number and quantity of each article, a copy of which they are to forward, without delay, to the Agents at Gowhatta, whither, or further, if it be necessary, the Merchant may proceed under sanction of the said pass.

ARTICLE 7.

That it be the business of the Agents stationed at Gowhatty to collect the Duties on all Exports the produce of the country parallel to it, north and south, and also on all Exports the produce of the country to the eastward, as far as Nowgong, for which in like manner they are to be held responsible. They are to examine all boats passing down the river, and to grant passports to the proprietors, copies of which to be forwarded to the Agents at the Candahar Chokey, who are to re-examine the cargo, lest, on the way between Gowhatty and their station, the merchant may have taken goods on board which could not be specified in the pass granted at that place.

ARTICLE 8.

That as an incitement to the Agents to be industrious in the discharge of their duty, a recompense be made to them, bearing a proportion to the amount of the collections, and that for the present it be fixed at 12 per cent. on the said collections, which is calculated to defray all incidental expenses.

ARTICLE 9.

That the said Agents be required to be sureties for each other, and that the whole be bound by engagements to the Surgy Deo, not only for the purity of their conduct in the collections, but also that they abstain from having any concern, either directly or indirectly, in trade.

ARTICLE 10.

That a copy of their accounts be produced on or before the 10th of every month, and that the payment of the collections be made into the hands of any person the Surgy Deo may appoint to receive it at the expiration of every quarter.

ARTICLE 11.

That the standard weight hereafter, both for Exports and Imports, be 40 seers to the maund, and 84 sicca weight to the seer.

ARTICLE 12.

That as much political inconvenience might arise to both Governments from granting a general license to the subjects of Bengal to settle in Assam, no European merchant, or adventurer of any description, be allowed to fix their residence in Assam, without having previously obtained the permission of the English Government and that of the Surgy Deo.

ARTICLE 13.

That as Captain Welsh, the representative of the said English Government, in consideration of the Surgy Deo having removed the prohibitory restrictions which have hitherto existed, to the detriment of a free intercourse, has signified his intention of bringing to punishment all persons from Bengal, offending against the established laws of Assam, or infringing these Articles, so the Surgy Deo, on his part, declares he will punish all abuses in his subjects, tending to obstruct or discourage the reciprocal intercourse this system is designed to promote.

ARTICLE 14.

That copies of these Articles be affixed at every public place throughout Assam, that none may plead ignorance, and that Captain Welsh be requested to send one officially to his Government.

Captain.

No. LXIII.

TREATY and AGREEMENT concluded between MR. THOMAS CAMPBELL ROBERTSON, AGENT to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL on the NORTH-EAST FRONTIER, on the part of the HONORABLE COMPANY and RAJAH POORUNDER SING, now residing at GOWHATTY, in ASSAM.

ARTICLE I.

The Company give over to Rajah Poorunder Sing the portion of Assam lying on the southern bank of the Burumpooter to the eastward of the Dhunsiree River, and on the northern bank to the eastward of a nullah immediately east of Bishenath.

ARTICLE 2.

The Rajah Poorunder Sing agrees to pay an annual tribute of 50,000 Rupees of Rajah Mohree coinage to the Honorable Company.

ARTICLE 3

The Rajah Poorunder Sing binds himself, in the administration of justice in the country now made over to him, to abstain from the practices of the former Rajahs of Assam, as to cutting off ears and noses, extracting eyes or otherwise mutilating or torturing, and that he will not inflict cruel punishment for slight faults, but generally assimilate the administration of justice in his territory to that which prevails in the dominions of the Honorable Company. He further binds himself not to permit the immolation of women by suttees.

ARTICLE 4.

The Rajah Poorunder Sing binds himself to assist the passage of the troops of the British Government through his territory, furnishing supplies and carriage on receiving payment for the same.

ARTICLE 5.

Whether at Jorhat or elsewhere, wheresoever a spot may be required for the permanent cantonment of the troops of the British Government, the Rajah agrees that, within the limits assigned to such cantonment, he shall exercise no power whatever; all matters connected with such cantonment to be decided on by the Officer of the British Government.

ARTICLE 6.

In the event of a detachment being stationed at Suddeya or elsewhere, the Rajah Poorunder Sing binds himself to render it all the assistance that it shall require in regard to provisions and carriage.

ARTICLE 7.

The Rajah binds himself ever to listen with attention to the advice of the Political Agent to be stationed in Upper Assam, or to that of the Agent to the Governor-General, with a view to the conduct of affairs in the country made over to him in conformity with the stipulation of this Agreement.

ARTICLE 8.

The Rajah binds himself not to carry on any correspondence by letter or otherwise, or to enter into any Contract or Agreement with the Rulers of any Foreign States. In all cases of necessity he will consult with the Political Agent or Agent to the Governor-General, by whom the necessary communication will be made.

ARTICLE 9.

The Rajah binds himself to surrender, on demand from the Agent to the Governor-General or Political Agent, any fugitive from justice who may take refuge in his territory, and always to apply to those Officers for the apprehension of any individuals who may fly from his territory into that of the Honorable Company, or of any other State.

ARTICLE 10.

It is distinctly understood that this Treaty invests Rajah Poorunder Sing with no power over the Moarmaria Country of the Bur Senaputtee.

ARTICLE 11.

It being notorious that the quantity of opium produced in Assam is the cause of many miseries to the inhabitants, the Rajah binds himself that, whatever measures may be determined on with a view to checking this source of mischief in the territory of the Honorable Company, corresponding measures shall be adopted in the territory made over to him.

In the event of the Rajah's continuing faithful to the Articles of this Treaty, the British Government engages to protect him from the aggressions of any foreign foe, but if, which God forbid, he should in any way depart from a faithful adherence to the same, and be guilty of oppressing the people of the country entrusted to his charge, then the right is reserved to the Government of the Honorable Company, either to transfer the said country to another ruler, or take it into its own immediate occupation.

RAJAH GOVIND CHUNDER, of Cachar, succeeded his brother, Kishen Chunder, in 1813. In 1818 Cachar was invaded by Marjeet Sing from Munnipore, and continued to be the arena of contention between the sons of Jai Sing of Munnipore, until the commencement of 1823 when Gumbheer Sing obtained the ascendancy. Soon afterwards the Burmese invaded Cachar, from which they were expelled during the first Burmese War, when the legitimate Rajah, Govind Chunder, was restored by Treaty (No. LXIV.).

Rajah Govind Chunder's authority was successfully resisted in the hilly tracts on the north by Toola Ram. This man's father, Kacha Din, had been a table-servant of the late Rajah Kishen Chunder. He was appointed to an office in the hills, but rebelled, and was murdered by Govind Chunder. Toola Ram fled to the hills, whence every effort of Govind Chunder failed to expel him. In order to terminate a contest so injurious to the welfare of the country, Rajah Govind Chunder was induced to assign to Toola Ram the tract of country in the hills then in his possession.

In 1830 Govind Chunder was assassinated, and there being no descendant either lineal or adopted, Cachar, with the exception of the hilly tract assigned to Toola Ram, was annexed to the British dominions.

In 1832 Toola Ram was arrested on a charge of murder. It appears he ordered the execution of two men who had attempted his life, but for this act he was not deemed amenable to British jurisdiction, and on 16th October 1834 he entered into an Agreement (No. LXV.), by which he resigned the western and retained the eastern portion of his country.

In October 1844 Toola Ram, being stricken in years, transferred the management of his State to his two sons, Nookoolram and Brijnath. Toola Ram died in 1850, and in 1853 Nookoolram was killed in an attack on the Dishomah Nagas, and the country, the sovereignty of which had really lapsed on the death of Govind Chunder, was resumed by the British Government.

No. LXIV.

TREATY concluded between DAVID SCOTT, ESQUIRE, AGENT to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL, on the part of the HONORABLE EAST INDIA COMPANY and RAJAH GOVIND CHUNDER NARYN, of CACHAR, or HERUMBA.

ARTICLE 1.

Rajah Govind Chunder, for himself and his successors, acknowledges allegiance to the Honorable Company, and places his country of Cachar, or Herumba, under their protection.

ARTICLE 2.

The internal government of the country shall be conducted by the Rajah, and the jurisdiction of the British Courts of Justice shall not extend there; but the Rajah agrees to attend at all times to the advice offered for the welfare of his subjects by the Governor-General in Council, and agreeably thereto to rectify any abuses that may arise in the administration of affairs.

ARTICLE 3.

The Honorable Company engages to protect the territory of Cachar from external enemies, and to arbitrate any differences that may arise between the Rajah and other States. The Rajah agrees to abide by such arbitration, and to hold no correspondence or communication with foreign powers, except through the channel of the British Government.

ARTICLE 4.

In consideration of the aid promised by the above Article, and other circumstances, the Rajah agrees to pay to the Honorable Company, from the beginning of the year 1232 B. S., an annual tribute of ten thousand Sicca Rupees, and the Honorable Company engages to provide for the maintenance of the Munnipoorean Chiefs lately occupying Cachar.

ARTICLE 5.

If the Rajah should fail in the performance of the above Article, the Honorable Company will be at liberty to occupy and attach, in perpetuity, to their other possessions, a sufficient tract of the Cachar country, to provide for the future realization of the tribute.

ARTICLE 6.

The Rajah agrees, in concert with the British local Authorities, to adopt all measures that may be necessary for the maintenance, in the district of Sylhet, of the arrangements in force in the Police, Opium, and Salt Departments.

JYNTeah AND COSSIAH HILLS.

Jynteah.—The first Treaty with Jynteah (No. LXVI.) was concluded in 1824. The Chief, Ram Sing, rendered no assistance during the Burmese war, but his country was taken under protection, and he agreed to acknowledge allegiance to the British. In 1835 it having been proved that the Chief Raj Indro Sing, while heir-apparent, had in 1832 connived at, if he had not actually ordered, the kidnapping of four British subjects for the purpose of human sacrifice, Government confiscated his possessions in the plains, and the Chief voluntarily surrendered his possessions in the hills, and accepted a pension of Rupees 500 a month.

The Cossiah States are twenty-five in number, of which the principal are the five noted in the margin. The Chiefs, or "Seims," with the assistance of their elders in Durbar, exercise civil and criminal jurisdiction over their own people in all matters pertaining exclusively to them. Cases of homicide and those arising between subjects of different States are decided by the British Government. With the exception of Cherra Poonjee and Khyrim the British Government had, until recently, no formal agreement with the Chiefs of any of these five States, but the Chiefs were always required to deliver up criminal refugees, and to obey all the mandates of the British Government, and it was the invariable practice to treat them all in the same manner as the Cherra Rajah is treated.

In 1859 it was decided to require the execution of an Agreement on each occasion of the election of a new Chief, and in return to confer upon him a Sunnud confirming his election. In 1867 a general form was prescribed for such Agreements (No. LXVII.), and the opportunity was taken to insert a Clause (No. 8), which had been omitted from some of the previous Engagements. The terms of this Agreement were modified in 1875 (No. LXVIII.).

The Chiefs of the five principal States, and among the minor States the Chiefs of Nungklow, Moleem, Murriow, and Mahram, receive Sunnuds from the Governor-General. In the case of the other States Sunnuds are issued by the Chief Commissioner of Assam.

Cherra Poonjee.—The Treaty (No. LXIX.) with the Cherra Rajah, Dewan Sing, was concluded on 10th September 1829, and on the same date the Rajah ceded (No. LXX.) land for the station of Cherra Poonjee in exchange for an equivalent in the Sylhet Zillah. In the same year an Engagement (No. LXXI.) was made with the Sirdars of Byrung Poonjee, by which they bound themselves to be subject to Dewan Sing.

In 1830 his nephew and successor, Soobha Sing, ceded (No. LXXII.) additional land for the Station of Cherra Poonjee, and in 1840 Soobha Sing gave perpetual leases (Nos. LXXIII. & LXXIV.) to the British Government of the coal hills at Cherra Poonjee and Byrung Poonjee. Soobha Sing was succeeded by Ram Sing, who, on 16th May 1857, signed an Agreement (No. LXXV.) confirming the engagements of his predecessors. Ram Sing died on 23rd April 1875, and a collateral member of the family, Hajan Manic, was elected in his stead.

Khyrim.—On the death of Sing Manic, Rajah of Khyrim, his grand-nephew, Rabbon Sing, was elected by the Chiefs and Elders of the country, and the election was confirmed, and an Agreement, the same as that executed by the Nungklow Chief (See No. LXXVIII.) was taken from Rabbon Sing. Rabbon Sing died in August 1871, when his next brother, Kuloor Sing, was elected as his successor, and the election was confirmed on his signing the usual Agreement (No. LXVII.).

Nusteng.—Moot Sing, Chief of Nusteng, died in 1862 before the completion of the Agreement with the British Government into which he had proposed to enter. He was succeeded by Dun Sing, who had been chosen by the elders of the tribe; the title of Rajah Bahadoor was conferred on Dun Sing on his signing an Agreement (No. LXXVI.).

Lungree.—The Chief of Lungree died in December 1862, and was succeeded by his nephew, Oomit Sing, whose election was confirmed on his subscribing to an Agreement (No. LXXVII.).

Nuspoong.—In 1872 Phanbalang, Chief of Nuspoong, died, and his nephew Oostep was elected in his stead: the election was confirmed under the usual conditions.

The minor States are twenty* in number. The most important of these is Nungklow.

Nungklow.—A Treaty (No. LXXVIII.), with a view to open up communication between Sylhet and Assam, was formed in 1826 with Rajah Teerut Sing, by which the Rajah, on receiving the protection of the British Government, voluntarily surrendered his independence.

In 1829 Teerut Sing was prominently concerned in the massacre of two British Officers, with about sixty native subjects. Hostilities ensued, and after a harassing war with the Hill Chiefs, most of whom joined Teerut Sing, the Rajah surrendered. He was imprisoned for life in the Dacca Jail, and Government conferred the Chiefship on his nephew, Rujun Sing, who was installed on 29th March 1834, and with whom a new Engagement (No. LXXIX.) was made.

Rujun Sing became deeply involved in debt, and abdicated in favor of Jeedar Sing, on condition of his debts being paid, and a stipend being allowed him.

Jeedar Sing died in 1856, and the succession was disputed between Rujun Sing and Bor Sing, a distant collateral relation of Jeedar Sing in the female line. Rujun Sing died before the dispute was settled, and as Bor Sing was considered to have no claims of family, and was objected to by many of the Sirdars, Government resumed the country. The Home Government, however, disapproved of the resumption, and directed that a Chief should be chosen by the assembled Muntrees and heads of clans. The choice fell on Bor Sing and the Chiefship was conferred on him and his lineal heirs for ever, subject to certain conditions (No. LXXX.). In May 1866 Bor Sing finding himself incapable of managing his affairs abdicated (No. LXXXI.) in favour of his heir Chand Rai, who was recognized in 1868 under the usual conditions (No. LXVII.) as Chief of Nungklow.

Moleem.—After the conquest of the Moleem country in 1829, the Chief Bur Manie, then called Chief of Khyrim, ceded to the British Government the Territory on the south and east of the Oomean or Boga Panee River (No. LXXXII.). In 1834 a proposal was made to restore this tract to the Chief, but the proposal was never carried out.

In 1860 the chief men of Moleem presented a petition, complaining against the Chief Hazar Sing. As the Chief was extremely unpopular, violated the customs of the country, and gave himself up to habitual drunkenness, he was deposed in 1861, and Melay Sing was elected by the elders and people in his stead. A new Engagement similar to that made with the Nungklow Chief (No. LXXX.), was taken from Melay Sing.

In December 1863 Melay Sing signed an Agreement (No. LXXXIII.), by which he ceded the lands required for the Military Cantonment and Sanitarium of Shillong, and renounced all his sovereign and personal rights therein. By his Engagements he was bound to give such lands rent-free: compensation was however given to him in the shape of a money payment of Rupees 2,000, the rights of private proprietors being bought up for Rupees 6,325 and an annual payment of Rupees 108. Melay Sing died in January 1868, and the election of his successor, Hain Manie, was confirmed on his signing the usual Agreement (No. LXVII.).

Murriow.—An agreement (No. LXXXIV.) was made with Oolar Sing, Chief of Murriow in 1829.

Oophan, Chief of Murriow, died in 1862 and was succeeded by Ooroz who signed an Agreement (No. LXXXV.), and received the title of Rajah.

Dowarrah Notoormen.—An Agreement was made with this state in 1833, but no copy of it exists.

Mowseuram.—An Agreement (No. LXXXVI.) was taken from Adhor Sing, Chief of Mowseuram, in 1831. The late Chief, Oomit, died in 1867, and was succeeded by his nephew, Adhon Sing, under the usual conditions. (No. LXVII.).

Mahram.—Agreements were made with the Chiefs of Mahram in 1839 and 1852 (Nos. LXXXVII. & LXXXVIII.).

In October 1864 Oosai Sing was elected Chief of Mahram in succession to Oosep Sing, and was recognized by Government on his signing an Agreement (No. LXXXIX.).

In 1875 Oosai Sing was deposed for misgovernment. It had been the practice in this State to elect two "Seims," a senior and a junior, the one being supposed to act as a check on the other, but the system gave rise to inconveniences and the opportunity of Oosai Sing's deposition was taken to abolish it, Adhor Sing being appointed sole Chief of Mahram.

Bhawul.—An Agreement (No. XC.) was in December 1832 executed by Oophar Chief of Bhawul Poonjee. In 1860, on the succession of Dhabur Sing, an Agreement similar to that taken from Nungklow (No. LXXX.) was made with him. Dhabur Sing died in 1874 and was succeeded under the usual conditions (No. LXVII.) by Looshai Sing.

Seenai Poonjee—was conquered in 1829 and an Agreement (No. XCI.) was taken from the Elders and Sirdars.

Manwyong.—Oowan Sing, Chief of Manwyong, was killed in a tribal affray in March 1865, and his cousin, Oojan Sing, was elected his successor. The occasion of this succession was taken to introduce the general form of Agreement (No. LXVII.) alluded to above, but Oojan Sing died before a Sunnud could be conferred on him. Oojeet Sing was elected in his stead. The first Engagement with Manwyong dates from 24th June 1829, but there is no copy of it extant.

The treaties with the other Chiefs are given under (Nos. XCII. to XCIX.) No Engagements have yet been made with Nobo Sopho, Syung, Moflong Poonjee, and Lyksom Poonjee.

Disturbances broke out in the Cossiah Hills in 1862, but were quickly suppressed by the early fall or capture of the principal rebel Chiefs, and the execution of the ringleader, Kiang Nongba.

The imports of the Jynteah and Cossiah Hills amount to about 13,60,000 Rupees, the exports being about 13,70,000 Rupees. The revenue, which is chiefly derived from a house tax and from the rent of mines and quarries, amounted in 1875 to Rupees 1,11,075 as compared with Rupees 23,023 in 1857. The area of these hills is 6,650 square miles, with a population of 142,000 souls.

Garrow Hills.—To the west of the Cossiah Hills lies the Garrow Country. The climate of the country is deadly, and we had until 1866 little intercourse with the Garrows. They were in the constant habit of making predatory incursions upon our frontier villages in the plains, decapitating their victims, and carrying off their heads as funeral offerings to their departed Chiefs. It was frequently found necessary to punish these outrages by sending a military expedition into the country, and by closing the markets in the plains frequented by the Garrows.

In 1866, in consequence of the raids which, under the irritation caused by the attempts of the Mymensing Zemindars to levy rents in the hills, were constantly being perpetrated, the Garrow Hills were formed into a separate district, and placed under the charge of a special officer. A number of villages submitted peaceably, but the independent tribes in the interior continuing to raid upon Garrows subject to the British Government, an expedition was sent against them in 1872 which ended in the subjugation of the whole country.

The area of the Garrow Hills is 3,300 square miles, the population about 80,000 souls. The Garrows pay revenue, principally derived from a house tax, amounting to about Rupees 2,500 per annum.

To

MAJOR LISTER,

*Political Agent to the Governor-General,
At his Court House.*

I, Songaph Rajah, resident of the Mahram country, having wantonly made war against the Honorable Company, and caused great loss of life to their people, and put them to considerable expense, have myself been driven through fear a fugitive to the jungles, and acknowledge having committed great faults; but I now crave an amnesty for the past offences of myself and my Cossiah people, and enter into this Agreement, in the hope of being permitted to remain in my country in the capacity of a Sirdar (Chief) on the following terms:—

2nd.—That I acknowledge my dependency on the Government, and agree to stay in my country, as a Sirdar (Chief), or as if I have been appointed a Sirdar by the Government. I am, however, to adjudicate, amongst my own people, according to custom, but will not put any one to death.

3rd.—That if any of the Government troops should pass through my country, I will attend and furnish them with such provisions as they may require, receiving payment for the same at the customary rates.

4th.—That should any disturbances arise in the hills, I will, if so ordered, attend with all the Cossiahs of my country, and remain in attendance as long as I may be required to do so, receiving merely subsistence for my people from the Government.

† See General form of agreement No. LXVII.

5th.—That if any murderers or dacoits should take refuge in my country, I will apprehend them and deliver them up when called on to do so.

TRANSLATION of a PREWANNAR issued by the POLITICAL AGENT of the COASTAL HILLS in the year 1832, to OOSEP SING, RAJAH, appointing him DHOLLAH RAJAH of the MAHRAM TERRITORY.

(Sd.)

F. G. LISTER,
Political Agent.

To

OOSEP SING, DHOLLAH RAJAH,

Resident of Rongthong Poonjee, in the Mahram Territory.

KNOW HEREBY,

It appears that Oober Sing, Dhollah Rajah of the Mahram territory, having deceased, you requested to be appointed Rajah there, on the ground of the country having been under the control of your uncle, the late Songaph, Dhollah Rajah, your application being supported by a petition from Oomon Muntree, Oolar Sing Rajah, and other persons consenting to it; but final orders were deferred on it, in consequence of Ramsye, Kallah Rajah of Nonglang Poonjee, in that territory, having set up a claim founded on the right of his uncle, the late Ram Sing, Kallah Rajah, to which Oojeet Lungdeo, Ooksan Sirdar, and certain other persons signified their assent in a petition they presented. As you and Ramsye Rajah, have, however, this day come to an amicable arrangement, and filed a deed of compromise to the effect, that of the two Kallah and Dhollah Rajahs of Mahram, the Kallah Rajah is to be subordinate to the Dhollah Rajah, and the investigations connected with the duties of the Raj are to be conducted by them together in consultation, and the profits lerived therefrom are to be enjoyed by them both, and as you have therein stated that you are to be Rajah in the place of the aforesaid Dhollah Rajah, retaining the said Ramsye Rajah as your subordinate, and investigating and deciding cases occurring in the country in concert and consultation with him, which are otherwise to be considered null and void, and the afore-mentioned Ramsye Kallah Rajah has expressed his willingness to remain as your subordinate, and according to former custom to investigate and decide cases taking place in the country in company and consultation with you, the decisions being invalid, unless so conducted, &c., besides which, you two persons are, agreeably to previous practice, to enjoy the profits derived from the country, and to share the losses incurred therein and as you have assented to the above stated terms, and requested that a Perwannah may be given to you, appointing you as Rajah in accordance therewith, you are, therefore, informed that you are hereby appointed Rajah in the room of the Dhollah Rajah of the territory of Mahram, and it will be your duty to conduct investigations and give decisions there as stipulated in the deed of compromise, and according to your own sense of proper justice, retaining Ramsye Kallah Rajah as your subordinate, and both of you acting together and in consultation to do what is incumbent on you. You will, moreover, obey all orders that may be issued to you, from time to time, on the part of the Honorable Company, without delay, observing the terms agreed on in the deed of compromise referred to.

I bind myself to obey all orders issued by the Deputy Commissioner or other officer appointed to the charge of the Hill districts, and to make over, on demand, to the duly constituted authorities all refugees and civil and political offenders coming to, or residing in, the Mahram district.

ARTICLE 4.

I also agree to supply full information regarding the Mahram district and its inhabitants whenever I may be required so to do by the officers of Government. I will also render assistance in developing the resources of the country, and I will give aid and protection to Government officials and travellers passing through Mahram, as also to settlers residing therein, and will use my best endeavours to facilitate free intercourse and trade between the people of the country under me and British subjects and people of other Cossiah States.

The British Government will have the right of establishing military and civil sanitaria, cantonments, and posts, in any part of the Mahram District under my control, and I agree to give all lands required for such purposes on the understanding, when the land or lands do not belong to the Raj, that the proprietors shall receive compensation.

ARTICLE 6.

Lastly, I bind myself, my heirs and successors, to the terms of the Agreement entered into with the Government of British India by the late Rajah Oo-ssep Sing on the 22nd September 1859, by which he ceded, in consideration of receiving half the profits, all his mineral rights (except those connected with the Mahram tracts leased to the late Mr. Henry Inglis up to 1283 B.S.), and all the waste lands not paying revenue which are not being brought under cultivation by the people of Mahram, and by which they will not be sufferers.

RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH,

That previous to the occupation of these Hills by the Honorable Company, we were appointed to the offices of the four Wahadadars of our village of Cheyla Poonjee, and protected the people by conducting enquiries and investigations in our country. That when these Hills afterwards came into the possession of the Honorable Company, we were confirmed in our appointments, agreeably to former custom, with the approval of the late Mr. David Scott, and most efficiently protected the inhabitants by investigating cases in the country by our own authority; but during the last two or three years, certain Cossiabs of our village, who are unruly, powerful, and evil-advising persons, have formed themselves into a party to carry out their own purposes, and are oppressing and harassing some of the poor Cossiabs, and if they complain, and we send for these persons through our officers, they openly resist our authority and assault them, besides making various remarks about us. When we also summon defendants in cases under trial before us, these violent individuals screen them, and in resistance of orders beat our men and snatch away the defendants from them; thus causing great annoyance to the poor people under our control, which we have frequently complained of to you by petitions; and the individuals of this party who harass the poor people in this manner are, moreover, not unknown to you. It is besides probable that unless this faction is put down, serious affrays and murders may hereafter occur, attended with ruination to our country, which it will be difficult for us to account for to you, and we shall be punished by Providence if the poor are violently oppressed by such persons of our village as have numerous friends and relatives, and we, as rulers of the country, do not redress their grievances. But as the calamities of our poor people cannot be removed, or the country rendered tranquil without your assistance, we therefore throw ourselves on your protection, and voluntarily present this petition, soliciting that the persons under our control, who resist our officers, may be tried by you, and that you will, on our solicitation, grant us your help to bring to our Durbars all such persons as pertinaciously refuse to attend there when we send for them; and if any persons who are dissatisfied with our orders should appeal to you against them, or if we oppress or injure any persons, and they complain to you about it, we will agree to any investigations and orders that you may pass, and will never act in contravention of them, but will obey them without urging any objections. There is no prospect of relief to our country, unless you so favor us, and in this your power is absolute.

Present COLONEL LISTER, Political Agent.

The request of the Wahadadars is granted, and it is hereby ordered that a perwannah be written to them, to the effect that if any person hereafter oppresses or injures another, and the person so oppressed complains to the Wahadadars and the oppressor, when called for by them obstinately and in disobedience of the Wahadadars' orders refuses to attend at their Durbars, they must send him to Cherra Poonjee with the witnesses to the fact of the opposition made to their authority, and the prosecutor and his witnesses, when proper orders will be passed.

NORTH-EASTERN FRONTIER.

To the east of the Jynteah Hills and north of Munnipore lie the Naga Hills stretching from about the 93rd to the 97th degree of longitude. The country is inhabited by a number of tribes having ill defined political relations with the British Government. The Angami Nagas are the most warlike of the western tribes. For many years commencing in 1835 Naga raids were of almost annual occurrence: punitive expeditions were as often sent into the hills, but the country was never permanently occupied. Non-interference and the withdrawal of British troops resulted in an increase in the number of raids, till in 1866 it was found necessary for the protection of British villages in the plains to form part of the Naga Hills into a district, the head-quarters of which were fixed at Samagoooting in the heart of the Angami country. This measure has proved successful in putting an end to raids on British villages.

Soon after the formation of the Naga Hills District difficulties respecting its southern boundary arose with Munnipore. In 1842 the northern boundary of Munnipore had been demarcated as far as the River Mao, and the Munnipore Government claimed the right of extending its jurisdiction east of that river, and had in fact done so by breaking over the watershed west of the Telizo Peak, and occupying the Sopomah group of villages. In 1872 these villages were included within the Munnipore frontier which was demarcated as far as the Telizo Peak; eastward of this peak the watershed of the main range of hills, dividing the affluents of the Brahmapootra from those of the Irrawaddy, was to form the northern boundary of Munnipore. To determine this watershed and open up the unexplored country between the southern frontier of Seesaugor and the Patkoi Pass, some 20 miles south-east of Jeypore, surveying parties were sent out. One of these under Lieutenant Holcombe was treacherously attacked by Nagas at the village of Nibang on the 2nd February 1875: Lieutenant Holecombe was murdered, and of a total strength of 197 men 80 were killed and 51 wounded. Troops were at once despatched against the villages implicated in the massacre; the operations were completely successful and due reparation was exacted.

The principal tribes on the Frontier of Upper Assam are the Muttocks, Khamptees, Singphoos, Akas, Abors, Dufflas, and Meris.

Muttocks.—The Bur Senaputtee or Chief of the Muttocks entered into an Engagement (No. C.) in May 1826, whereby he acknowledged the supremacy of Government, and bound himself to supply 300 soldiers in time of war. The management of the country was left in his own hands, except as regards capital offences. In January 1835 the obligation to supply troops was commuted to a money payment of Rupees 1,800 a year (No. CI.).

On the death of the Bur Senaputtee in November 1839, as his successor refused the terms offered him, the management of the country was assumed by the British Government, and pensions were given to the members of the family. The Muttocks number about 26,000 souls.

Khamptees.—In 1826 arrangements similar to those made with the Muttocks were made with the Khamptee Chief of Suddeya (No. CII.). In January 1839 the Khamptees treacherously attacked the station of Suddeya, and though eventually broken up and dispersed, this was not effected until many lives were lost, and among others that of Colonel White, the Political Agent. Some of the Khamptees surrendered on conditions in 1843 (No. CIII.).

Singphoos.—Agreements were also made in May 1826 (No. CIV.), and again in May 1836 (No. CV.) with the Singphoos. These tribes were implicated in the Khamptee rising in 1839, but they were allowed to surrender under conditions. No written Agreement, however, was again taken from them. Many of the Singphoo clans have become extinct, and the main body have left Assam for Hookong in Upper Burmah.

Akas.—Agreements (Nos. CVI. to CVIII.) have been made with the Akas, by which the blackmail, formerly levied by them in the Char and Now Dooars, was commuted to an annual payment.

Abors.—In the end of 1861 the Meyong Abors attacked and plundered a village in British territory. Preparations were being made to take permanent military command of the Abor country on the border of the Assam valley, when the tribe expressed a desire to renew friendly relations, and begged that their offences might be overlooked. On the 5th November 1862, an Agreement (No. CIX.) was made with them, binding them to respect British territory. The same Engagement was subscribed on 16th January 1863 by the Kebang Abors. On 8th November 1862 a similar Engagement (No. CX.) was concluded with the Abors of the Dihang Dibang Doars. In 1866 the representatives of the twelve Bor Abor tribes, who had not already entered into Engagements with the British Government, signed an Agreement (No. CXI.) similar to that concluded in 1862.

Dufflas.—The Dufflas inhabit the hilly country north of the Durrung and Luckimpore Districts. In 1873 they committed a serious raid on Antollah in the Durrung District and carried off a number of their countrymen who had settled there as colonists. A strict blockade was kept up along the Duffla frontier, but the season being too far advanced no expedition took place until the cold weather of 1874, when a force proceeded to the Duffla country and recovered the captives, the Dufflas being punished by suitable fines.

The Dufflas and Chang Meris number about 11,500 adults. They receive an annual compensation for the blackmail formerly levied by them.

TRANSLATION of an AGREEMENT entered into by MATEE BUR BUR SENAPUTTEE, on the 23rd January 1835, in the presence of the POLITICAL AGENT, UPPER ASSAM.

ARTICLE I.

I agree to relinquish my claim to the village of Suckhowah, which has been the cause of dispute between the Suddeyn Khawah Gohain and myself; further, I agree that the following shall be recognized as the territorial boundaries of my district. On the north the Berhampooter, on the west the Boormee Debing River, separating my territory from that of Rajah Poorunder Sing, to the east the Dibroo River and the Danquree Nullah, which falls into it. From the rise of the nullah a boundary line will be formed to connect it with the Boore Debing River; for this purpose Lieutenant Charlton can depute one person and I will depute another.

The lands lying between the Dhul Jan and Gooroo Jan Nullahs, which fall into the Danquree Nullah, to be considered under my jurisdiction, and the persons deputed as above-mentioned can connect them by definite marks, so as to form a boundary line. These are the territorial boundaries of the country under my jurisdiction, and have no reference to the pecuniary questions now pending between me and the British Government.

ARTICLE 2.

I cannot agree to the demand which the British Government has made me to contribute towards the expenses of the State in an increased proportion, quinquennially, or by paying a tribute of 10,000 Rupees per annum, as I engaged to do under the Assam Government. But if the British Government requires me no longer to furnish a Military Contingent of 300 men, I agree to pay in their stead the usual Capitation Tax for these 300 men, which, at the rate of 6 Rupees per head, will amount to 1,800 Rupees per annum. I further agree to restore to the British Government the arms of this force if required. I likewise will adhere to the engagement I formed with Captain Neufville, to pay 551 Rupees per annum, on account of Pykes who absconded from Upper Assam, whilst that Province was under his charge in 1829; and further I agree to pay to those who have absconded from Rajah Poorunder Sing's territory within the last two years. I will cause them to be counted, but if suspicion is entertained that a false enumeration will be given in, I agree that the British Government may nominate an Officer to take a new census.

We, late inhabitants of Derack and Suddeya, were engaged in the attack upon the latter place, and fled to the Mishmee country; we have offered our submission to return back, if our former offences were overlooked, and now we have returned agreeably to the orders of the Political Agent, with our followers, viz., Chowdung, Chawding, Long Fong, Poychoy, Chalan, Sham, Poom, Metong, and Chowlab, but the whole of the Khamptees are unable to return for the present, owing to their crops being uncut. However, they hereby promise to come in with all their families after their crops have been gathered, or within a month and half from this date.

1st.—We shall be allowed a sufficient quantity of lands for our support, either at Choonpoora or at Noa Dehing, for a term of five years rent-free, and after the expiration of that period we agree to pay a moderate rent for the lands we may cultivate, or pay a house tax, as Government may choose to authorize. Any orders that may be issued respecting the Akbarry shall be duly attended to.

2nd.—We engage also to endeavor to prevent or intercept any intruders of the Singphoos or Mishmees on the Suddoya ryots, and shall obey all orders of the Civil or Political authorities on the frontier.

3rd.—We further engage that we shall desist from trafficking in slaves according to the regulations of Government generally.

4th.—All petty crimes and offences occurring amongst ourselves shall be settled by the Chiefs of the villages, but in all heinous offences, such as robbery, murder, dacoity, wounding, and counterfeiting the coin, we promise to make over the offenders to the Political Agent, with their respective witnesses for trial; and disputes between the heads of the different villages or clans shall also be referred to the same authority.

5th.—At the expiration of ten years the whole of our engagements will be subject to a revision and alteration, as it may seem best to His Lordship to determine on.

6th.—Should we or any of the Khamptees in any way depart from the faithful adherence of the above Agreement, and commit any acts of violence, we shall be subject to be driven out of the Province, and be without further excuse.

Under the supposition that we were concerned with Niboojoo Rajah, Kawree Bhoot, and Bogah Bhoot, in the murder of Muddoo Sykeah, of Ooang, in Chardoar, and therefore required to give up the above-mentioned supposed murderers, which we were unable to do, in consequence of which the Dwarts were attacked, and we forbidden to frequent them; and it being now ordered that we be allowed a pension in lieu of Black-Mail and may again visit the plains for the purposes of traffic under a sworn Agreement, to ensure the ryots from any oppressions from us:—We hereby pledge ourselves to act up to the following terms, swearing according to our customs by placing salt on a daw or Bootan sword, and biting it, and cutting the skins of a tiger and bear:—

1st.—We pledge ourselves to report our arrival in the Plains to the Patgarree, and never to commit any fraud or theft against any ryot or Patgarree in trafficking with them, or any other act of oppression. Neither will we allow any of our people to do so, or we shall forfeit our privilege of visiting the Plains.

2nd.—We pledge ourselves never to join any person or persons that may be at enmity with the British Government, and furthermore to oppose every effort made against the Government the instant it shall be brought to our knowledge, and report faithfully any intelligence we may get of any conspiracy being carried on. 3rd.—We will never come into the Plains armed, and in our traffic confine ourselves exclusively to the established market places at Lahabarree, Balle, Barah, Oobung, and Tezpor, and not deal with the ryots in their private houses, neither will we permit any of our people doing so.

4th.—We consider ourselves in all civil grievances bound to abide the decision of the British Courts.

5th.—I, Durjee Rajah, am content to receive a monthly Pension of 25 Rupees, and for the rest of my people 20 Rupees each, altogether 145* Rupees in lieu of our Black-Mail, and we relinquish every other right in Chardoar.

AGREEMENT entered into by the MEYONG ABORS on 5th November 1862.

Whereas it is expedient to adopt measures for maintaining the integrity of the British territory in the District of Luckhimpoor, Upper Assam, on the Meyong Abor Frontier, and for preserving peace and tranquillity, and whereas by virtue of a letter No. 11 of 11th October 1862, from the Officiating Commissioner of Assam, transmitting orders from the Government of Bengal, conveyed in a letter No. 265T, dated 8th August 1862, from the Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, the Deputy Commissioner of Luckhimpoor has been authorized to proceed in this matter, an Engagement to the following effect has been entered into with the Meyong Abors this 5th day of November A.D. 1862 at Camp Lalee Mookh:—

8th August 1862, might with advantage be adopted towards the Abor clans aforesaid, pursuant thereto, at a meeting between the representatives of the Abor communities named, and the Deputy Commissioner of Luckhimpoor, Upper Assam, at Camp Dihang Dibang Mookh, on the 8th day of November A. ARTICLE 9.

In event of the Abors having any grievance, or in case of any dispute arising between them and British subjects, the Abors will refrain from taking the law into their own hands; but they will in all cases appeal to the Deputy Commissioner and abide by his decision.

ARTICLE 10.

To enable the Abors of the clans or communities mentioned in the preamble to keep a Police for preventing any marauders from resorting to the plains for sinister purposes, and to enable them to take measures for arresting any offenders, the Deputy Commissioner, on behalf of the British Government, undertakes that the Abor communities referred to shall receive yearly the following articles:—

MUNNIPORE.

UP to about the year 1714 the Annals of Munnipore possess but little political interest. In that year Gureeb Nawaz succeeded to power. He made several successful invasions of Burmah, but made no permanent conquest.

Gureeb Nawaz had three sons, named Sham Shaee, Oogut Shaee, and Burut Shaee. Oogut Shaee murdered his father and his elder brother, but was expelled by Burut Shaee, who ruled two years, and was succeeded by Gooroo Sham, son of Sham Shaee. Gooroo Sham associated with himself his brother Jai Sing, and they ruled alternately until Gooroo Sham's death, about 1764, when the sole authority fell to Jai Sing.

After the death of Gureeb Nawaz the Burmese invaded Munnipore, and Jai Sing having sought the aid of the British, a Treaty of alliance, offensive and defensive, was negotiated on 14th September 1762. The force sent to assist Munnipore was, however, recalled, and in October of the following year Gooroo Sham confirmed the Treaty which had been made with Jai Sing, with some modifications. No copies of these Treaties appear to be extant.

From this time communication between the British and Munnipore appears to have ceased. On the death of Jai Sing, in 1799, the country was distracted for twenty-five years by the quarrels of his sons for power. But on the outbreak of the first Burmese War negotiations were opened with Gumbheer Sing, one of the sons of Jai Sing, who was declared independent by the Treaty of Yandaboo.* The two ranges of hills between the eastern and western bends of the Barak River were annexed to Munnipore in 1833 (No. CXII.). After the Burmese War the Nengthee River was made the boundary of Gumbheer Sing's territory to the east. But this was disputed by the Burmese, and the British Government, with a view of gratifying the Burmese, restored to them the Kubo Valley, and fixed the eastern base of the Yomadoung Hills as the boundary of Munnipore, giving to the Rajah a money payment of Rupees 500 a month as compensation (No. CXIII.).

On the death of Gumbheer Sing, in 1834, his infant son, Chunder Kirtee Sing, was put in power by Nur Sing, who declared himself Regent. In

* See Ava Treaty of 24th February 1826, No. CXV.

1844, in consequence of the failure of a plot against Nur Sing's life, the Ranees fled from the country, taking her son with her, whereupon Nur Sing ascended the Guddee, and ruled till his death, in 1850.

He was succeeded by his brother Debendro Sing, who was expelled by Chunder Kirtee Sing, who had now become of age. In consequence of repeated attempts to upset the authority of Chunder Kirtee Sing, whereby the peace of the country was disturbed, and British influence endangered, Government made a public avowal of its determination to uphold Chunder Kirtee Sing, and to punish any parties attempting to dispossess him.

The relations of the British Government with Munnipore are conducted through a Political Agent, who in matters connected with Assam and its frontier is under the control of the Chief Commissioner of Assam, in others under that of the Supreme Government. The first appointment was made in 1835.

The area of Munnipore is 7,584 square miles, and its population about 75,840 souls. The money revenue is about Rupees 14,250 a year. Munnipore pays no tribute to the British Government.

No. CXII.

A TRANSLATION of the CONDITIONS entered into by RAJAH GUMBHEER SING of MUNNIPORE, on the BRITISH GOVERNMENT agreeing to annex to Munnipore the two ranges of Hills situated between the eastern and western bends of the Barak. Dated 18th April 1833.

The Governor-General and Supreme Council of Hindoostan declare as follows:—With regard to the two ranges of Hills, the one called the Kalanaga Range, and the other called the Noon-jai Range, which are situated between the eastern bend of the Barak and the western bend of the Barak, we will give up all claim on the part of the Honorable Company thereunto, and we will make these Hills over in possession to the Rajah, and give him the line of the Jeeree and the western bend of the Barak as a boundary, provided that the Rajah agrees to the whole of what is written in this paper, which is as follows:—

1st.—The Rajah will, agreeably to instructions received, without delay, remove his Thanna from Chundrapore, and establish it on the eastern bank of the Jeeree.

2nd.—The Rajah will in no way obstruct the trade carried on between the two countries by Bengali or Munnipooree merchants. He will not exact heavy duties, and he will make a monopoly of no articles of merchandise whatsoever.

3rd.—The Rajah will in no way prevent the Nagas inhabiting the Kalanaga and Noon-jai Ranges of Hills, from selling or bartering ginger, cotton, pepper, and every other article, the produce of their country, in the Plains of Cachar, at the Banskandee and Oodharbun bazaars, as has been their custom.

4th.—With regard to the road commencing from the eastern bank of the Jeeree and continued via Kalanaga and Kowpoom, as far as the Valley of Munnipore—after this road has been finished, the Rajah will keep it in repairs, so as to enable laden bullocks to pass during the cold and dry seasons. Further, at the making of the road, if British officers be sent to examine or superintend the same, the Rajah will agree to everything these officers may suggest.

5th.—With reference to the intercourse already existing between the territories of the British Government and those of the Rajah, if the intercourse be farther extended, it will be well in every respect, and it will be highly advantageous to both the Rajah and his country. In order, therefore, that this may speedily take place, the Rajah, at the requisition of the British Government, will furnish a quota of Nagas to assist at the construction of the road.

6th.—In the event of war with the Burmese, if troops be sent to Munnipore, either to protect that country, or to advance beyond the Ningthee, the Rajah, at the requisition of the British Government, will provide Hill porters to assist in transporting the ammunition and baggage of such troops.

7th.—In the event of anything happening on the Eastern Frontier of the British territories, the Rajah will, when required, assist the British Government with a portion of his troops.

8th.—* The Rajah will be answerable for all the ammunition he receives from the British Government, and will, for the information of the British Government, give in every month a statement of expenditure to the British Officer attached to the Levy.

Signed and sealed in my presence.

Commissioner.

PART III.

TREATIES AND ENGAGEMENTS

WITH

BURMAH.

From a Report by Colonel Phayre and other papers in the Foreign Office.

It is believed that no real Treaty existed between the British Government in India and the King of Burmah, until that of Yandaboo, which was concluded on the 24th February 1826. At the period when the British in India represented a trading body and not a sovereign power, deputations were occasionally sent from the Governors of the Settlements both in Bengal and Madras to establish trade with the Burmese territory. Factories were erected at Syrian, near Rangoon, and at Negrais.

In 1757 a Treaty is said to have been made with the Burmese Government. The Chief of the English factory at Negrais deputed Ensign Lester to the capital of Burmah. He had an interview with King Alompra, the founder of the existing dynasty, by whom the island of Negrais, and some ground near the town of Bassein, were granted to the East India Company. It is not known that any copy of this so-called Treaty is now in existence. Afterwards the English at Negrais were treacherously killed; but a second grant of land, for the erection of a factory at Bassein, was subsequently made by the Burmese Government.

The first direct political intercourse between the British and Burmese Governments appears to have been when Captain Michael Symes was deputed by the Governor-General as Envoy to the Court of Ava in 1795, for the purpose of strengthening the political and commercial relations of the British Government with the Court of Ava, and of preventing the French from gaining a footing in Burmah. Captain Symes obtained a Royal Order (No. CXIV.), whereby permission was given for a British Agent or Superintendent to reside at Rangoon, to protect the interests of British subjects, and arrangements were made for the protection of trade.

In virtue of that arrangement Captain Cox was appointed Superintendent, and he landed at Rangoon in October 1796. He proceeded to the capital to deliver certain presents to the King, which had been formerly promised by Captain Symes. He was, however, treated with much contumely. Eventually he returned to Rangoon and left for Bengal at the latter end of 1797.

About this time there began some disputes on the border between Arakan and Chittagong. The Burmese had conquered Arakan in 1782. The Arakanese rebelled, and about the year 1797 numbers of them began to take refuge in the Chittagong district. The Burmese Governor of Arakan wrote during 1798, and demanded in an insolent manner that the fugitives should be given up. The Governor-General, Marquis Wellesley, then determined to send another Embassy to the Court of Ava. Captain, then Colonel, Symes was again selected. He proceeded to the capital. There he obtained merely a verbal assurance that no further demand would be made for the Arakanese fugitives. The King would make no apology for the style in which the demand had been made, nor enter into any new Engagement. Colonel Symes returned to Rangoon, where he was not treated with ordinary civility by the Governor, and left for Bengal in January 1803.

After this Captain Canning was deputed to Rangoon, apparently as the representative of Colonel Symes, to endeavour to obtain some apology from the Burmese Court for their past insolence, and to ascertain if the French were establishing any interest in Burmah. Captain Canning, in consequence of the overbearing conduct of the local authorities at Rangoon, was, before long, obliged to leave the country.

In the year 1809 Captain Canning was again deputed to Rangoon as Agent to the Governor-General. The object appears to have been to enter into explanations regarding the blockade of the Isle of France, which interfered with the trade of Rangoon to that island. Captain Canning proceeded to the capital, and was well received. Having accomplished the object in view, Captain Canning returned to Bengal.

In the year 1811 the Arakanese having once more rebelled, and many of them having fled to the district of Chittagong, disputes again occurred on that Frontier. An Arakanese Chief collected a body of his countrymen in the hilly parts of the Chittagong district, and marched into Arakan to attack the Burmese. Captain Canning was deputed to the Court of Ava to explain that this movement was neither instigated nor supported by the British Government, and also to complain of outrages to British subjects perpetrated with the sanction of the Burmese authorities in Arakan. In the meantime the Burmese troops in Arakan had followed the Arakanese rebels into British territory, and orders were sent down from the Burmese Court to the Governor of Rangoon to make Captain Canning prisoner, and retain him as a hostage for the delivery of the Arakanese rebels. Captain Canning was fortunately safe from violence by being on board a ship-of-war, with an armed ship in company. He left Rangoon in August 1811.

Subsequently to that year the Burmese officials in Arakan more than once made demands for the surrender of Arakanese refugees, and even made pretensions to the sovereignty of Bengal, as far as the city of Moorshedabad, as territory pertaining to the kingdom of Arakan. In 1819 they interfered in Assam, and in 1824 they invaded Cachar.

In the meantime, on the Arakan side, the Burmese had been encroaching; they had arrested the elephant hunters employed by the British Government, and finally they claimed the island of Shapooree, situated at the mouth of the river Naaf. On the night of 24th September 1823 a strong Burman force occupied the island, killing a few sepoys of the provincial battalion stationed there. The Governor of Arakan also intimated that the island was theirs, and they intended to keep it. The Governor-General addressed the King of Ava, demanding the dismissal of the Governor of Arakan. No reply was received for some months. The answer which eventually came was probably written in the name of the Hlwotdau or Royal Council, and merely stated that the Governors on the frontier had full powers to act.

Thus on every point where the British territory, or the territories of those under British protection, touched the Burmese dominions, aggression and insult had been committed by Burmese officials, while applications for redress were treated by the Burmese Government either with silent contempt, or with additional insult. War was therefore declared by the Governor-General against Burmah on 5th March 1824. On the 11th May of that year a force under Sir Archibald Campbell took possession of Rangoon, and after two campaigns peace was concluded at Yandaboo, about 40 miles distant from the capital, on the 24th February 1826.

By that Treaty (No. CXV.) Arakan and the Tenasserim Provinces were ceded to the British; each Government might place a Resident at the Court of the other; and a commercial Treaty was afterwards to be negotiated.

To effect the commercial Treaty, Mr. John Crawford proceeded to Amarapoora. On the 23rd November 1826 he signed a Treaty (No. CXVI.) of four Articles.

Under the Treaty of Yandaboo Colonel H. Burney was appointed Resident at the Court of Ava. He arrived there in April 1830. He remained at the Burmese Court until June 1837, when he proceeded to Rangoon, and eventually returned to Bengal. The immediate cause of his leaving was, that a revolution occurred, in which the reigning King was deposed, and his brother, the Prince of Tharawaddy, ascended the throne. In 1834 an Agreement (No. CXVII.) was made for the restoration to Burmah of the Kubo valley, which had been annexed to Munnipore.

In 1838 Colonel Benson was deputed to the Court of Burmah to re-establish the friendly relations which had been interrupted. He reached the capital in October 1838. In consequence of the insulting conduct of the Burmese Court, the Resident left Amarapoora in 1839. From that time there was no direct official communication between the Governor-General of India and the King of Burmah for several years.

In July 1851 Lieutenant-Colonel Bogle, Commissioner of the Tenasserim Provinces, forwarded to the Supreme Government a petition from the master of a British ship, complaining of gross oppression which he had suffered from the Governor of Rangoon. In November of that year Commodore Lambert was deputed to Rangoon with a letter addressed to the King, in order to obtain redress. But all reparation for the injuries to British subjects was refused. The Governor-General therefore sent a force to Rangoon, under the command of Major-General Godwin. Rangoon fell to the combined naval and military force on the 14th April 1852. From that time, until 27th January 1853, no communication from the Burmese Government reached the British commanders. When the combined forces had reached Meeday, about 250 miles by the river above Rangoon, a Burmese Officer arrived with a letter, announcing that a new King reigned in Amarapoora, and expressing his desire for peace. Early in April the Burmese Woongyee duly empowered reached Prome, but as he refused to sign a Treaty acknowledging the Province of Pegu to be British territory, the negotiations were broken off and the British frontier was declared to be a line drawn due east from the summit of the Arakan mountains in the latitude of, and intersecting a point, six English miles north from the flag-staff in the fort of Meeday, thence continued in the same direction until it reached the Sitang River and the territory of the Red Karen Chief. On both sides, however, it was understood that hostilities would cease.

In the latter end of the year 1854 the Burmese Government deputed two Envoys of high rank, and some subordinate officials, to convey a complimentary letter and presents from the King to the Marquis of Dalhousie. They were received in Calcutta with distinction, and returned to Burmah at the beginning of the year 1855. The Government of India sent a return Embassy to the Burmese Court in the rainy season of 1855. The Envoy, Major Phayre, was received by the King and Court in the most friendly manner. The King, however, manifested an insuperable aversion to signing any Treaty giving up the Province of Pegu, and this has never been done.

In May 1862 the Chief Commissioner of British Burmah was instructed to visit Ava for the purpose of coming to an understanding with the Court of Burmah on several questions, more especially relating to matters of commercial importance, which were then under discussion. On 10th November 1862 he concluded a Treaty (No. CXVIII.) for the protection of trade and the establishment of free intercourse with Burmah. An Agent to the Chief Commissioner was appointed to reside at Mandalay to prevent misunderstandings arising as to the provisions of the Treaty.

Towards the close of 1866 the Chief Commissioner of British Burmah proceeded to Mandalay to effect an arrangement with the Burmese Government by which the several objects contemplated in the Treaty of 1862, more especially the abolition of all intermediate customs duties on goods passing up and down the Irrawaddy, might be more effectually carried out. The duties levied on the British side of the border had been abolished in June 1863, but the Burmese were allowed to levy duties on their side for a period of four years. Owing to the King's unwillingness to surrender his monopolies, from which he derived much of his revenue, the Chief Commissioner was unable to arrange any satisfactory agreement and returned to Rangoon without concluding the Treaty. Shortly afterwards, however, in consequence of the resolution of Government to re-impose the export duties which had formerly been levied on the Burmese frontier, the King of his own accord abolished his monopolies, with the exception of those of earth-oil, timber, and precious stones, reduced his frontier duties, both export and import, to 5 per cent. ad valorem, and made overtures to renew the negotiations which had been broken off.

Accordingly a new Treaty (No. CXIX.) was concluded on 25th October 1867. The most important of the new provisions of this Treaty were those which conferred certain powers of civil jurisdiction on the Political Agent at Mandalay. Under these provisions there were established in August 1869 a Court of the Political Agent for the disposal of suits between registered British subjects, and a Mixed Court, consisting of the Political Agent and a Burmese Judge, for the hearing of suits between British and Burmese subjects. The rules for the working of the Political Agent's Court are given on p. 283. The Mixed Court has no criminal jurisdiction: stamp duty is not levied from British subjects who sue in it: there is no code of rules for its guidance, cases being decided by equity, but regulations have been framed for the subsistence of debtors imprisoned by order of the Court. The Burmese law does not provide for the attachment of a debtor's property.

Under the terms of the Treaty of 1867, a Political Agent has been stationed at Bhamo.

A Royal Edict was promulgated by the King in May 1871, enjoining an unrestricted free trade and abolishing duties on the sale and purchase of produce within his dominions.

In 1871 Captain Racchia, of the Italian Navy, visited Mandalay and concluded a Commercial* Treaty between Italy and Burmah which was ratified in

In 1874 a similar expedition was sent under the command of Colonel Browne, but owing to unforeseen obstacles was compelled to return without having effected its purposes and with the loss of one of its members, Mr. Margary, who was murdered in the Chinese town of Manwyne.

After some discussion the King of Burmah agreed to permit the passage through his dominions of such a number of British troops as might be sufficient for the protection of any future Mission that the Government of India might deem it necessary to send.

On the North-East Frontier of Pegu, and bordering on the Salween River, is a tribe who call themselves Kayn, and are known to the Burmese by the name of Karennee or Red Karen. These people first became known to the British Government in the year 1836, when the Commissioner of the Tenasserim Provinces deputed Doctor Richardson to proceed to them and make arrangements for opening trade. The whole race appeared then to be under the dominion of one Chief. He was an independent Sovereign, but when it was contemplated, on the annexation of Pegu, that the British boundary should run in the parallel six miles north of Mceaday from the Arakan mountains to the river Salween, it was supposed that the Karennee tribes inhabiting the country between the Sitang and the Salween south of that parallel were subjects of the King of Burmah. As however they were ascertained to be independent, and the British Government had no intention of asserting a right of conquest over them, the demarcation of the boundary was not carried further east of the Sitang than the Koon-Oung ridge of the Poung-Loung range of mountains.

Within the last twenty years the tribes have become separated into two great divisions, inhabiting districts denominated respectively Eastern and Western Karennee. Each of these divisions is more or less subject to two principal Chiefs. But the authority of these over the subordinate Chiefs is very uncertain. Kyay-pho-gyee, Chief of Western Karennee, and those under him, showed from the first an anxious desire for British protection. In 1855, an Agent on the part of the British Government was placed at his chief town, in order to observe and report events in the neighbouring States, and to use his influence to check the wars and forays carried on to make captives to be sold into slavery. In January 1857 the Deputy Commissioner of Toungloo, Mr. E. O'Riley, proceeded to Karennee, on which occasion he made a contract of friendship with the ancient Chieftain. This consisted in the slaughter of a bullock, the flesh of which was eaten at a general feast, and one of the horns kept by each of the contracting persons as a pledge of sincerity. From that period this Chief considered himself as being under the protection of the British Government, and though no promise of protection was made to him, yet the known fact of the public acknowledgement of friendship, and the presence of the Agent who remained at his town till 1862, served to keep him from serious attack.

In 1863 Mr. O'Riley was again deputed to Karennee to arrange differences that had arisen with the Chiefs of Eastern Karennee, and to provide for the safe transit of caravans through all parts of that country. He found the Chiefs of Western Karennee firm in their attachment to the British Government, and renewed with them the contract of friendship made in 1857. Kyay-pho-gyee died in 1868, and his sons, Koontee and Koonsha, repeated the request, previously made by their father, that the British Government would take possession of and administer Western Karennee. This was declined, but in consequence of applications made in 1869 by the Chief of Eastern Karennee to the Burmese Government for assistance against the Western Karens, the King of Burmah was urged to abstain from interference with the independence of Western Karennee, and positive assurances were given by his Prime Minister that the wishes of the British Government would be scrupulously respected. Towards the end of 1873, in consequence of reports of a threatened movement of the Burmese against Western Karennee, the Burmese Government were reminded of the assurances given in 1869 and 1870; they repudiated these assurances and asserted a claim to exercise sovereignty over Western Karennee. The determination of the British Government not to allow any extension of Burmese authority south of the prolongation of the British boundary line remained unchanged, and as no satisfactory proposal was made by the Envoy deputed by the King towards the end of 1874 to discuss the question, Sir Douglas Forsyth was instructed to proceed to Mandalay and, as a preliminary to further discussion, to require an assurance from the King that the status quo in Western Karennee should be maintained. The King however anticipated all discussion by volunteering to guarantee the independence of Western Karennee and an agreement (No. CXX.) to this effect was executed on the 21st June 1875. The Burmese Government were at the same time informed that the boundary between Western Karennee and Burmese territory would be demarcated by a British Officer, who might, should the King desire it, be accompanied by a Burmese official.

In August 1866 an insurrection headed by one of the King's sons broke out at Mandalay; the King's brother and declared successor was killed, and the King himself was for some time in great danger. The Prince took refuge in British territory and was allowed to reside in Rangoon: soon afterwards he was found to be intriguing against the King and was placed under restraint. In February 1867 he effected his escape, took refuge with the Chief of Western Karennee, and endeavoured to raise a rebellion among the Shans to the North-East of Toungoo who are tributary to Burmah. The attempt was unsuccessful, and, in August 1868, he was arrested in Rangoon and sent as a State Prisoner to Chunar.

The population of the territories now subject to the King of Burmah, including the tributary Shan States, probably does not exceed three and a half millions of souls. The area of the whole country is about 192,000 square miles; its revenue collected in silver is estimated at about £800,000 a year. In the shape of produce and labour it is probable that one-fourth of that sum may be added.

British Burmah, composed of the three provinces of Arakan, Tenasserim, and Pegu, has made astonishing progress since it became our territory. The revenue of the three provinces in 1856 amounted to £532,100, and the value of the commerce by sea and land to £4,856,400. In 1873 the revenue had increased to £1,614,446, and the value of the trade to £13,208,184. The area of British Burmah is estimated at 88,364 square miles with a population of 2,747,148 souls as compared with 1,708,440 in 1826.

No. CXIV.

TRANSLATION of the ROYAL MANDATE, accompanying the letter to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL, dated September 1795.

To all Killadars and Governors of Ports, in like virtue to the Maywoon of Henzawuddy.

The source of greatness and dignity celestial, whose threshold is as the firmament, and whose suppliants, when he places the Golden Foot of Majesty on their fortunate heads, like the blooming water-lilly, are inspired with confidence unbounded, such are the ministers of exalted rank, the guardians of the Empire, from among whom the high and transcendent Minister proclaims these Orders:—

Governor of Henzawuddy, whose title is Meen La Noo Retha; Governor of the Waters, whose title is Yaaon or Rawoon; Collector of the King's Revenues, whose title is Aekawoon; Collector of Customs, whose title is Ackoon; Commander of the Troops, whose title is Chekaw.

1. Wherens English merchants resort to the port of Rangoon to carry on trade, in friendship, good faith, and confidence in the Royal protection, therefore when merchants come to the port of Rangoon, duties for godown, rabeat (searchers or appraisers) and other charges, all these shall be regulated according to the former established rates, and no more, on any pretence, shall be taken.

2. All English merchants, who have paid the Port Duties, shall be allowed to go to whatever part of the country they think fit, having obtained a certificate and order from the Maywoon, or Governor of the Province, and whatever goods English merchants wish to purchase in return, they shall not be impeded or molested, or prevented in their barter, bargain, or purchase; and if it should be judged expedient to establish any person, on the part of the English Company, at Rangoon, for the purpose of trade, and to forward letters or presents to the King, to such person a right of residency is granted.

3. If any English merchant is aggrieved, or thinks he suffers oppression, he may complain either to the Governor of the Province, by petition to the Throne, or prefer his complaint in person; and as Englishmen are, for the most part, unacquainted with the Burman tongue, they may employ whatever interpreters they think fit, previously acquainting the King's interpreters what person they mean to employ.

4. English ships driven into any Birman port by stress of weather, and in want of repairs, on due notice of their distress being given to the Officers of Government, such vessels shall be expeditiously supplied with workmen, timber, iron, and every requisite, and the work shall be done, and the supplies granted, at the current rates of the country.

5. As the English have long had commercial connexions with this Nation, and are desirous of extending them, they are to be allowed to come and depart at their pleasure, without hinderance: and seeing that the illustrious Governor-General of Calcutta, in Bengal, on the part of the King of England, has sent tokens of friendship to the Golden Feet, these orders are therefore issued for the benefit, ease, and protection of the English people.

TRANSLATION of the ROYAL ORDERS, regulating the Customs to be taken at the several Chokeys between Ummerapoore and Rangoon.

Sirdars, Chokeydars, and Guards of the several Ghauts, extending to the verge of the ocean.

Whereas the Governor-General, out of his friendship, has deputed Captain Michael Symes from Calcutta in Bengal, to be his vakeel at this Court, who having made representation and memorial to us, such representation has accordingly been taken into due consideration.

Merchants having paid the established Duty on their merchandize, who do not dispose of such goods at the place of importation, but choose to bring them to the capital (literally the Golden Feet) either in person or by their agent, from such merchants no Duties are, on any pretence, to be exacted or demanded on the way to the Capital, but when merchants going back carry with them goods in return, they are to pay Duties on such returning goods, in like manner as is specified by the Regulations issued from the Dufter of the Golden Palace, in the Burman year 1145: wherefore orders are despatched to the several Chokeys, also to the Maywoon of Henzawuddy, and those matters which were submitted by the principal Ministers to His Majesty are fully authorized.

Moreover, in the Burman year 1157, and the 26th of the Burman month Saudecoup, or the 26th of the Mussulman month Rubbi-ul-awul, the Royal Mandate came forth to the following effect:—

At the Chokey called Keouptaloom, boats returning from the capital shall pay one mima, or one anna and a half.

At the Chokey called Muggoe, if the breadth of the boat be four cubits, for each cubit twelve aunas, or three takals in all shall be paid. But if it be less than four cubits, one takal shall be paid for every thousand viss weight of goods; and if the boat be empty, then shall one mima, or four annas, be paid for each man.

At the Chokey called Pulloe, if the breadth be four cubits, six mima, or ten annas, shall be paid for each cubit; and if the boat exceeds, or is under four cubits, the same rate shall be paid: and if the boat be laden with heavy commodities, then shall one takal be taken for every thousand viss.

At the Chokey called Puttoo the Custom taken shall be, for each cubit in breadth, three mima, or twelve annas.

At the Chokey called Keounzelee, and the Chokey called Nawalce, no Duty is to be exacted. Yet some trifle should be given by way of present; but no boat is to be stopped or impeded.

At the Chokey called Tow, where the Duty formerly was levied in lead, it shall now be levied in silver; that is, one takal shall be paid by each boat, for every thousand viss burthen.

At the Chokey called Trougmeow, if the boat be four cubits in breadth, two hundred and fifty takals of lead (about ten annas) shall be paid for each cubit, but if the boat be less than four cubits, then shall three viss and thirty takals of lead be taken for the whole (something less than a Rupee).

At the Chokey called Bamen, boats shall pay six mima, or ten annas, for each cubit in breadth.

At the Chokey called Ackeo there is no established Duty; but from boats laden with rice, salt, fish, and nappee, it is customary to give some trifle.

At the Chokey called Henzawa, if a boat carries ten boatmen, besides the steersman, for each of such boatman thirty-five takals of lead shall be paid, but the steersman shall pay nothing. If a boat be laden with rice, dhall, paddy, barley, kengid or cotton, then shall the boat so laden pay a quarter of a basket of such commodity; and if a boat be laden with heavy articles, such as salt, fish, and nappee, four viss of such heavy commodity shall be exacted from each boat. And when a boat going down pays these Duties, no Duties shall be required of the same boat returning; and the reverse, a boat that has paid the Duty shall not be taxed going down. Some trifling present will be proper.

At the Chokey called Denoubeon, if the breadth of the boat be four cubits, such boat shall pay two hundred and fifty takals of lead; if under that size, for each boatman fifty takals.

At the Chokey called Yangansea, and the Chokey called Panglang, on the north side, no Duty is to be paid, but a tray is to be given (meaning a trifling present, not more than the value of a Rupee).

In the Burman year 1145, a Mandate was issued from the Register of the Golden Palace, that foreign merchants should have liberty to come to the Capital (Golden Feet) without paying Duties; nevertheless, in returning they shall pay agreeable to the rates specified in the Royal Mandate issued from the Durbar of the Golden Palace, nor shall more or less be demanded or accepted: but to the Chokey of Yangansea, on the north side, and the Chokey Panglang, on the north side, and the Chokey Koongee and the Chokey of Lounghee, no authority is granted from the Golden Palace to exact Duties, and none on any pretence are to be required or received.

TRANSLATION of a ROYAL ORDER respecting the Duty to be taken on timber.

Guards, Chokeydars, and persons in authority, as far as the seashore.

Whereas the Governor-General of the Company at Calcutta, in Bengal, having deputed Captain Michael Symes with presents to the Golden Feet, who requests liberty for merchants to purchase, load, and take away timber, according to established and authorized custom, therefore merchants of the English Nation, desirous of transporting rafts of timber down the river, shall have liberty to carry from towns and villages such timber. And as, in the year 1145, enquiry and investigation were made respecting the amount of Duties formerly taken at each of the Chokeys, His Majesty was pleased to direct that no Duties should be taken, except what are specified therein; for that reason it is now ordered that no Duties shall be taken at Chokeys on Timber going down, nor any Impost exacted on wood, except five per cent., payable at Rangoon, agreeable to former Regulation.

PART IV.

TREATIES AND ENGAGEMENTS WITH THE NATIVE STATES IN THE EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO.

MALAYAN PENINSULA.

From a Report by COLONEL CAVENAGH, and other documents in the Foreign Office.

With the exception of the territories of one or two petty Independent States, the possession of the Malayan Peninsula is divided between the British and the Siamese. Engagements have been formed with Quedah, which is tributary to Siam, and with the independent States of Perak, Salengore, the confederate States of Sungie Ujong, Rambow, &c., and Johore. The districts of Tringanu and Kelantan are also protected by the British Government under the Treaty of Bangkok.

The Treaty by which the general policy of the British Government in the Eastern Seas is regulated is the Treaty with the Dutch of 17th March 1824 (See Bengal No. XV.),^{*} by the 10th Article of which the connection of the Dutch with the Peninsula of Malacca was severed. This Treaty was modified by the Treaty of the 2nd November 1871 (No. CL.) : see Sumatra.

The control of the Straits Settlements was transferred from the Government of India to the Colonial Office in 1867.

* NOTE addressed by the BRITISH PLENIPOTENTIARIES to the PLENIPOTENTIARIES of the NETHERLANDS.

In proceeding to the signature of the Treaty which has been agreed upon, the Plenipotentiaries of His Britannick Majesty have great satisfaction in recording their sense of the friendly and liberal spirit which has been evinced by Their Excellencies the Plenipotentiaries of His Netherland Majesty; and their conviction that there is, on both sides, an equal disposition to carry into effect, with sincerity and good faith, the Stipulations of the Treaty, in the sense in which they have been negotiated.

The differences which gave rise to the present discussion are such as it is difficult to adjust by formal Stipulation; consisting, in great part, of jealousies and suspicions, and arising out of Malacca was founded about the middle of the 13th century by Rajah Secunder Shah of Singapore. It was taken by the Portuguese under Albuquerque in 1511, and fell into the hands of the Dutch in 1641, who held it till 1795, when it was reduced, along with the other Dutch Settlements in the the acts of subordinate Agents, they can only be removed by a frank declaration of intention, and a mutual understanding as to principles between the Governments themselves.

The disavowal of the proceedings whereby the execution of the Convention of August 1814, was retarded, must have satisfied Their Excellencies the Netherland Plenipotentiaries, of the scrupulous regard with which England always fulfils her engagements.

The British Plenipotentiaries record, with sincere pleasure, the solemn disavowal, on the part of the Netherland Government, of any design to aim, either at political supremacy, or at commercial monopoly, in the Eastern Archipelago. They willingly acknowledge the readiness with which the Netherland Plenipotentiaries have entered into Stipulations, calculated to promote the most perfect freedom of Trade between the subjects of the Two Crowns and their respective Dependencies, in that part of the World.

The undersigned are authorized to express the full concurrence of His Britannick Majesty, in the enlightened views of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands.

Aware of the difficulty of adapting, at once, to a long established system of monopoly, the principles of commercial policy which are now laid down, the undersigned have been authorized to consent to the exception of the Molucca Islands from the general Stipulation for freedom of Trade contained in the Treaty. They trust, however, that, as the necessity for this exception is occasioned solely by the difficulty of abrogating, at the present moment, the monopoly of spices, its operation will be strictly limited by that necessity.

The British Plenipotentiaries understand the term Moluccas as applicable to that cluster of Islands, which lies Celebes to the westward, New Guinea to the eastward, and Timor to the southward; but that these three Islands are not comprehended in the exception: nor would it have included Ceram, if the situation of that Island, in reference to the two principal Spice Isles, Amboyna and Banda, had not required a prohibition of intercourse with it, so long as the monopoly of spices shall be maintained.

The territorial exchanges which have been thought expedient for avoiding a collision of interests, render it incumbent upon the Plenipotentiaries of His Britannick Majesty to make, and to require, some explanations with respect to the Dependents and Allies of England, in the Island from which she is about to withdraw.

A Treaty concluded in the year 1819, by British Agents, with the King of Acheen, is incompatible with the 3rd Article of the present Treaty. The British Plenipotentiaries therefore undertake, that the Treaty with Acheen shall, as soon as possible, be modified into a simple arrangement for the hospitable reception of British vessels and subjects in the Port of Acheen. But as some of the provisions of that Treaty, (which has been communicated to the Netherland Plenipotentiaries) will be conducive to the general interests of Europeans established in the Eastern Seas, they trust that the Netherland Government will take measures for securing the benefit of those provisions. And they express their confidence, that no measures, hostile to the King of Acheen, will be adopted by the new Possessor of Fort Marlborough.

It is no less the duty of the British Plenipotentiaries to recommend to the friendly and paternal protection of the Netherland Government, the interests of the natives and settlers, subject to the ancient Factory of England at Bencoolen.

This appeal is the more necessary, because, so lately as the year 1818, Treaties were made with the Native Chiefs, by which their situation was much improved. The system of forced cultivation and delivery of popper was abolished; encouragement was given to the cultivation of rice; the relations between the cultivating classes and the Chiefs of the districts were adjusted; the property in the soil was recognized in those Chiefs; and all interference in the detailed management of the interior was withdrawn, by removing the European residents from the out-stations, and substituting in their room native officers. All these measures were calculated greatly to promote the interests of the native inhabitants.

In recommending these interests to the care of the Netherland Government, the undersigned request the Plenipotentiaries of His Netherland Majesty to assure their Government, that a correeast, by the British. It continued in possession of the British till 1818, when it was restored to the Dutch. It was finally re-ceded to the British under the Treaty with the Dutch of 1824.

Naning.—To the north of Malacca lies Naning, which, at the time of the Dutch occupation of Malacca, was governed by four Chiefs, who formed a Treaty with the Dutch. The headman or Punghulu was appointed by the sponding attention will be paid, on the part of the British Authorities to the inhabitants of Malacca, and the other Netherland Settlements which are transferred to Great Britain.

In conclusion, the Plenipotentiaries of His Britannick Majesty congratulate Their Excellencies the Netherland Plenipotentiaries, upon the happy termination of their Conferences. They feel assured, that, under the arrangement which is now concluded, the commerce of both nations will flourish, and that the Two Allies will preserve inviolate in Asia, no less than in Europe, the friendship which has, from old times, subsisted between them. The disputes being now ended, which, during two centuries, have occasionally produced irritation, there will henceforward be no rivalry between the English and the Dutch nations in the East, except for the more effectual establishment of those principles of liberal policy which both have this day asserted in the face of the World.

The undersigned request Their Excellencies the Plenipotentiaries of His Netherland Majesty will accept the assurances of their distinguished consideration.

* REPLY of the NETHERLAND PLENIPOTENTIARIES to the NOTE of the PLENIPOTENTIARIES OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Les Soussignés, Plénipotentiaires de Sa Majesté Le Roi des Pays-Bas, ont trouvé, dans la Note qui vient de leur être remise par Leurs Excellences Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques, un résumé fidèle des communications, qui avaient eu lieu à l'époque où des circonstances, indépendantes de la volonté des négociateurs, amenaient la suspension de leurs conférences.

Appelés à reprendre un travail dont l'achèvement a toujours été désiré de part et d'autre avec une égale sincérité, les Soussignés n'ont pas tardé à reconnaître dans leurs Collaborateurs, cet esprit d'équité et de conciliation, qui facilite l'arrangement des questions les plus compliquées, et auquel ils ne peuvent rendre hommage dans un moment plus opportun que celui, qui va sanctionner, par la signature d'un Traité formel, les dispositions adoptées après le plus mûr examen, comme éminemment utiles pour le maintien de la bonne intelligence, même entre les Agens intérieurs des Puissances Contractantes.

Ce but essentiel, cette tendance principale du Traité, sont palpables pour tous ceux qui en lisent avec attention les défférents Articles. Ce qui s'y trouve expressément stipulé, semble devoir suffire pour lever, d'un commun accord, toute incertitude, qui pourrait se présenter par la suite. Cependant, comme Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques ont eu devoir entrer dans quelques détails ultérieurs, les Soussignés, qui, de leur côté, soutiennent l'importance de ne rien donner au hasard, dans une matière aussi intéressante, ne font aucune difficulté de les suivre dans ces détails, et de compléter, par le développement succinct de leur manière de voir, la réponse, due par eux, à la susdite Note de Leurs Excellences.

L'Article VII. renferme une exception au principe général de la liberté du Commerce. La nécessité de cette exception, déjà admise par l'Angleterre dans les conférences de 1820, répose sur l'existence du système relatif au Commerce exclusif des épices. Si les délibérations du Gouvernement des Pays-Bas conduisent à l'abandon de ce système aussitôt le Commerce libre reprend ses droits, et tout cet Archipel, qui a été fort justement décrit comme compris entre Celebes, Timor et la Nouvelle Guinée, est ouvert à toutes les spéculations légitimes, sur le pied à établir par les Dutch. After the British occupation of Malacca and Naning, an Engagement (No. CXXI.) was made with the Chiefs in 1802. In 1831 the Chiefs rebelled, and it was found necessary to subdue the country by force.

Quedah.—Our earliest political relations with this State may be said to have commenced with the negotiations which were opened with the Rajah of ordonnances locales, et, pour ce qui concerne en particulier les sujets de Sa Majesté Britannique, conformément aux bases consacrées par le Traité pour toutes les possessions Asiatiques des deux Parties Contractantes.

Par contre, aussi long-tems que l'exception, dont il s'agit, reste en vigueur, les navires qui traversent les Moluques, doivent s'abstenir de relâcher, dans d'autres Ports que ceux dont la désignation a été officiellement communiquée Aux Puissances Maritimes il y a quelques années; sauf les cas de détresse pour lesquels il est superflu d'ajouter, qu'ils trouveront, dans tous les endroits où flotte le Pavillon des Pays-Bas, les services et les secours dûs à l'humanité soufrante.

Si le Gouvernement de la Grande Bretagne pense qu'il y a un avantage réel pour lui à ce qu'en se dégagent, d'après les principes consacrés par le Traité qui va être signé, des liaisons que ses Agents formèrent, il y a quatre ou cinq ans, dans le Royaume d'Acheen, il assure, par quelque stipulation nouvelle, l'accueil hospitalier des Sujets et Vaisseaux Britanniques dans les Ports de ce Royaume,—les Soussignés n'hésitent pas à déclarer que, de leur côté, ils n'y voient aucun inconvénient; et ils croient pouvoir assurer, en même tems, que leur Gouvernement s'appliquera, sans délai, à régulariser ses rapports avec Acheen, de manière que cet Etat, sans rien perdre de son indépendance, offre au Navigateur et au Commerçant cette constante sécurité qui semble ne pouvoir y être établie, que par l'exercice modéré d'une influence Européenne.

A l'appui des informations contenues dans la dernière Note de Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques, au sujet de Bencoolen, Leurs Excellences ont communiqué aux soussignés les deux Conventions respectivement signées le 23 Mai et le 4 Juillet de 1818, d'un côté par le Lieutenant-Gouverneur de cet établissement, et de l'autre par les Chefs de quelques tribus voisines. On leur a aussi fait part d'une dépêche du Gouverneur-Général en Conseil, datée de Fort William, le 9 Mai 1823, et d'après laquelle l'administration Britannique a aboli au Fort Marlborough le monopole du poivre, encouragé la culture du riz, et placé sur un pied stable et uniforme, les rapports des différentes classes de Nativs, tant entre elles, qu'avec leur chefs. Or, pour autant que les Soussignés ne se trompent point en supposant, que le but de ces arrangements a été d'assurer la prospérité agricole de la Colonie, et d'écartier les vexations qui résultent souvent du contact immédiat de la population indigène avec les autorités ou balternes d'une administration étrangère, ils éprouvent une grande satisfaction à dire, que loin d'avoir à redouter des mesures rétroactives, les individus intéressés à l'ordre actuel des choses peuvent, au contraire, nourrir l'espoir, que le nouveau Gouvernement aura égard à leurs droits acquis, et à leur bien être; et, ce que les Soussignés aiment surtout à garantir, il fera observer les Articles des Conventions déjà mentionnées sur la foi desquels les habitans de Pauummah, Ulu Manna, et d'autres peuplades de l'intérieur ont reconnu l'autorité, ou accepté la protection de la Compagnie des Indes Britanniques; sauf toutefois la faculté d'y substituer, du plein gré des parties intéressées, d'autres conditions analogues, si les circonstances venaient à rendre un changement nécessaire.

Quant aux dispositions équitables et bienveillantes du Gouvernement Britannique envers les habitans de Malacca, et des autres établissements Hollandais cédés par le Traité, les Plénipotentiaires de Sa Majesté le Roi des Pays-Bas, en acceptent l'assurance avec une confiance illimitée; et ce même sentiment les porte à ne pas insister, pour que les instructions et ordres, qui seront address aux Autorités Anglaises dans l'Inde, relativement à la remise du Fort Marlborough, et de ses dépendances, soient conclus en termes tellement clairs, précis, et positifs, qu'où n'y puissé trouver aucun motif d'incertitude, in aucun prétexte de déni; car ils sont persuadés que Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques, après avoir apporté tant de modération et de loyauté à l'accomplissement de leur tâche sauront veiller à ce que le résultat des travaux communs ne soit pas compromis par égard pour des intérêts subordonnés, et des considérations secondaires. Ce résultat, Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques l'ont décrit eux-mêmes dans leur dernière Notes, et il ne reste aux Soussignés qu'à se féliciter d'y croire concouru, et à joindre leurs vœux à ceux de leurs Excellences, pour que les Agents respectifs dans les possessions Asiatiques, se montrent toujours Quedah by Captain Francis Light, and which resulted in the Agreement of 1786 (No. CXXII.), for the cession of the island of Penang, thenceforward called Prince of Wales' Island. The island was formally taken possession of on the 11th August 1786.

pénétrés du sentiment des devoirs, que deux nations, amies et animées de vues vraiment libérales ont à remplir, tant l'une à l'égard de l'autre, que vis à vis des indigènes, que le cours des événemens ou les traités ont placé sous leur influence.

Les Soussignés saisissent avec empressement cette occasion de renouveler à Leurs Excellences Messieurs les Plénipotentiaires Britanniques l'assurance de leur considération la plus distinguée.

(TRANSLATION.)

THE Undersigned, Plenipotentiaries of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands, have found in the Note, which is just delivered to them by Their Excellencies the British Plenipotentiaries, a faithful recapitulation of the communications which had taken place at the time, when circumstances, independent of the will of the Negotiators, caused a suspension of their conferences.

Summoned to resume a work, the completion of which has ever been desired with equal sincerity by both Parties, the Undersigned have not failed to recognize in their Co-labourers in this work, that spirit of equity and conciliation, which facilitates the arrangement of the most complicated questions, and to which they cannot do justice at a time more fitting than that which is about to sanction, by the signature of a formal Treaty, the Resolutions, adopted after a most strict examination, as eminently useful for the maintenance of a good understanding, even among the inferior Agents of the Contracting Powers.

This essential aim and principal tendency of the Treaty is evident to all who read its different Articles with attention. What is therein expressly stipulated ought to suffice for the removal, by common consent, of all uncertainty which might present itself in the sequel. However, as the British Plenipotentiaries have considered it necessary to enter into some further detail, the undersigned, who, on their part, are sensible of the importance of leaving nothing doubtful in so important a matter, have no difficulty in following them through these details, and in supplying, by a concise display of their view of the subject, the answer which is due from them to the aforesaid Note of Their Excellencies.

The 7th Article contains an exception to the general principle of liberty of commerce. The necessity of that exception, already admitted by England in the conferences of 1820, rests upon the existence of the system which respects the exclusive trade in spicce. Should the determinations of the Government of the Netherlands lead to the abandonment of that system, the rights of free trade will be immediately restored, and the whole of that Archipelago, which has been very justly described as comprised between Celebes, Timor, and New Guinea, will be open to all lawful speculations, on the footing to be established by local Ordinances, and, so far as particularly concerns the Subjects of His Britannic Majesty, in conformity with the grounds sanctioned by the Treaty for all the Asiatic Possessions of the two Contracting Powers.

On the other hand, so long as the exception in question remains in force, the Ships which traverse the Moluccas must refrain from touching at any ports, but those whereof the description has been officially communicated to the Maritime Powers some years back; except in cases of distress, in which it is superfluous to add, that they will find in all places, where the Flag of the Netherlands may be flying, those good offices and succours which are due to suffering humanity.

If the Government of Great Britain conceives it to be a real advantage, that by disengaging itself, according to the principle sanctioned by the Treaty which is about to be signed, from the connections which were formed by its Agents four or five years ago, in the Kingdom of Aceh, it secures, by some new clause, the hospitable reception of British Vessels and Subjects in the ports of that Kingdom; the Undersigned hesitate not to declare, that, on their part, they do not see any difficulty in it, and conceive that they may assert at the same time that their Government will apply itself, without delay, to regulate its relations with Acheen, in such a manner that that State, without losing anything of its independence, may offer both to the sailor and the merchant that constant security which can only be established by the moderate exercise of European influence.

On the 1st of May 1791, a Treaty (No. CXXIII.) was concluded by Captain Light, which provided for the mutual surrender of runaway slaves, debtors, forgerers, and murderers; for the necessary supply of provisions (duty free) from the mainland to the residents in the island and shipping in the harbour, and for the annual payment to the King of Quedah, styled His Highness Jaung de Per Tuan, of the sum of six thousand Spanish Dollars; it also bound the King not to allow Europeans of other nations to settle in his country.

In support of the information contained in the last Note of the British Plenipotentiaries on the subject of Bencoolen, Their Excellencies have communicated to the Undersigned the two Conventions respectively signed on the 23rd of May and the 4th of July 1818, by the Lieutenant-Governor of that establishment, on the one side, and by the Chiefs of some neighbouring tribes on the other. They have likewise communicated a Despatch of the Governor-General in Council, dated Fort William, the 9th of May 1823, and according to which the British Government has abolished at Fort Marlborough the monopoly of Pepper; encouraged the cultivation of Rice; and placed on a firm and uniform footing the relations of the different classes of Natives, as well among themselves, as with their Chiefs. But inasmuch as the Undersigned are not wrong in supposing that the subject of these arrangements has been the security of the agricultural prosperity of the Colony, and the removal of the vexations which often result from the immediate contact of the Native population with the subordinate authorities of a Foreign Government, they experience great satisfaction in saying, that, far from having cause to dread retroactive measures, the individuals interested in the existing order of things may, on the contrary, cherish the hope that the new Government will respect their acquired rights, and their welfare; and, what the Undersigned are above all things desirous to guarantee, that it will cause the Articles of the abovementioned Conventions to be observed, on the faith of which the Inhabitants of Passummah ulu Manna, and the other Colonists in the interior, have recognized the authority, or accepted the protection of the British East India Company; saving, however, the power of substituting, with the full consent of the parties interested, other analogous conditions, if circumstances should render a change necessary.

With respect to the equitable and benign intentions of the British Government towards the Inhabitants of Malacca and the other Dutch establishments ceded by the Treaty, the Plenipotentiaries of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands accept the assurance thereof with unlimited confidence; and the same sentiment prevents them from insisting that the orders and instructions which shall be addressed to the English authorities in India, relative to the surrender of Fort Marlborough, and its dependencies, should be conceived in such clear, precise, and positive terms, that no cause of uncertainty, or any pretext for delay, may be discovered in them:—Being persuaded that the British Plenipotentiaries, after having accomplished their labours with so much moderation and equity, will take care that the result of their common exertions be not compromised by any regard to subordinate interests and secondary considerations. This result the British Plenipotentiaries themselves have described in their last Note, and it only remains for the Undersigned to congratulate themselves on having contributed thereto, and to unite their wishes with those of Their Excellencies, that their respective Agents in their Asiatic possessions may ever show themselves sensible of the duties, which two Friendly Nations, animated with truly liberal views, have to fulfil, both with reference to each other, and also towards the Natives whom the course of events of Treaties have placed under their influence.

The Undersigned avail themselves of this opportunity of renewing to Their Excellencies, the British Plenipotentiaries, the assurance of their most distinguished consideration.

" A. R. FALCK.

On the 6th June 1800, Sir George Leith, who had succeeded to the Lieutenant-Governorship of Prince of Wales' Island, entered into further negotiations with the ruler of Quedah, and another Treaty (No. CXXIV.) was concluded for the cession of a considerable district, now called Province Wellesley, on the mainland. This Treaty was not confirmed till November 1802.

Both these Treaties appear to have been negotiated under the impression that the Ruler of Quedah was an independent Chief, whereas he was tributary to Siam.

In 1820 the Rajah of Quedah having given umbrage to the Court at Bangkok, by delaying to forward the usual tribute of gold and silver flowers, and by non-compliance with other customary observances and marks of vassalage, that Court determined upon depriving him of his delegated Government, and in November 1821 the Rajah of Ligor, another feudatory of Siam, advanced into Quedah at the head of a formidable army, and expelled the Rajah, who found refuge in Penang, on the express condition that neither he nor any of his followers should, during their stay in that island, carry on any political correspondence without the approval of the British Government. This condition he violated, and as the mediation of Government with a view to his restoration proved unsuccessful, it was stipulated under the Treaty of Bangkok * that he should leave Penang. In accordance with the provisions of the above Engagement, the Ex-Rajah was compelled to take up his residence at Malacca, a suitable pension having been assigned for his maintenance by the British Government.

The Ex-Rajah made several unsuccessful attempts to recover his country from the Ligor Chief. At length in 1842, his eldest son proceeded to Bangkok and made submission to Siam on behalf of his father, and through the intercession of the Governor of the Straits Settlements the Ex-Rajah was put in charge of central Quedah, one of the three Governorships into which Quedah had been divided. The 13th Article of the Treaty of Bangkok was therefore modified. In 1843 the Rajah of Quedah forcibly seized the Krean district in Perak, the ruler of which country appealed to the Governor of the Straits Settlement for redress. Owing to the remonstrances of the Governor, the Rajah eventually withdrew his followers from the district, but his annual allowance was suspended for a year as a punishment for his contumacy in the first instance.

* In this Treaty the Government of the British over Penang and Province Wellesley was acknowledged by the Siamese.

On the Rajah's death, his eldest son, Tuanku Abdoollah, was appointed by the Court at Bangkok to succeed him; he was similarly succeeded by his brother Tuanku Daie, who died on the 8th May 1854; his son, the present Rajah, Tuanku Ahmed, at once assuming the reins of Government.

Perak.—The State of Perak was originally a dependency of Malacca, and about the middle of the sixteenth century, the Bundahara of Johore was raised to the dignity of the Sultan of Perak, under the name of Mozuffer Shah. His son, Mansur Shah, became King of Acheen about 1567, and Perak was thenceforth tributary to him and his successors, who received the customary token of vassalage, the Bungah Mas (golden flower). On the decline of the power of Acheen, Perak became independent and fell under the influence of the Dutch. In 1795 an expedition from Penang compelled the Dutch garrison of the small Fort at Perak to surrender. This led to an increase of British trade with the country, the whole of the produce of the tin mines being brought to Penang. The then reigning Sultan, Mahomed Tajud Din, died in 1801, and was succeeded by his son, Sultan Mansur Shah.

In 1818 a Treaty (No. CXXV.) was concluded by the Governor of Prince of Wales' Island with the Rajah of Perak, Sultan Abdoollah, under the provisions of which the right of free trade with Perak was secured to British subjects.

In 1825 differences having arisen between the Rulers of Perak and Salangore, Mr. Anderson was deputed to adjust matters. This led to the negotiation of the Treaty (No. CXXVI.), dated 6th September 1825, by which the boundary between the two States is determined; the Rajah of Perak also thereby engaged not to interfere in the Government of Salangore, and to permit all foreign traders to carry on their trade without any interruption.

Under the provisions of Article 14 of the Treaty of Bangkok, the independence of Perak is secured, though the Rajah is permitted, should he so desire, "to maintain a friendly communication with Siam, and even to send the gold and silver flowers as formerly. This Article also contains a guarantee on the part of the British Government to protect Perak from any attack by a force from Salangore. In September of the above year intimation having been received by the Governor of Prince of Wales' Island, that the Rajah of Ligor had introduced a body of troops into Perak and deprived the Rajah of Perak of all power, a small force was at once despatched to insist upon the strict fulfilment of the terms of the Treaty. The Siamese evacuated the position they had taken up on the bank of the river, and the independence of Perak has ever since been fully recognized.

Under a Treaty (No. CXXVII.) dated 18th October 1826, the Rajah of Perak, on the plea of his inability to suppress the piracy then prevalent along his coast, ceded to the British the Dinding island, the islands of Pungkor, and all other islands previously appertaining to Perak; and by a second Treaty (No. CXXVIII.) concluded on the same date, he engaged to hold no intercourse with the King of Siam, or any of his Chiefs or with the Rajah of Salangore; not to present the Bunga Mas or any other species of tribute, nor to receive any ambassadors, and in case of any interference with his country on the part of foreign Chiefs, to rely entirely on the aid and protection of the British Government: this aid and protection being guaranteed to him, provided he faithfully fulfilled all his Engagements. On the 25th October a supplementary Treaty (No. CXXIX.) was signed, which provides for the better management of the country, the suppression of piracy, and the protection of trade.

Although the Rajah is the only Chief recognized by us as having power in Perak, it would appear that this power is shared with the following great Officers of his Court:—Rajah Mudah, Bandahara, Orang Kaya Besar, and Tumongong, whose seals are attached to the different Treaties. The first mentioned is the heir-apparent to the State, an elective, and not hereditary post, though the choice is limited to members of the ruling family.

Salangore.—In 1786 the Independent Rajah of Salangore was obliged to acknowledge himself a vassal of the Dutch, who were then in possession of Malacca. When the Dutch came again into possession of Malacca in 1818, they wished to re-enter on their former relations with Salangore, but the Rajah who had a strong partiality for the British, with whom he had formed a commercial Treaty (No. CXXX.) refused.

In 1825, when Mr. Anderson was deputed to settle the dispute between Salangore and Perak, a Treaty (No. CXXXI.) was concluded with the Rajah, under the provisions of which the former Agreement is confirmed, whilst the boundary between Salangore and Perak having been determined, the Rajah of Salangore agreed never to interfere in the Government of the latter country, or to cross the frontier with an armed force, also to prevent pirates from resorting to his coast, as well as to surrender all offenders, such as pirates, robbers, murderers, and others, who may escape from the British territories and seek shelter in his country—these latter conditions being reciprocal. By the 14th Article of the Treaty of the 20th June 1826 with Siam, the safety of Salangore, from any attack on the part of a Siamese force, is guaranteed, and this State, equally with Perak, may therefore be considered under British protection.

Although still nominally under one Chief, Salangore is at present divided into five almost independent States, viz., Lookoot, Lungat, Kallang, Salangore, and Berman. Of these the principal is Lookoot, by the Rajah of which country Cape Rachado has, with the sanction of the Sultan of Salangore, been made over to the British Government for the erection of a light-house.

Confederate States of Sungie Ujong, Rambow, Johole, and Sree Menanti.—These States were originally dependencies of Johore. About 1773 they renounced their allegiance to that sovereign, and elected a Chief, under the title of Jang de Per Tuan Besar, to preside over the council of the four Punghulus, each Punghulu having, however, independent jurisdiction in his own State. Hence all real power remains in their hands, that possessed by the Jang de Per Tuan being only nominal. Subsequently in 1796, another Chief was appointed a member of the Council, under the title of Jang de Per Tuan Muda.

In 1814 an appeal was made by the then Jang de Per Tuan Muda to the British Resident at Malacca, for assistance against the four Punghulus, with whom he was at variance. This was, however, refused.

On the 30th November 1831, Rajah Ali being then Jang de Per Tuan Besar, and his son-in-law, Sherif Syud Saban, Jung de Per Tuan Muda, a Treaty (No. CXXXII.) was concluded between the British Government and the confederate States. This Treaty provides, under special conditions, for the mutual surrender of criminals, and the settlement of disputes that may arise between the contracting Governments or any of their dependent States, as well as for the protection of trade and the suppression of piracy. A similar Treaty (No. CXXXIII.) was negotiated with Rambow, as a separate State, on the 28th January 1832.

The position of Malacca, where it is conterminous with the boundaries of Rambow and Johole, was defined in separate Agreements made with the Rulers of these States, dated respectively 9th January and 15th June 1833 (Nos. CXXXIV. and CXXXV.).

Although the Rulers of the different States still occasionally meet for the discussion of any matter affecting their common interests, for some time past the confederacy may be said to have ceased to exist, and the late Jang de Per Tuan, who was also the Punghulu of Sree Menanti, exercised but little influence over the other Chiefs. His position indeed seems never to have been recognized by the British Government, all correspondence with the various Chieftains having been conducted without any reference to his authority. The foregoing observations may be deemed generally applicable to the small States of Lingie and Gumimchi, the former being a dependency of Sungie Ujong, and the latter of Johole.

The districts of Kooh and Tanping, though forming a portion of Rambow, are at present ruled by Syud Saban, under whose authority they were originally placed, in his capacity of Jang de Per Tuan Muda.

Johore.—Our political relations with Johore may be said to date from 1818, on the 19th of August of which year a Treaty (No. CXXXVI.) of peace and friendship, having for its aim the protection of commerce, was concluded by Major Farquhar with Sultan Abdul Rahman Shah, the youngest son of Sultan Mahomed, who had, however, consequent on the absence of his elder brother, Tuanku Hoosein in Pahang, whither he had proceeded to celebrate his marriage with the daughter of the Bandahara, assumed the sovereignty, though it is alleged only as a temporary measure, on his father's demise.

Sultan Abdul Rahman Shah is reported to have subsequently abdicated in favor of his brother, who was publicly installed as Sultan by Sir Stamford Raffles in 1819. On the 8th of February and 26th June of that year, Treaties (Nos. CXXXVII. and CXXXVIII.) were negotiated with the Sultan and the Tumongong, for the establishment of an English Factory at Singapore, and the protection of British Commerce throughout the Sultan's dominions.

In 1824 it was deemed desirable to obtain the absolute cession of Singapore in full sovereignty, and with this view a fresh Treaty (No. CXXXIX.) was entered into with the Sultan and Tumongong, under the provisions of which the island of Singapore, with the seas, straits, and islets, within ten* geographical miles from its coasts became a British settlement, whilst due arrangements were effected for the suppression of piracy and the furtherance of British commercial interests in Johore.

The Sultan and Tumongong and their successors have, up to the present date, continued to reside at Singapore. Owing, however, to the dissensions between them arising out of their respective claims to the revenue derived from the sovereignty of Johore on the mainland, it was considered by the Local Government advisable that this sovereignty should be vested in the hands of one Chief, who should exercise undivided authority over the whole country, and the Tumongong having been selected for the purpose, with the consent of the Governor-General in Council, on the 10th March 1855, a Treaty (No. CXL.) was arranged between His Highness and the Sultan, under the terms of which, the latter, in consideration of the payment of a certain sum and a monthly pension, ceded to the former absolute sovereignty over Johore, merely retaining authority over the district of Segamat or Moar, a small tract between Johore and the British settlement of Malacca, which has never formed a part of the former, having always been governed by a distinct Chief, bearing, however, the title of Tumongong, and acknowledging allegiance to the Sultan. Under the provisions of the above Treaty, in the event of the Sultan's being desirous of relinquishing the sovereignty of Moar, it is in the first instance to be offered for the acceptance of the British Government.

The position of the Tumongong, with reference to the lands left him in Singapore under the 6th and 7th Articles of the Treaty of 1824 was very unsatisfactory. By a Treaty (No. CXLI) concluded on the 10th December 1862 these Articles were abrogated so far as they relate to any claims or rights between the British Government and the Tumongong, his heirs and successors.

The States of Jellabu Ulu Pahang (including Sutting and Jampole) and Jillye also formed a portion of the original confederacy of the Malayan Peninsula, owing allegiance to the Sultan of Johore. This allegiance seems never to have been formally renounced by their Punghulus, as they continued to acknowledge the Sultan's authority after the secession of Sungie Ujong, Rambow, Johole, and Sree Menanti. Hence, as no separate Treaties have ever been negotiated with these Chiefs, our political relations with them could only be regulated with reference to any rights acquired by virtue of the various Treaties concluded with the Sultan of Johore, to whom they still apparently consider themselves nominally feudatories, although he has long since ceased to exercise any control over their actions.

* In November 1861 it was ruled that the right of the British Government over the waters within 10 miles of Singapore must be limited to a distance of 3 miles from any coast either of mainland or island, within a circle of 10 miles of which Singapore is the centre.

Pahang.—The State of Pahang was originally a dependency of Johore, and governed by a hereditary Officer of that Court, styled the Bandahara. But for some years past the Bandahara has completely thrown off his allegiance to Johore, and asserted his independence.

Pahang may, to a certain extent, be considered as under the protection of the British Government, as, notwithstanding the non-existence of any Treaty obligations, on all occasions of necessity, either owing to internal dissensions or external attack, the advice and support of the Governor of the Straits Settlements has always been sought by the Bandahara, and to the assistance thus obtained his present independent position may be mainly attributed.

In 1862 the Tumongong of Johore, with the sanction of the British Government, entered into a Treaty (No. CXLII.) of mutual defence and protection with the Bandahara of Pahang, under the Article 6th of which all disputes between them are to be referred to the arbitration of the British Government, without whose knowledge and consent neither party is to maintain correspondence with any foreign power.

No. CXXI.

TREATY entered into in 1801, by the BRITISH RESIDENT at MALACCA, LIEUTENANT-COLONEL TAYLOR, with the PANGHULU of NANING.

Articles and Conditions dictated by Lieutenant-Colonel Aldwell Taylor, Governor and Commandant of Malacca, for and in behalf of the Honourable the Governor of Fort St. George, with Rajah Mera, Captain Panghulu, &c., called Dholl Syed; and Lela Uluh Baling and Monland Hakim, called the late Orangkayo; Kechil, called Musih; and Menobonjonkaya, called Konchil; and Maharajah Ankain, called Sumuna; and Mulahna Garan, Ministers and Chiefs of Naning, and the circumjacent villages, who have solemnly accepted and sworn to the following Articles:—

ARTICLE 1.

The said Captain, or Panghulu, Ministers, and Chiefs, promise and swear, in the name and in behalf of the whole community of Naning, to be faithful and submissive to the above-mentioned the Honourable the Governor in Council of Fort Saint George, likewise the Governor and Commandant of this Town and Fortress, and all Commandants that are, or may hereafter be, appointed under them, and, moreover, will do their utmost to conduct themselves in all cases with obedience to the British Authority, as is required of all dutiful subjects, without conjointly or severally attempting any hostile measure against the said Governor, either directly or indirectly, and the following Articles shall be solemnly and strictly observed, and all other contracts and covenants that have been previously passed with another nation to the prejudice of the British be annulled.

ARTICLE 2.

In case any persons at Naning, children of the Menankabans and Malays, shall violate the contents of this Contract, or shall be disobedient to the Governor or his Officers, the Panghulu and Chiefs shall, at the demand of the Governor, deliver them up to be punished as they deserve.

ARTICLE 3.

The Panghulu, Chiefs, and inhabitants of Naning, Menankabans, as well as Malays, are bound to deliver one-tenth of the produce of their rice and all fruits to the East India Company; but, in consideration of their indigent circumstances, the said Company has resolved that the Panghulu shall come in person, every year, or cause one of his Chiefs to come to Malacca, in order to pay their homage to the Company, and, as a token of their submission, they shall present to the Company from the first fruits of the crop one-half coyan of paddy (400 gautangs).

ARTICLE 4.

The inhabitants of Naning, when quitting the country, in order to proceed to Malacea, shall produce to the Shah Bunder a written permission from the Panghulu, signed and sealed with his seal; and likewise all persons who may wish to proceed from Malacea to Naning, are directed to produce to the authority there similar documents, signed (by order of the Government) by the Shah Bunder, otherwise both parties shall be obliged to send such persons back; but, when provided with the required Certificates, they will be permitted to reside at Naning and adjacent villages, and to seek the means of livelihood by agricultural pursuits, in planting betel, &c., provided they adhere and conform to the customs and usages of the place in the same manner as the other inhabitants.

ARTICLE 5.

The Panghulu and Chiefs promise, that all the tin brought from Srimenanti, Sungie-Ujong, Rambow, and other places in these districts to Naning, shall be immediately sent and delivered to the Company, for which they shall receive 44 Rix Dollars in cash, for every bhar of 300 catties, payable in Surat Rupees.

ARTICLE 6.

They also promise to deliver the pepper of Naning and the adjacent districts, when any greater quantity is to be had, to the Company, at the price of 12 Rix Dollars per bhar.

ARTICLE 7.

The Panghulu, Chiefs, and the people of Naning shall have no authority to negotiate or traffic with any inland nation, but shall bring their goods down the river of Malacea, making use, under no pretext whatever, of any other passage of conveyance, nor holding any communication with any such inland nation, in the River Panagie, on pain of forfeiting their lives and property.

ARTICLE 8.

The Panghulu and Chiefs promise, in the name of the said Community of Naning, that whenever the Chief Rulers happen to resign the Government, or any misfortune befall them, they shall, in such case, propose one of the nearest and most qualified of his family, to the Governor of Malacea, for his successor; but it is not to be expected that such a proposal must always meet the Governor's approbation; on the contrary it is optional with him whom he thinks proper to appoint.

ARTICLE 9.

Any slaves belonging either to the Honourable Company, or the inhabitants of Malacea, that may take shelter in Naning, or the circumjacent villages or places, the Panghulu, Chiefs, and inhabitants (none excepted) shall bind themselves to apprehend and immediately send to Town such fugitives, that the same may be delivered to their masters, and a demand of 10 Rix Dollars, and not more, as a reward, shall be exacted from the owners.

ARTICLE 10.

Any male or female slaves, that may be enticed away from Naning to come to Malacca, in order to embrace the Christian faith, the proprietor of such a slave shall receive, as compensation, one-half the amount of the price of the slave, according to the appraisement of the Committee which the Government shall appoint.

ARTICLE 11.

But any person who sells any Christian slaves or freemen of Malacca to a Mussulman or Heathen, either with their own consent, or seduced, or carried away by force from their masters, more especially those who induce such Christian slaves or freemen to be circumcised, or use violence to persuade them to become Mahomedans, shall forfeit their lives and property.

ARTICLE 12.

And that the contents of the said Articles may be inviolably observed, the Panghulu and Chiefs promise and swear, in the name of the whole multitude, that they will immediately restore and deliver to the Honourable the Governor all such runaway slaves that are in Naning or other places.

ARTICLE 13.

Lastly the Panghulu and Chiefs promise and swear on the Koran, in the name of the community of Naning, that they will in every respect solemnly observe and maintain the orders set forth in these Articles, and do bind themselves to deliver up any transgressors of the said orders to the said East India Company, in order that punishment may be inflicted on such persons.

For the due fulfilment of what has been herein promised and agreed, I have hereunto set my usual signature.

Done and sworn in the Town and Fortress of Malacca, 16th of July 1801.

(Signed) A. TAYLOR.

Sworn to by the Panghulu and Chiefs of Naning. We, Captain or Panghulu and Chiefs, promise and swear, as well for ourselves as in the name and behalf of the Community of Naning, to be faithful and sincere to the Governor in Council of Fort Saint George, the Governor and Commandant of Malacca, and all Commanders that are, or may hereafter be, appointed under them, and furthermore to be punctual and strict in observing their orders and commands, that have, or may hereafter be issued, and in conducting ENGAGEMENT OF PADUKA SRI SULTAN ABDULLAH MA-ALUM SHAH, son of the deceased JUNMAL-OOLAH, and SUPREME RULER over the PERAK COUNTRY, made and delivered to CAPTAIN JAMES LOW, Agent of the HONOURABLE ROBERT FULLERTON, GOVERNOR in COUNCIL OF PRINCE OF WALES' ISLAND, SINGAPORE, and MALACCA and which is to be everlasting, as the revolutions and endurance of the Sun and Moon.

THE Sultan, who governs the whole of the Perak Country and its dependencies, has this day, in the month and year herein specified, given over and ceded to the Honourable the East India Company of England, to be under its government henceforward and for ever, the Pulo Dinding and the Islands of Pankgor together with all and every one of the Islands which belonged of old and until this period to the Kings of Perak, and which have been hitherto included within the Perak State, because the said Islands afford safe abodes to the pirates and robbers, who plunder and molest the traders on the coast and the inhabitants of the main land, &c., effectually deprive them of the means of seeking subsistence, and as the King of Perak has not the power or means singly to drive those pirates. For these reasons the King of Perak has, of his own free will and pleasure, ceded and given over as aforesaid, the Islands as aforesaid, to the Honourable the East India Company, to be kept and governed by them, and to be placed under any one of their governments, as they may think fit. To this deed, as tokens of its validity, have this day been put the great seal or chop of the ruler of the Perak Country, Paduka Sri Sultan Abdullah Ma-Alum Shah, together with the chops of the Chief Ministers of His Majesty's government.

This Deed is made and written this Sixteenth day of Rubbea-ool-aval, Wednesday, 1242, or the Eighteenth day of October, in the year 1826.

Robert Fullerton, Governor of Pulo Penang, &c., and also to all the stipulations contained in the Engagement Hegira which His Majesty made with the said Mr. John Anderson, dated the 20th day of Mohurrum, Monday, in the year of the 1241, all of which deeds are here declared to be fixed and unalterable. Moreover, His Majesty now engages that he will not hold any communication or intercourse with the Rajah of Siam, or with any of his chiefs or vassals, or with the Rajah of Salengore, or any of his chiefs or vassals, which may or can have reference to political subjects, or to the administration of his government and the management of his country of Perak. His Majesty will not countenance any of his subjects who may connect themselves with, or league, or intrigue with the Siamese King, or with any of his chiefs or vassals or with the Rajah of Salengore, or any of his chiefs or vassals, or with any other Siamese or Malayan people, by which the country of Perak can in any degree or manner be disturbed, and the government of His Majesty interfered with.

SECOND.—His Majesty the King of Perak will not give or present the bungamas, or any other species of tribute whatever, to the Rajah or King of Siam, or to any of his governors or vassals, nor will he give or present such to the Rajah of Salengore, or to any other Siamese or Malayan people henceforward and for ever. Moreover, His Majesty will not receive or permit to enter into his country of Perak, from the Rajah or King of Siam, or from any of his governors or chiefs, any ambassadors or armaments arriving at Perak for the purpose of arranging political matters, or interfering in any way in the affairs and administration of the country of Perak. In like manner he will not receive into his country embassies or armaments sent by the Rajah of Salengore, or by any other Siamese or Malayan people; nor will he receive any party from any of the people, Rajahs, or countries here specified into his country, should its strength even consist of no more than thirty men, nor will he allow the least number to enter his country. But all persons of every country will, as heretofore, have free permission to trade unmolested to any port in the Perak Country, provided they do not interfere in its affairs. Should parties or armaments of the description above stated arrive in the Perak Country from any one of the countries, or Rajahs, Governors, or Chiefs, or people above specified, or should any of the said Rajahs, Governors, or Chiefs league with subjects of the King of Perak, in order to disturb his country and interfere in any way in his government, then in any such case or cases His Majesty will rely, as he now relies, and in all future times will rely, on the friendly aid and protection of the Honourable the East India Company, and of the Honourable the Governor in Council of Pulo Penang, &c., &c., to be manifested in such a manner and by such means as may to them seem most expedient.

THIRD.—Captain James Low, as Agent for the Honourable the Governor in Council of Prince of Wales' Island, engages that if His Majesty the King of Perak will faithfully adhere to and perform all and each of the stipulations contained in this Engagement as above specified, then His Majesty shall receive the assistance of the British in expelling from his country any Siamese or Malays as above stated, who, as also above specified, may, at any time, enter the Perak Country with political views, or for the purpose of interfering in any way with the government of His Majesty. But if His Majesty shall fail to perform all and every Article of this his Engagement, binding on him, then the obligation on the British to protect him and to assist him against his enemies will cease, and he will lose the confidence and friendship of the Honourable the Governor in Council of Pulo Penang, &c., &c., for ever.

This Engagement, which His Majesty has voluntarily and with great satisfaction entered into, has received as mark of its validity the chop or seal of His Majesty, and the seal and signature of the Agent, Captain James Low, together with the chops of the ministers of Perak, who are also parties in this Engagement with the Agent, and it is delivered to the said Agent to remain as an ever-enduring memorial of alliance and friendship betwixt the King of Perak and the British.

SUPPLEMENTARY ENGAGEMENTS of the RAJAH of PERAK, contained in a letter addressed by HIS MAJESTY to the AGENT, CAPTAIN JAMES LOW.

After compliments—He who governs Perak, Paduka Sri Sultan Abdullah Ma-Alum Shah, desires to make known to his friend, Captain James Low, Agent to the Hon'ble Robert Fullerton, Governor in Council of Prince of Wales' Island, Malacca, and Singapore, with relation to the subjects on which His Majesty and the Agent have already conferred:—

First.—That His Majesty will come down the river to stay at Kotah-loomoot, where he will build a fort of proper strength, and assign a competent number of soldiers for its protection and his own, in order that all enemies and pirates may be kept at a distance, and these men will be well armed, and will be maintained by His Majesty as a standing force, to be at all times ready for defence, and to obey his orders; and for the temporary accommodation of any British Officer who may be sent to visit him, His Majesty will direct that a small house be built opposite to his own residence.

Second.—His Majesty will keep a prow always ready to convey information of importance to Pulo Penang, and will further, without delay, take measures for opening a communication overland, betwixt the Perak river and the Kreaen river, and thence to Pulo Penang.

Third.—The Luksamana and the Shabunder will be forthwith sent down to reside at Quala Bidor, at the spot where Rajah Hussan formerly posted himself, and these two persons will, by His Majesty's orders, erect a fort there, and will collect the population and settle the country in that direction, and those persons trading at Perak will be encouraged and protected, according to ancient custom.

Fourth.—His Majesty will speedily seize or expel the head officers now residing at Koraw, at Laroot, at Trong, at Singkang, and at Bruwas, who may have connected themselves with pirates or robbers, and will give warning to the people there, that should they let pirates or robbers remain amongst them, and should any English come there from Penang in search of pirates, the innocent might in that case suffer with the guilty.

Fifth.—All traders to all parts of Perak will be cherished by His Majesty, and their traffic will not be delayed, but every means will be afforded for a speedy settlement of accounts betwixt buyer and seller, and His Majesty will coerce any of his subjects, or others, should their conduct require harsh measures, to come to a speedy settlement of accounts with traders to Perak, and to prevent their distressing such in any way.

Sixth.—His Majesty the King of Perak will drive out of his country any person convicted of having carried off clandestinely, or by force, from any British possession, any subject of, or person living under, the British Government and should any person so carried off be discovered, His Majesty will detain that person and give information to the Honourable the Governor of Pulo Penang in order that such mischievous practices may be wholly prevented.

Seventh.—When the country has again got settled, His Majesty will direct his people to sow abundance of rice, gram, and rear as much poultry and as many cattle as possible, in order that his people, and those residing under the British Government, may receive mutual advantage.

Eighth.—His Majesty intends to appoint, and will appoint, a properly qualified person to superintend the collection of Duties on exports, such as tin and other merchandize.

Should any trader, a subject of His Majesty, arrive at a British port, and not be able to show a port clearance, the same will be forfeited according to custom.

Ninth.—His Majesty wishes to establish schools in this country, and will be happy should his friend, Captain James Low, assist him by sending a well-skilled school master from Pulo Penang and should His Majesty send any child or children to Pulo Penang to be educated in all the requisite branches of knowledge, he hopes that such child or children will be favorably received and treated.

All these things His Majesty agrees to with the greatest satisfaction.

No. CXXXIII.

A TREATY made in friendship, to last as long as the Sun and Moon revolve, between the RULERS of INDIA under the ENGLISH on the one part, and RAJAH ALI and the PANGHÍLUS of the eight SUKUS ruling over RUMBOWE and its dependencies on the other part.

On the part of the English The Honourable Robert Ibbetson, Esq., Resident of Singapore, Pulo Penang, and Malacca, and its dependencies, and on the part of Rumbowe and its dependencies Rajah Ali and the Panghílus of the eight Sukus, that these countries, both those under the English and under the said Chiefs, may hereafter be ruled with justice, and according to their several customs, and not to infringe upon the rights of each other.

The English Government by these presents cancel and annul all former Treaties and Agreements made between Rumbowe and the Dutch Government and the present Government of the English, and make this Treaty with the Rumbowe Chief as a Government of itself, excluding all others.

Firstly.—On the part of the English Government they hereby acknowledge Rajah Ali and the present Panghílus of eight Sukus as the rulers of Rumbowe and its dependencies.

Secondly.—The English Government and that of Rumbowe do hereby form a friendship to last for ever, and the Rumbowe Government will never do anything offensive against the English Government, and the English Government promise on their part to be equally friendly towards the Government of Rumbowe, either by attacking each other, or taking possession of the territories of that of either party.

The Rumbowe Government will be at liberty to rule within its own territories according to the laws and usages of that country.

Thirdly.—If, in any of the places under the English Government, they should ill-treat any people of Rumbow, the Government of Rumbow shall not attack or fight against that place, but the Rumbow Government will first inform the English Government of it, who will enquire into the causes and see that justice be done—if the fault lies on the part of the English, justice shall be accorded according to the English Law; and if the same should happen on the part of the Rumbow people, towards that of the subjects of the English, the English Government shall not take upon itself to attack or destroy that country, but shall, in the first place, acquaint the Rumbow Chiefs of the aggression, and the Chiefs of Rumbow shall enquire into the causes and do justice, and if the fault lies on the part of the Rumbow people, they shall be punished according to the magnitude of their offences.

Should any of the places in the neighbourhood of the English territories be preparing for warfare by assembling men or vessels, and should the English Government enquire the cause of doing so, the Chiefs of Rumbow shall state the reasons for doing so; on the part of the English Government they promise to do the same to Rumbow.

Fourthly.—With regard to the boundaries which decide the territories of Rumbow from those of the English, should the latter be at a loss to find out the exact places, the person governing on the part of the English will write and send persons on their part to Rumbow, and the latter will send their officers, and the said officers for both parties will ascertain the boundaries and settle them on the most amicable terms: should the Government of Rumbow be similarly situated, and wish to ascertain the exact boundaries, they will act in the same manner, and send their officers to the English Government, who will in the same manner go to the spot and ascertain the same in the most friendly manner.

Fifthly.—Should any of the inhabitants of Rumbow run away to the territories of the English Government, it will not be lawful for any Rumbow people to follow and seize them within the English territories, but the Rumbow people can give information and demand them of the English Government in a proper manner, and the English can deliver them up or not as they may think proper.

If, on the other hand, any English inhabitants should go and settle in the Rumbow countries, the English may not follow and seize such whilst in the Rumbow territory, but the English shall give information and demand them in a friendly manner, and the people of Rumbow will deliver them up or not as may be deemed proper.

Sixthly.—English merchants in wankangs and prows can trade backwards and forwards in any of the Rumbow territories, and the Rumbow Government shall assist such traders, so that they can traffic without danger, and Rumbow traders in wankangs and prows can trade in any English Ports, and the English Government shall protect them. When any Rumbow people wish to go to places under the English, or, on the other hand, any English wish to go to places under Rumbow, they shall be guided by the customs and usages of those places, and should they, on either part, be ignorant of such customs and usages, the Officers of such places shall inform them; further, all inhabitants of Rumbow who should go to places under the English Government, shall be guided by the orders that they may have given to them in those districts, and the English inhabitants who may go to places under Rumbow shall also do the same.

Seventy.—Rajah Ali and Panghūlus of the eight Sukus shall not allow pirates to remain in their ports, but do all in their power to give safety to traders, thereby destroying these evil-disposed people, and the English on their part shall promise to do the same.

Eighthly.—If Rajah Ali and Panghūlus of the four Sukus shall hear of any acts of the enemy, they shall do all in their power to prevent their carrying them into execution, and shall give information of the same.

These eight stipulations are written in the Malay language, and are settled and determined upon on the 28th January 1832, equal to the Arabic calculation of the 18th day of Shaban 1247, and two copies of the same tenor and date, sealed and acknowledged by Robert Ibbetson, Esq., on the part of the English Government, and Rajah Ali with Panghūlus of the eight Sukus on the part of Rumbow and its dependencies.

Another copy of this Treaty shall be made and sent to Bengal for the purpose of being approved of by the Right Honourable the Governor-General, and when the same shall be returned and confirmed, notice shall be made of it in writing in these two copies, that they may never be changed and literally interpreted as long as the world may last.

Further, these Engagements shall be followed in good faith by the contracting parties.

SUMATRA.

THE Island of Sumatra is divided into a number of petty States, the chief of which are Acheen, Delly, Langkat, and Siack.

Our political relations with Acheen date as far back as 1602. Various attempts, however, which were made to establish a factory at Acheen, failed.

In 1815 a revolution broke out, and the reigning Chief, Jowhar Shah, a dissolute prince, was deposed, and Syful Alum Shah, the son of a wealthy merchant, who was related to the ruling family, was raised to the throne. After protracted negotiations, however, the ex-Rajah was restored, through the mediation of Sir Stamford Raffles, and a Treaty (No. CXLIII.) was concluded with him.

The official note appended to the Treaty with the Dutch of 1824 required that the Treaty with Acheen should be modified into a simple arrangement for the hospitable reception of British vessels and subjects in the port of Acheen. As our relations with Acheen, however, were merely nominal, and the Treaty of 1819 had been a dead letter, and as there was free and open intercourse with the Acheen ports, it was not considered necessary to enter into any formal arrangement with Acheen.

In consequence of the numerous acts of aggression committed upon British vessels trading with the natives along the Acheen coast, in 1837, Captain Chads of H. M. S. Andromache was requested to visit Acheen with the view of demanding redress. In 1844 a British force, under the command of Captain the Honourable G. F. Hastings, was again despatched to Acheen on the same account. On this last occasion severe punishment was inflicted upon the inhabitants of the villages of Qualla, Battoo, and Murdoo, which had been mainly concerned in the piracies complained of. No opposition to the measure seems to have been displayed by the Rajah, who, on the contrary, had previously endeavoured to procure the surrender to our authorities of the principal offenders.

In 1859 Major Haughton was deputed on a mission to Acheen with a letter from the Viceroy and Governor-General of India to the Sultan. Major Haughton was treated with courtesy and returned without delivering the letter. An explanation was submitted by the Sultan which was considered satisfactory.

With Delly, Langkat, and Siack Treaties (Nos. CXLIV. to CXLIX.) exist, but after the Treaty with the Dutch of 1824 (See Bengal No. XV.) the diplomatic connection of the English with Sumatra ceased.

By the Treaty of the 2nd November 1871 (No. CL.) the British Government withdrew all objections to the extension of the Netherlands dominion in Sumatra, and consequently from the reserve in that respect contained in the notes (pp. 285-290) exchanged by the Netherlands and British plenipotentiaries at the conclusion of the Treaty of the 17th March 1824. It was stipulated that British subjects should enjoy the same privileges of trade and navigation in Siack and any other State in Sumatra to which the Netherlands dominion might extend as those enjoyed by the subjects of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands.

No. CXLIII.

TREATY OF FRIENDSHIP AND ALLIANCE between the HONOURABLE ENGLISH EAST INDIA COMPANY and the KINGDOM of ACHEEN, concluded by the HONOURABLE SIR THOMAS STANFORD RAFFLES, KNIGHT, and CAPTAIN JOHN MONCKTON COOMBS, AGENT to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL, in the name and on the behalf of the MOST NOBLE FRANCIS, MARQUIS OF HASTINGS, KNIGHT of the MOST NOBLE ORDER of the GARTER, one of HIS BRITANNIC MAJESTY's MOST HONOURABLE PRIVY COUNCIL, GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL of all the BRITISH POSSESSIONS in INDIA, on the one part, and HIS HIGHNESS SRI SULTAN ALLA IDDUN JOWNAH ALLUM SHAN, KING of ACHEEN, for himself, his heirs and successors, on the other.

In consideration of the long and uninterrupted peace, amity, and good understanding which has subsisted between the Honourable English East India Company and His Highness' ancestors, the Kings of Acheen, and in order to perpetuate and improve their friendship to the advantage and prosperity of their mutual States and subjects, it is hereby agreed and determined:—

ARTICLE 1.

There shall be a perpetual peace, friendship, and defensive alliance between the States, dominions, and subjects of the high contracting parties, neither of whom shall give any aid or assistance to the enemies of the other.

ARTICLE 2.

At the request of His Highness the British Government engages to require and to use its influence to effect the removal of Syfful Allum from His Highness' territories, and the British Government further engages to prohibit him or any of his family, as far as they may be subject to their authority, from doing or committing in future any act or acts tending to prevent or impede the full re-establishment of His Highness' authority, His Highness the King engaging himself to place at the disposal of the Supreme Government of British India such Pension or Annuity as it may, in its wisdom, deem meet to recommend for the said Syfful Allum on the consideration of his retiring to Penang, and engaging to relinquish all claims to the sovereignty of Acheen, within three months from the date hereof.

ARTICLE 3.

His Highness the King grants to the British Government the free trade of all his ports, and engages that the Duties on merchandize levied at those ports shall be fixed and declared, and shall also be payable by the resident merchant. His Highness likewise engages not to grant or authorize a monopoly of the produce of his States by any person whatsoever.

ARTICLE 4.

His Highness engages, whenever the British Government may desire it, to receive and protect an accredited Agent of the British Government, with a suitable establishment, who shall be permitted to reside at His Highness' Court for the purpose of conducting the affairs of the Honourable Company.

ARTICLE 5.

In consideration of the injury which might result to the British trade from its exclusion from the ports of His Highness' States not at present subject to his authority, His Highness agrees and consents that ships and vessels of Great Britain shall continue their commercial intercourse with the Ports of Acheen and Jilusamauy, in the same manner as heretofore, unless a temporary blockade of these ports or either of them shall at any time be established by, and with the consent of, the British Government or resident authority. It is clearly understood, however, by the contracting parties, that no warlike stores or arms of any kind shall be furnished, given, or sold to any of His Highness' rebellious subjects by the vessels so trading to the aforesaid ports, under penalty of confiscation of ship and cargo.

ARTICLE 6.

His Highness Sri Sultan Alla Iddun Jowhar Allum Shah agrees, promises, and engages himself, his heirs and successors, to exclude the subjects of every other European power, and likewise all Americans, from a fixed habitation or residence in his dominions. He also engages not to enter into any negotiation or conclude any treaty with any power, Prince, or Potentate whatsoever, unless with the knowledge and consent of the British Government.

ARTICLE 7.

His Highness engages not to permit the residence, in his dominions, of any British subject to whom the Resident Agent shall offer any objection.

ARTICLE 8.

The British Government agrees to give and furnish to His Highness, without delay, all the arms and military stores which are detailed in the paper appended to this Treaty, and signed by His Highness. The British Government likewise agrees to advance to His Highness the sum of money therein mentioned, as a temporary loan, to be repaid by His Highness at his earliest convenience.

ARTICLE 9.

This Treaty, consisting of nine Articles, has this day been concluded, subject to the Ratification of the Governor-General within six months from the date hereof, but it is to be understood that the several provisions herein contained may be carried into immediate effect, without awaiting the said Ratification.

The letter from the Honourable William Edward Phillips, Governor of Pulo Penang, of which his Agent, Mr. John Anderson, had the charge, duly reached His Majesty, who is seated on the throne of Siack, and respecting all that is therein contained relating to the good will of the Governor of Pulo Penang, and the improvement and enlargement of mercantile connections between Siack and Pulo Penang, His Majesty is impressed with the greatest satisfaction, because Siack and its dependencies will thereby become populous, and there will be a constant and beneficial intercourse with Penang; wherefore His Majesty, in concert with his Chiefs, viz., the Tuanko Panglima Besar, the Datu Sri Pakama Rajah, the Datu Sri Biji Wangsa, the Datu Maharajah Lela Muda, and the Tuan Imaum have confirmed the Treaty formerly given to Colonel Farquhar, Agent of the Governor of Pulo Penang; and in addition to that, His Majesty and the five Chiefs above-named make the following Engagement, and send it to the Governor of Pulo Penang, for the purpose of strengthening and perpetuating their reciprocal friendship, and that there may be no change or variation in the connection between Siack and Pulo Penang for ever and ever.

FIRST.—His Majesty and the five Chiefs will not grant the Dutch, or any other nation, a settlement, or permit them to hoist their colours, or reside at Siack or any place under its dominion.

SECOND.—His Majesty and Chiefs will not interrupt or prevent any Noquedahs of vessels, or traders, from going to Penang, and will not give them any orders to trade solely with Malacca, but they shall be at full liberty to follow their own inclination, and proceed to Penang as heretofore.

THIRD.—There shall be no interference with the Chiefs of the States tributary to Siack, and they shall also have full power to enter into any negotiations, or make any engagements with Penang, which shall not be liable to be altered or varied by His Majesty, and the Datus and the Chiefs shall be at liberty to trade with Penang as they please.

FOURTH.—All merchants or traders coming from Penang to Siack, shall meet with no interruption at Siack, but be free to buy and sell where they please.

FIFTH.—To all prows, brigs, or ships, which may come to trade at Siack, meeting with any accident, either there or at sea, His Majesty and the Chiefs engage to render them every possible assistance, to enable them to return in safety to Penang.

SIXTH.—The Duties established on imports from Penang, or exports from Siack, are fixed by a list delivered to Mr. John Anderson, and they shall not be altered or varied.

SEVENTH.—His Majesty and Chiefs will not countenance or permit any pirates to remain in Siack or its dependencies, but will turn them out, in order that the trade between Siack and Pulo Penang may flourish.

EIGHTH.—If His Majesty or his country should be involved in difficulty, he will give immediate notice to the Governor of Pulo Penang, and beg assistance and advice.

Such is the Engagement of the King of Siack and his Chiefs sent to the Governor of Penang.

THE diplomatic relations of the British Government with Siam may be said to have commenced with Mr. John Crawfurd's mission in 1821. The chief object of this mission was to procure an unrestricted trade with Siam but Mr. Crawfurd's negotiations were unsuccessful.

In 1826 a Treaty (No. CLI.) was negotiated by Captain Burney, with the view chiefly of preventing the Siamese from co-operating with the Burmese during the first Burmese war, in which the British Government was then engaged, and of providing for the peace of the Malayan Peninsula then disturbed in consequence of the occupation of Quedah by the Siamese. Besides the above Treaty, Captain Burney effected a commercial Agreement (No. CLII.) with Siam. The provisions of this Engagement were systematically violated by the Siamese, and as the 6th Article placed British subjects under Siamese laws, its abrogation was indispensable.

In 1850 Sir James Brooke was deputed to Siam armed with plenipotentiary powers from the Queen. But his efforts to conclude a satisfactory Treaty were unsuccessful. Five years later, however, a Treaty (No. CLIII.) of friendship and commerce between Her Majesty and the Kings of Siam was negotiated by Sir John Bowring. In 1856 Mr. Parker conveyed to Siam the ratification of the Treaty by the Queen, when an Agreement (No. CLIV.) was made with Siamese Commissioners to give effect to the Treaty and to define its intentions.

The dependencies of Siam in the Malayan Peninsula are Quedah, Ligor, Tringanu, Kelantan, and Potani. The Engagements with Quedah have been already given (Nos. CXXII. to CXXIV.). In 1831, after the Rajah of Ligor had defeated the Ex-Rajah of Quedah in an attempt to recover his country (see Quedah), the Resident of Penang visited him at Quedah and concluded an Engagement (No. CLV.) with him regarding the boundaries of Province Wellesley, in conformity with the 3rd Article of the Treaty of Bangkok.

This boundary was not, however, actually marked out for many years. The Commission, composed partly of British and partly of Siamese Officers, which had been appointed for the performance of this duty was dissolved, owing to the illness of some of the members, before its labours had been completed. In 1864, however, another Commission was appointed, and satisfactory arrangements were made for the boundary at the Isthmus of Kra and the sea-ward line from the mouth of the Pakchan to Junkeeylon. The boundary northward from Kra was demarcated by a separate Commission who completed the work in 1867. A Convention (No. CLVI.) was signed on 8th February 1868, defining the boundary in its entire length.

King Prabat Somdet Phra Chow Klow died on 1st October 1868, after a reign of seventeen and a half years, and was succeeded by his eldest son, Chow Fa Chula Longcom, a minor.

The western portion of Siam bordering on the Salween River and separated by it from Eastern Karennee, is occupied by the Chiangmai or Zimmay Shans, whose Chief is tributary to Siam. The encroachments of the Eastern Karenns on the valuable forests situated on the eastern bank of the Salween led to chronic hostilities between the Karenns and the Shans and complete anarchy on the upper Salween. Numerous bands of dacoits traversed the country, committing outrages on British traders and their property. To remedy this state of things a special officer with a strong force of police at his disposal, was placed in charge of the Salween tracts, and advantage was taken of the visit of His Majesty the King of Siam to Calcutta in 1872 to discuss the measures necessary for the encouragement of trade and the repression of dacoity on the Salween frontier. These discussions resulted in the deputation, towards the end of 1873, of a Siamese Embassy to Calcutta, and on the 14th January 1874 a Treaty (No. CLVII.) was signed, having for its objects the promotion of commercial intercourse with the province of Chiangmai and the repression of heinous crime. The Siamese Government agreed to post guards along the eastern bank of the Salween, to maintain a sufficient police force, and to appoint judges in Chiangmai for the purpose of settling civil disputes between British and Siamese subjects. The Treaty came into force on the 1st January 1875.

Under the terms of the Treaty of 1855 and the supplementary Agreement of 1856, the British Consul at Bangkok alone could try civil and criminal cases, in which either both parties or the defendant were British subjects, and the cause of action arose in Siamese territory. The distance of Bangkok and the limited powers possessed by the Consul under the Order of Council of the 26th July 1856 led to much inconvenience in the disposal of cases arising in Chiangmai, the more important of which had to be referred to Singapore. The consent of the Siamese Government was obtained to the appointment of the Superintendent of the Yoonzaleen district in British Burmah, to exercise all the powers that may be exercised by the Consul at Bangkok under the 2nd Art. of the Treaty of 1855 and the 2nd Art. of the supplementary Agreement of 1856, and he was in virtue of this consent appointed to exercise for the territories of the King of Siam all the powers of a Political Agent under Act XI. of 1872.

ARTICLE 14.

The Siamese and English mutually engage that the Rajah of Perak shall govern his country according to his own will. Should he desire to send the gold and silver flowers to Siam as heretofore, the English will not prevent his doing as he may desire. If Chao Phya of Ligor desire to send down to Perak, with friendly intentions, forty (40) or fifty (50) men, whether Siamese, Chinese, or other Asiatic subjects of Siam; or if the Rajah of Perak desire to send any of his ministers or officers to seek Chao Phya of Ligor, the English shall not forbid them. The Siamese or English shall not send any force to go and molest, attack, or distract Perak. The English will not allow the State of Salengore to attack or distract Perak, and the Siamese shall not go and attack or distract Salengore. The arrangements stipulated in these two last articles respecting Perak and Quedah, Chao Phya of Ligor shall execute as soon as he returns home from Bangkok.

No import, export, or other Duty shall be levied upon the buyers or sellers from, or to, English subjects.

ARTICLE 2.

Merchant vessels, the property of English subjects, arriving off the bar, must first anchor and stop there, and the Commander of the vessel must despatch a person with an account of the cargo, and a return of the people, guns, shot, and powder, on board the vessel, for the information of the Governor, at the mouth of the river, who will send a pilot and interpreter to convey the established regulations to the Commander of the vessel. Upon the pilot bringing the vessel over the bar, she must anchor and stop below the chokey, which the interpreter will point out.

ARTICLE 3.

The proper officers will go on board the vessel and examine her thoroughly, and after the guns, shot and powder have been removed and deposited at Paknam (port at the mouth of the Menam), the Governor of Paknam will permit the vessel to pass up to Bangkok.

ARTICLE 4.

Upon the vessel's arriving at Bangkok, the officers of the customs will go on board and examine her, open the hold, and take an account of whatever cargo may be on board, and after the breadth of the vessel has been measured and ascertained, the merchants will be allowed to buy and sell according to the first article of this Agreement. Should a vessel, upon receiving an export cargo, find that she cannot cross the bar with the whole, and that she must hire cargo boats to take down a portion of the cargo, the officers of the customs and chokeys shall not charge any further Duty upon such cargo boats.

ARTICLE 5.

Whenever a vessel or cargo boat completes her lading, the Commander of the vessel must go and ask Chao Phya Phra Khlang for a port clearance, and if there be no cause for detention, Chao Phya Phra Khlang shall deliver the port clearance without delay. When the vessel, upon her departure, arrives at Paknam, she must anchor and stop at the usual chokey, and after the proper officers have gone on board and examined her, the vessel may receive her guns, shot and powder, and take her departure.

ARTICLE 6.

Merchants being subjects of the English Government, whether Europeans or Asiatics, the Commanders, officers, lascars, and the whole of the crew of vessels, must conform to the established laws of Siam, and to the stipulations of this Treaty in every particular. If merchants of every class do not observe the Articles of this Treaty, and oppress the inhabitants of the country, become thieves or bad men, kill men, speak offensively of, or treat disrespectfully any great or subordinate officers of the country, and the case become important in any way whatever, the proper officers shall take jurisdiction of it, and punish the offender. If the offence be homicide, and the officers, upon investigation, see that it proceeded from evil intention, they shall punish with death. If it be any other offence, and the party be the commander or officer of a vessel, or a merchant, he shall be fined. If he be of a lower rank, he shall be whipped or imprisoned, according to the established laws of Siam. The Governor of Bengal will prohibit English subjects, desiring to come and trade at Bangkok, from speaking disrespectfully or offensively to, or of the great officers in Siam. If any person at Bangkok oppress any English subject, he shall be punished according to his offence in the same manner.

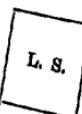

The six Articles of this Agreement, let the Officers at Bangkok, and merchants subject to the English, fulfil and obey in every particular.

TREATY of 1855 with SIAM.

Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and all its dependencies, and their Majesties Phra Bard Somdet Phra Paramendo Maha Mongkut Phra Choni Klan Chan Yu Hua, the first King of Siam, and Phra Bard Somdet Phra Pawarendo Ramese Mahiswaree Phra Pin Klan Chan Yu Hua, the second King of Siam, desiring to establish, upon firm and lasting foundations, the relations of peace and friendship existing between the two countries, and to secure the best interests of their respective subjects by encouraging, facilitating, and regulating their industry and trade, have resolved to conclude a Treaty of Amity and Commerce for this purpose, and have therefore named as their Plenipotentiaries; that is to say,

Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland, Sir John Bowring, Knight, Doctor of Laws, &c., &c.

And their Majesties the first and second Kings of Siam, His Royal Highness Krom Huang Wongsa Dhiraj Snidb; His Excellency Somdet Chan Phaya Param Maha Puyura Wongse; His Excellency Somdet Chan Phaya Param Maha Bijainete; His Excellency Chan Phaya Sri Suriwongse Samuha Phra Kralahome; and His Excellency Chan Phaya, acting Phraklang.

Who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, and found them to be in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following Articles:—

Article I.—There shall henceforward be perpetual peace and friendship between Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and Her successors, and their Majesties the first and second Kings of Siam and their successors. All British subjects coming to Siam shall receive from the Siamese Government full protection and assistance to enable them to reside in Siam in all security, and trade with every facility, free from oppression or injury on the part of the Siamese. And all Siamese subjects going to an English country shall receive from the British Government the same complete protection and assistance that shall be granted to British subjects by the Government of Siam.

Article II.—The interests of all British subjects coming to Siam shall be placed under the regulation and control of a Consul, who will be appointed to reside at Bangkok. He will himself conform to, and will enforce the observance by British subjects of all the provisions of this Treaty and such of the former Treaty negotiated by Captain Burney in 1826 as shall still remain in operation. He shall also give effect to all Rules or Regulations as are now or may hereafter be, enacted for the Government of British subjects in Siam, the conduct of their trade, and for the prevention of violations of the Laws of Siam. Any disputes arising between British and Siamese subjects shall be heard and determined by the Consul in conjunction with the proper Siamese Officers; and criminal offences will be punished; in the case of English offenders, by the Consul, according to English Laws, and in the case of Siamese offenders, by their own Laws through the Siamese authorities. But the Consul shall not interfere in any matters referring solely to Siamese, neither will the Siamese authorities interfere in questions which only concern the subjects of Her Britannic Majesty.

It is understood, however, that the arrival of the British Consul at Bangkok shall not take place before the Ratification of this Treaty, nor until ten vessels owned by British subjects, sailing under British colors and with British papers, shall have entered the Port of Bangkok for the purposes of trade, subsequent to the signing of this Treaty.

Article III.—If Siamese, in the employ of British subjects, offend against the Laws of their country, or if any Siamese having so offended, or desiring to desert, take refuge with a British subject in Siam, they shall be searched for, and upon proof of their guilt or desertion, shall be delivered up by the Consul to the Siamese authorities. In like manner, any British offenders, resident or trading in Siam, who may desert, escape to, or hide themselves in Siamese territories, shall be apprehended and delivered over to the British Consul on his requisition. Chinese not able to prove themselves to be British subjects, shall not be considered as such by the British Consul, nor be entitled to his protection.

Article IV.—British subjects are permitted to trade freely in all the seaports of Siam, but may reside permanently only at Bangkok, or within the limits assigned by this Treaty. British subjects coming to reside at Bangkok may rent land and buy or build houses, but cannot purchase lands within a circuit of 200 seng (not more than four miles English) from the City walls, until they shall have lived in Siam for ten years, or shall obtain special authority from the Siamese Government to enable them to do so. But, with the exception of this limitation, British residents in Siam may at any time buy or rent houses, lands, or plantations situated any where within a distance of twenty-four hours' journey from the City of Bangkok, to be computed by the rate at which boats of the country can travel. In order to obtain possession of such lands or houses, it will be necessary that the British subject shall, in the first place, make application through the Consul to the proper Siamese officer, and the Siamese officer and the Consul having satisfied themselves of the honest intentions of the applicant, will assist him in settling, upon equitable terms, the amount of the purchase-money, will make out and fix the boundaries of the property, and will convey the same to the British purchaser under sealed Deeds, whereupon he and his property shall be placed under the protection of the Governor of the district, and that of the particular local authorities: he shall conform in ordinary matters to any just directions given him by them, and will be subject to the same taxation that is levied on Siamese subjects. But if, through negligence, the want of capital, or other cause, a British subject should fail to commence the cultivation or improvement of the lands so acquired within a term of three years from the date of receiving possession thereof, the Siamese Government shall have the power of resuming the property upon returning to the British subject the purchase-money paid by him for the same.

Article V.—All British subjects intending to reside in Siam shall be registered at the British Consulate. They shall not go out to sea, nor proceed beyond the limits assigned by this Treaty for the residence of British subjects, without a passport from the Siamese authorities, to be applied for by the British Consul, nor shall they leave Siam if the Siamese authorities show to the British Consul that legitimate objections exist to their quitting the country. But within the limits appointed under the preceding Article, British subjects are at liberty to travel to and fro under the protection of a Pass, to be furnished them by the British Consul, and counter-sealed by the proper Siamese Officer, stating, in the Siamese character, their names, calling, and description. The Siamese Officers at the Government Stations in the interior may, at any time, call for the production of this Pass; and, immediately on its being exhibited, they must allow the parties to proceed, but it will be their duty to detain those persons who, by travelling without a Pass from the Consul, render themselves liable to the suspicion of their being deserters; and such detention shall be immediately reported to the Consul.

Article VI.—All British subjects visiting or residing in Siam shall be allowed the free exercise of the Christian Religion, and liberty to build Churches in such localities as shall be consented to by the Siamese Authorities. The Siamese Government will place no restrictions upon the employment, by the English, of Siamese subjects as servants, or in any other capacity. But wherever a Siamese subject belongs or owes service to some particular master, the servant who engages himself to a British subject, without the consent of his master, may be reclaimed by him, and the Siamese Government will not enforce an Agreement between a British subject and any Siamese in his employ, unless made with the knowledge and consent of the master, who has a right to dispose of the services of the person engaged.

Article VII.—British Ships of War may enter the river and anchor at Paknam, but they shall not proceed above Paknam, unless with the consent of the Siamese authorities, which shall be given where it is necessary that a ship shall go into dock for repairs. Any British Ship of War conveying to Siam a public functionary, accredited by the British Government to the Court of Bangkok, shall be allowed to come up to Bangkok, but shall not pass the Forts called Phrachamit and Pit-pach-nuck, unless expressly permitted to do so by the Siamese Government. But in the absence of a British Ship of War, the Siamese authorities engage to furnish the Consul with a force sufficient to enable him to give effect to his authority over British subjects, and to enforce discipline among British Shipping.

Article VIII.—The measurement Duty hitherto paid by British vessels trading to Bangkok, under the Treaty of 1826, shall be abolished from the date of this Treaty coming into operation; and British Shipping or Trade will thenceforth be only subject to the payment of Import and Export Duties on the goods landed or shipped.

On all articles of import, the Duty shall be three per cent., payable at the option of the importer, either in kind or money, calculated upon the market value of the goods. Drawback of the full amount of duty shall be allowed upon goods found unsaleable and re-exported. Should the British Merchant and the Custom House Officers disagree as to the value to be set upon imported articles, such disputes shall be referred to the Consul and proper Siamese Officer, who shall each have the power to call in an equal number of Merchants as assessors, not exceeding two on either side, to assist them in coming to an equitable decision.

Opium may be imported free of Duty, but can only be sold to the Opium farmer or his agents. In the event of no arrangement being effected with them for the sale of the Opium, it shall be re-exported, and no Impost or Duty shall be levied thereon. Any infringement of this Regulation shall subject the Opium to seizure and confiscation.

Articles of export, from the time of production to the date of shipment, shall pay one Impost only, whether this be levied under the name of Inland Tax, Transit Duty, or Duty on exportation. The Tax or Duty to be paid on each article of Siamese produce, previous to or upon exportation, is specified in the Tariff attached to this Treaty; and it is distinctly agreed, that goods or produce that pay any description of Tax in the interior shall be exempted from any further payment of Duty on exportation. English merchants are to be allowed to purchase directly from the producer the articles in which they trade, and in like manner to sell their goods directly to the parties wishing to purchase the same, without the interference, in either case, of any other person.

The rates of Duty laid down in the Tariff attached to this Treaty are those that are now paid upon goods or produce shipped in Siamese or Chinese vessels or junks; and it is agreed that British Shipping shall enjoy all the privileges now exercised by, or which hereafter may be granted to, Siamese or Chinese vessels or junks.

British subjects will be allowed to build ships in Siam on obtaining permission to do so from the Siamese authorities.

Whenever a scarcity may be apprehended of salt, rice, and fish, the Siamese Government reserve to themselves the right of prohibiting, by public proclamation, the exportation of these articles.

Bullion or personal effects may be imported or exported free of charge.

Article IX.—The Code of Regulations appended to this Treaty shall be enforced by the Consul, with the co-operation of the Siamese Authorities, and they, the said Authorities and Consul, shall be enabled to introduce any further Regulations which may be found necessary in order to give effect to the objects of this Treaty.

All fines and penalties inflicted for infraction of the provisions and regulations of this Treaty shall be paid to the Siamese Government.

Until the British Consul shall arrive at Bangkok and enter upon his functions, the consignees of British vessels shall be at liberty to settle with the Siamese Authorities all questions relating to their trade.

Article X.—The British Government and its subjects will be allowed free and equal participation in any privileges that may have been, or may hereafter be, granted by the Siamese Government to the Government or subjects of any other nation.

Article XI.—After the lapse of ten years from the date of the Ratification of this Treaty, upon the desire of either the British or Siamese Government, and on twelve months' notice given by either party, the present, and such portions of the Treaty of 1826 as remain unrevoked by this Treaty, together with the Tariff and Regulations thereto annexed, or those that may hereafter be introduced, shall be subject to revision by Commissioners appointed on both sides for this purpose, who will be empowered to decide on and insert therein such amendments as experience shall prove to be desirable.

Article XII.—This Treaty, executed in English and Siamese, both versions having the same meaning and intention, and the Ratifications thereof having been previously exchanged, shall take effect from the 6th day of April, in the year 1856 of the Christian Era, corresponding to the 1st day of the fifth month of the One Thousand Two Hundred and Eighteenth year of the Siamese Civil Era.

In witness whereof the above-named Plenipotentiaries have signed and sealed the present Treaty in quadruplicate at Bangkok, on the Eighteenth day of April, in the year 1855 of the Christian Era, corresponding to the second day of the Sixth month of the One Thousand Two Hundred and Seventeenth year of the Siamese Civil Era.

GENERAL REGULATIONS under which BRITISH TRADE is to be conducted in SIAM.

Regulation I.—The Master of every English ship coming to Bangkok to trade must, either before or after entering the river, as may be found convenient, report the arrival of his vessel at the Custom House at Paknam, together with the number of his crew and guns, and the port from whence he comes. Upon anchoring his vessel at Paknam, he will deliver into the custody of the Custom House Officers all his guns and ammunition, and a Custom House Officer will then be appointed to the vessel, and will proceed in her to Bangkok.

Regulation II.—A vessel passing Paknam without discharging her guns and ammunition, as directed in the foregoing Regulation, will be sent back to Paknam to comply with its provisions, and will be fined eight hundred ticals for having so disobeyed. After delivery of her guns and ammunition, she will be permitted to return to Bangkok to trade.

Regulation III.—When a British vessel shall have cast anchor at Bangkok, the Master, unless a Sunday should intervene, will, within four and twenty hours after arrival, proceed to the British Consulate, and deposit there his Ship's Papers, Bills of Lading, &c., together with a true Manifest of his Import Cargo; and upon the Consul's reporting these particulars to the Custom House, permission to break bulk will at once be given by the latter.

For neglecting so to report his arrival, or for presenting a false Manifest, the Master will subject himself, in each instance, to a penalty of four hundred ticals; but he will be allowed to correct, within twenty-four hours after delivery of it to the Consul, any mistake he may discover in his Manifest, without incurring the above-mentioned penalty.

Regulation IV.—A British vessel breaking bulk and commencing to discharge before due permission shall be obtained, or smuggling, either when in the river or outside the bar, shall be subject to the penalty of eight hundred ticals and confiscation of the goods so smuggled or discharged.

Regulation V.—As soon as a British vessel shall have discharged her cargo and completed her outward lading, paid all her Duties, and delivered a true Manifest of her outward cargo to the British Consul, a Siamese Port Clearance shall be granted her on application from the Consul, who, in the absence of any legal impediment to her departure, will then return to the Master his Ship's Papers, and allow the vessel to leave. A Custom House Officer will accompany the vessel to Paknam, and on arriving there, she will be inspected by the Custom House Officers of that Station, and will receive from them the guns and ammunition previously delivered into their charge.

Regulation VI.—Her Britannic Majesty's Plenipotentiary having no knowledge of the Siamese language, the Siamese Government have agreed, that the English text of these Regulations, together with the Treaty of which they form a portion, and the Tariff hereunto annexed, shall be accepted as conveying in every respect their true meaning and intention.

No. CLIV.

AGREEMENT entered into between the undermentioned ROYAL COMMISSIONERS, on the part of THEIR MAJESTIES the FIRST and SECOND KINGS of SIAM, and HARRY SMITH PARKES, ESQUIRE, on the part of HER BRITANNIC MAJESTY'S GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Parkes having stated, on his arrival at Bangkok, as bearer of Her Britannic Majesty's Ratification of the Treaty of Friendship and commerce concluded on the 18th day of April 1855, between Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and their Majesties Phra Bard Somdetch Phra Paramendy Maha Mongkut Phra Cham Klan Chan Yu Hua, the First King of Siam, and Phra Bard Somdetch Phra Pawarendr Ramesr Mahiswaresr Phra Pin Klan Chan Yu Hua, the Second King of Siam, that he was instructed by the Earl of Clarendon, Her Britannic Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, to request the Siamese Government to consent to an enumeration of those Articles of the former Treaty, concluded in 1826, between the Honourable East India Company and their late Majesties the First and Second Kings of Siam, which are abrogated by the Treaty first named, and also to agree to certain explanations which appear necessary to mark the precise force and application of certain portions of the new Treaty, their aforesaid Majesties, the First and Second Kings of Siam, have appointed and empowered certain Royal Commissioners, namely, His Royal Highness Krom Hluang Wang-sa Dhiraj Snidh, and their Excellencies the four Senaputhies or Principal Ministers of Siam, to confer and arrange with Mr. Parkes the matters above-named, and the said Royal Commissioners having accordingly met Mr. Parkes for this purpose on repeated occasions, and maturely considered all the subjects brought by him to their notice, have resolved—

That it is proper, in order to prevent future controversy, that those clauses of the old Treaty, which are abrogated by the new Treaty, should be distinctly specified, and that any clause of the new Treaty, which is not sufficiently clear, should be fully explained. To this end they have agreed to and concluded the following twelve Articles :—

ARTICLE I.

'On the old Treaty concluded in 1826.'

The Articles of the old Treaty not abrogated by the new Treaty on 1, 2, 3, 8, 11, 12, 13, and 14, and the undermentioned clauses of Articles 6 and 10.

In Article 6, the Siamese desire to retain the following clause :—

"If a Siamese or English Merchant buy or sell without enquiring and ascertaining whether the seller or buyer be of a good or bad character, and if he meet with a bad man who takes the property and absconds, the rulers and Officers on either side must make search and endeavour to produce the property of the absconder, and investigate the matter with sincerity. If the party possess money or property, he can be made to pay; but if he does not possess any, or if he cannot be apprehended, it will be the Merchant's own fault, and the Authorities cannot be held responsible."

Of Article 10, Mr. Parkes desires to retain that clause relating to the Overland Trade, which states—

"Asiatic Merchants of the English countries, not being Burmese, Pegouns, or descendants of Europeans, desiring to enter into and to trade with the Siamese dominions from the Countries of Mergui, Tavoy, Tenasserim, and Ye, which are now subject to the English, will be allowed to do so freely overland and by water, upon the English furnishing them with proper Certificates." Mr. Parkes, however, desires that all British subjects, without exception, shall be allowed to participate in this Overland trade. The said Royal Commissioners therefore agree, on the part of the Siamese, that all traders under British rule may cross from the British Territories of Mergui, Tavoy, Ye, Tenasserim, Pegu, or other places, by land or by water, to the Siamese territories, and may trade there with facility, on the condition that they shall be provided by the British Authorities with proper Certificates, which must be renewed for each journey.

The Commercial Agreement annexed to the old Treaty is abrogated by the new Treaty, with the exception of the undermentioned clauses of Articles 1 and 4:—

Of Article 1, the Siamese desire to retain the following clause:—

“British Merchants importing fire-arms, shot, or gunpowder, are prohibited from selling them to any party but the Government; should the Government not require such fire-arms, shot, or gunpowder, the Merchants must re-export the whole of them.”

Article 4 stipulates that no charge or Duty shall be levied on boats carrying cargo of British ships at the bar. The Siamese desire to cancel this clause for the reason that the old measurement Duty of 1,700 ticals per fathom included the fees of the various officers. But as this measurement Duty has now been abolished, the Siamese wish to levy on each native boat taking cargo out to see a fee of 8 ticals 2 salungs, this being the charge paid by Siamese traders; and Mr. Parkes undertakes to submit this point to the consideration of Her Majesty’s Minister Plenipotentiary to the Court of Siam.

ARTICLE 2.

On the Exclusive Jurisdiction of the Consul over British Subjects.

The 2nd Article of the Treaty stipulates that “any disputes arising between British and Siamese subjects shall be heard and determined by the Consul in conjunction with the proper Siamese Officers; and criminal offenders will be punished, in the case of English offenders, by the Consul according to English laws, and in the case of Siamese offenders, by their own laws, through the Siamese Authorities.” But the Consul shall not interfere in any matters referring solely to Siamese, neither will the Siamese authorities interfere in questions which only concern the subjects of Her Britannic Majesty.

On the non-interference of the Consul with the Siamese, or of the Siamese with British subjects, the said Royal Commissioners desire, in the first place, to state that, while for natural reasons they fully approve of the Consul holding no jurisdiction over Siamese in their own country, the Siamese Authorities, on the other hand, will feel themselves bound to call on the Consul to apprehend and punish British subjects, who shall commit, whilst in Siamese territory, any grave infractions of the laws, such as cutting, wounding, or inflicting other serious bodily harm. But in disputes or in offences of a slighter nature committed by British subjects among themselves, the Siamese Authorities will refrain from all interference.

With reference to the punishment of offences, or the settlement of disputes, it is agreed—

That all criminal cases in which both parties are British subjects, or in which the defendant is a British subject, shall be tried and determined by the British Consul alone.

All criminal cases in which both parties are Siamese, or in which the defendant is a Siamese, shall be tried and determined by the Siamese Authorities alone.

That all civil cases in which both parties are British subjects, or in which the defendant is a British subject, shall be heard and determined by the British Consul alone. All civil cases in which both parties are Siamese, or in which the defendant is a Siamese, shall be heard and determined by the Siamese Authorities alone.

That whenever a British subject has to complain against a Siamese, he must make his complaint through the British Consul, who will lay it before the proper Siamese Authorities.

That in all cases in which Siamese or British subjects are interested, the Siamese Authorities in the one case, and the British Consul in the other, shall be at liberty to attend at and listen to the investigation of the case, and copies of the proceedings will be furnished from time to time, or whenever desired, to the Consul or the Siamese Authorities, until the case is concluded.

That although the Siamese may interfere so far with British subjects as to call upon the Consul, in the manner stated in this Article, to punish grave offenders when committed by British subjects, it is agreed that—

British subjects, their persons, houses, premises, lands, ships or property of any kind, shall not be seized, injured, or in any way interfered with by the Siamese. In case of any violation of this stipulation, the Siamese Authorities will take cognizance of the case, and punish the offenders. On the other hand, Siamese subjects, their persons, houses, premises, or property of any kind shall not be seized, injured, or in any way interfered with by the English, and the British Consul shall investigate and punish any breach of this stipulation.

ARTICLE 3.

On the Right of the British Subjects to dispose of their property at will.

By the 4th Article of the Treaty, British subjects are allowed to purchase in Siam "houses, gardens, fields or plantations." It is agreed in reference to this stipulation, that British subjects, who have accordingly purchased houses, gardens, fields, or plantations, are at liberty to sell the same to whomsoever they please. In the event of a British subject dying in Siam, and leaving houses, lands, or any property, his relations, or those persons who are his heirs according to English laws, shall receive possession of the said property; and the British Consul, or some one appointed by the British Consul, may proceed at once to take charge of the said property on their account. If the deceased should have debts due to him by the Siamese or other persons, the Consul can collect them; and if the deceased should owe money, the Consul shall liquidate his debts as far as the estate of the deceased shall suffice.

ARTICLE 4.

On the Taxes, Duties, or other Charges leviable on British Subjects.

The 4th Article of the Treaty provides for the payment on the lands held or purchased by British subjects, of "the same taxation that is levied on Siamese subjects." The taxes here alluded to are those set forth in the annexed schedule.

Again, it is stated in the 8th Article, "that British subjects are, to pay Import and Export Duties according to the Tariff annexed to the Treaty." For the sake of greater distinctness, it is necessary to add to these two clauses the following explanation, namely, that beside the Land Tax, and the Import and Export Duties mentioned in the aforesaid Articles, no additional charge or Tax of any kind may be imposed upon a British subject, unless it obtain the sanction both of the supreme Siamese Authorities and the British Consul.

ARTICLE 5.

On Passes and Port Clearances.

The 5th Article of the Treaty provides that Passports shall be granted to travellers, and the 5th Article of the Regulations, that port clearances shall be furnished to ships. In reference thereto, the said Royal Commissioners, at the request of Mr. Parkes, agree that the passports to be given to British subjects travelling beyond the limits assigned by the Treaty for the residence of British subjects, together with the passes for cargo boats and the port clearances of British ships, shall be issued within twenty-four hours after formal application for the same shall have been made to the proper Siamese Authorities. But if reasonable cause should at any time exist for delaying or withholding the issue of any of these papers, the Siamese Authorities must at once communicate it to the Consul.

Passports for British subjects travelling in the interior, and the port clearances of British ships, will be granted by the Siamese Authorities free of charge.

ARTICLE 6.

On the prohibition of the Exportation of Rice, Salt, and Fish, and on the Duty on Paddy.

The 8th Article of the Treaty stipulates, that "whenever a scarcity may be apprehended of salt, rice, and fish, the Siamese Government reserve to themselves the right of prohibiting, by public proclamation, the exportation of these articles."

Mr. Parkes, in elucidation of this clause, desires an Agreement to this effect, namely, that a month's notice shall be given by the Siamese Authorities to the Consul prior to the enforcement of the prohibition, and that British subjects, who may previously obtain special permission from the Siamese authorities to export a certain quantity of rice which they have already purchased, may do so even after the prohibition comes in force. Mr. Parkes also requests that the Export Duty on paddy should be half of that on rice, namely, 2 ticals per koyan.

The said Royal Commissioners, having in view the fact that rice forms the principal sustenance of the nation, stipulate that, on the breaking out of war or rebellion, the Siamese may prohibit the trade in rice, and may enforce the prohibition so long as the hostilities thus occasioned shall continue. If a dearth should be apprehended on account of the want or excess of rain, the Consul will be informed one month previous to the enforcement of the prohibition. British merchants who obtain the Royal permission, upon the issue of the proclamation, to export a certain quantity of rice which they have already purchased, may do so irrespective of the prohibition to the contrary; but those merchants who do not obtain the Royal permission will not be allowed, when the prohibition takes effect, to export the rice they may already have purchased.

The prohibition shall be removed as soon as the cause of its being imposed shall have ceased to exist.

Paddy may be exported on payment of a Duty of 2 ticals per koyan, or half the amount levied on rice.

ARTICLE 7.

On permission to Import Gold-leaf as Bullion.

Under the 8th Article of the Treaty, bullion may be imported or exported free of charge. With reference to this Clause, the said Royal Commissioners, at the request of Mr. Parkes, agree that foreign coins of every denomination, gold and silver in bars or ingots, and gold-leaf, may be imported free; but manufactured articles in gold and silver, plated-ware, and diamonds or other precious stones, must pay an Import Duty of three per cent.

ARTICLE 8.

On the Establishment of a Custom House.

The said Royal Commissioners, at the request of Mr. Parkes, and in conformity with the intent of the 8th Article of the new Treaty, agree to the immediate establishment of a Custom House, under the superintendence of a high Government Functionary, for the examination of all goods landed or shipped, and the receipt of the Import and Export Duties due thereon. They further agree that the business of the Custom House shall be conducted under the regulations annexed to this Agreement.

ARTICLE 9.

On the subsequent Taxation of Articles now free from Duty.

Mr. Parkes agrees with the said Royal Commissioners, that whenever the Siamese Government deem it to be beneficial for the country to impose a single Tax or Duty on any article not now subject to a public charge of any kind, they are at liberty to do so, provided that the said tax be just and reasonable.

ARTICLE 10.

On the Boundaries of the Four-mile Circuit.

It is stipulated in the 4th Article of the Treaty, that "British subjects coming to reside at Bangkok may rent land, and buy or build houses, but cannot purchase lands within a circuit of 200 sen (not more than four miles English) from the city walls, until they shall have lived in Siam for ten years, or shall obtain special authority from the Siamese Government to enable them to do so."

The points to which this circuit extends due north, south, east, and west of the city, and the spot where it crosses the river below Bangkok, have accordingly been measured by Officers on the part of the Siamese and English; and their measurements, having been examined and agreed to by the said Royal Commissioners and Mr. Parkes, are marked by stone pillars placed at the under-mentioned localities, viz. :—

On the North :—One sen north of Wat Kemabherataram.

On the East :—Six sen and seven fathoms south-west of Wat Bangkopi.

On the South :—About nineteen sen south of the village of Bangpakio.

On the West :—About two sen south-west of the village of Bangphrom.

The pillars marking the spot where the circuit line crosses the river below Bangkok are placed on the left bank three sen below the village of Bangmanan, and on the right bank about one sen below the village of Banglampuluem.

ARTICLE 11.

On the Boundaries of the 24-hours' Journey.

It is stipulated in the 4th Article of the Treaty, that, "excepting within the circuit of four miles, British merchants in Siam may at any time buy or rent houses, lands, or plantations, situated any where within a distance of twenty-four hours' journey from the city of Bangkok, to be computed by the rate at which boats of the country can travel."

The said Royal Commissioners and Mr. Parkes have consulted together on this subject, and have agreed that the boundary of the said twenty-four hours' journey shall be as follows :—

1. On the North :—The Bangputsa Canal, from its mouth on the Chow Phya River to the old City walls of Lobpary, and a straight line from Lobpary to the landing-place of Thra of Phrangam, near to the Town of Samburi, on the River Pasak.

2. On the East:—A straight line drawn from the landing place of Thra Prangam to the junction of the Klongkut Canal with the Bangpakong River; the Bangpakong River from the junction of the Klongkut Canal to its mouth; and the coast from the mouth of the Bangpakong River to the Isle of Srimaharajah, to such distance inland as can be reached within twenty-four hours' journey from Bangkok.

3. On the South:—The Isle of Srimaharajah and the Islands of Se-change on the east side of the Gulf, and the City walls of Petchaburi on the west side.

4. On the West:—The Western Coast of the Gulf to the mouth of the Mecklong River to such a distance inland as can be reached within twenty-four hours' journey from Bangkok; the Mecklong River from its mouth to the City walls of Kagpury; a straight line from the City walls of Kagpury to the Town of Swblarnapury, and a straight line from the Town of Swbharnapury to the mouth of the Bangpula Canal on the Chow Phya River.

ARTICLE 12.

On the Incorporation in the Treaty of this Agreement.

The said Royal Commissioners agree, on the part of the Siamese Government, to incorporate all the Articles of this Agreement in the Treaty concluded by the Siamese Plenipotentiaries and Sir John Bowring on the 18th April 1855, whenever this shall be desired by Her Britannic Majesty's Plenipotentiary.

In witness whereof the said Royal Commissioners and the said Harry Smith Parkes have sealed and signed this Agreement in duplicate, at Bangkok, on the thirteenth day of May, in the year One thousand Eight hundred and Fifty-six of the Christian Era, corresponding to the Ninth day of the waxing Moon of the lunar month of Wesakh, in the year of the Qundrnpedi Serpent, being the year One Thousand Two Hundred and Eighteen of the Siamese Astronomical Era, which is the Nineteenth of Her Britannic Majesty's and Sixth of their present Siamese Majesty's Reigns.

BRITISH ORDER in COUNCIL, PROVIDING for the EXERCISE of BRITISH JURISDICTION in SIAM, JULY, 28, 1856.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 28th day of July 1856.

PRESENT, THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by a certain Act of Parliament, made and passed in the Session of Parliament holden in the 6th and 7th years of Her Majesty's reign (Cap. 94), intituled "An Act to remove doubts as to the exercise of power and jurisdiction by Her Majesty within divers countries and places out of Her Majesty's dominions and to render the same more effectual," it is amongst other things enacted, that it is and shall be lawful for Her Majesty to hold, exercise, and enjoy any power or jurisdiction which Her Majesty now hath, or may at any time hereafter have, within any country or place out of Her Majesty's dominions, in the same and as ample a manner as if Her Majesty had acquired such power or jurisdiction by the cession or conquest of territory;

And whereas Her Majesty hath power and jurisdiction in the dominions of the Kings of Siam;

And whereas it is expedient at the present time to make provision for the due exercise of the jurisdiction possessed by Her Majesty as aforesaid:

I.—Now, therefore, in pursuance of the above-recited Act of Parliament, Her Majesty is pleased, by and with the advice of her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered that Her Majesty's Consul appointed to reside in the kingdom of Siam shall have full power and authority to carry into effect, and to enforce, by fine or imprisonment, as hereinafter provided, the observance of the stipulations of any Treaty, or of regulations appended to any Treaty, now existing, or which may hereafter be made, between Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, and the Kings of Siam, their heirs and successors, and to make and enforce, by fine or imprisonment, rules and regulations for the observance of the stipulations of such Treaties, and for the peace, order, and good government of Her Majesty's subjects being within the dominions of the Kings of Siam.

II.—And it is further ordered, that a copy of all such rules and regulations made by the said Consul shall forthwith be affixed, and kept affixed and exhibited in some conspicuous place in the public office of the said Consul; and printed copies of the said rules and regulations shall, as soon as possible, be provided by the said Consul, and sold at a price not exceeding 1 Dollar for each copy; and for the purpose of convicting any person offending against the said rules and regulations, and for all other purposes of law whatsoever, a printed copy of the said rules and regulations, certified under the hand of the said Consul to be a true copy thereof, shall be taken as conclusive evidence of such rules and regulations; and no penalty shall be incurred, or shall be enforced, for the breach of any such rules or regulations to be hereafter made, until the same shall have been so affixed and exhibited for 1 calendar month in the public office of the Consul: Provided always, that any such rule or regulation made by Her Majesty's Consul, and to be enforced by a penalty, shall be submitted to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs for allowance or disallowance, and if any such rule or regulation should be disallowed by Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the same shall cease to have effect from the receipt by the Consul of such disallowance; nevertheless the Consul shall not be liable to be proceeded against in any of Her Majesty's Courts in regard to any Act done by him under such rule or regulation previously to its disallowance.

III.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul as aforesaid, upon information, or upon the complaint of any party that a British subject has violated any of the stipulations of Treaties, or of regulations appended to any Treaty, between Her Majesty and the Kings of Siam, or has disregarded or infringed any of the rules and regulations for the observance of the stipulations of such Treaties, affixed and exhibited according to the provisions of the next preceding Article of this present Order, to summon before him the accused party, and to receive evidence and examine witnesses as to the guilt or innocence of such party in regard to the offence laid to his charge; and to award such penalty of fine or imprisonment to any party convicted of an offence against the said Treaties, or appended regulations, or the said rules and regulations, as may be specified therein respectively; and any charge against a British subject for a breach of Treaties or regulations, or for a breach of the rules and regulations for the observance of such Treaties, shall be heard and determined by the Consul, without assessors: Provided always, that in no case shall the penalty to be attached to a breach of the said rules and regulations exceed 500 Dollars, or 3 months' imprisonment.

IV.—And it is further ordered, that any charge against a British subject for a breach of rules and regulations, other than those relating to the observance of Treaties, shall in like manner be heard and determined by Her Majesty's Consul; and in all cases in which the penalty shall not exceed 200 Dollars or 1 month's imprisonment, the Consul shall hear and determine the charge summarily, without the aid of assessors; but where the penalty attached to a breach of the rules and regulations other than those relating to the observance of Treaties shall amount to more than 200 Dollars, or to imprisonment for more than 1 month, the Consul, before he shall proceed to hear the charge, shall summon 2 British subjects of good repute to sit with him as assessors, which assessors shall, however, have no authority to decide on the innocence or guilt of the party charged, or on the amount of fine or imprisonment to be awarded to him on conviction; but it shall rest with the Consul to decide on the guilt or innocence of the party charged, and on the amount of fine or imprisonment to be awarded to him: Provided always, that in no case shall the penalty to be attached to a breach of rules and regulations other than those for the observance of Treaties exceed 500 dollars or 3 months' imprisonment; and provided further that in the event of the said assessors or either of them dissenting from the conviction of the party charged, or from the penalty of fine or imprisonment awarded to him by the Consul, the Consul shall take a note of such dissent, with the grounds thereof, and shall require good and sufficient security for the appearance of the party convicted at a future time, in order to undergo his sentence or receive his discharge; and the Consul shall, with as little delay as possible, report his decision, with all the particulars of the case, together with the dissent of the assessors or either of them, and the grounds thereof, to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have authority to confirm, or vary, or reverse the decision of the Consul, as to him may seem fit.

V.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to hear and determine any suit of a civil nature against a British subject, arising within any part of the dominions of the Kings of Siam, whether such suit be instituted by a subject of the Kings of Siam, or by a subject or citizen of a Foreign State in amity with Her Majesty; and if either, or any, party in such suit shall be dissatisfied with the decision given by such Consul, it shall be lawful for such party within 15 days to give to the Consul notice of appeal to the Supreme Court in Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore; whereupon the Consul shall, with as little delay as possible, transmit all the documents which were produced before him and none other, together with a statement of the grounds on which he has formed his decision, to the said Supreme Court, and shall forthwith notify to the several parties the transmission of the process: Provided always, that it shall be lawful for the Consul to require from any party appealing to the said Supreme Court reasonable security, which shall consist in part of 1 or 2 sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Consul, that such party shall abide by the decision to be given by the said Supreme Court, and, if such appeal shall fail, to answer all costs, loss, and damages sustained by the other party in consequence of such appeal.

VI.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul, in like manner, to hear and determine any suit of a civil nature, arising within any part of the dominions of the Kings of Siam, instituted by a British subject against a subject of the Kings of Siam, or against a subject or citizen of a Foreign State in amity with Her Majesty, provided that the defendant in such suit shall consent to submit to his jurisdiction and give sufficient security that he will abide by the decision of the Consul, or, in case of appeal, by that of the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore, and will pay such expenses as the Consul or the said Supreme Court shall adjudge; and if either or any party in such suit shall be dissatisfied with the decision given by such Consul, it shall be lawful for such party within 15 days to give to the Consul notice of appeal to the said Supreme Court, and the proceedings in such a suit, or in an appeal arising therefrom, shall be conformable to, and under the same conditions as, the proceedings in a suit, or in an appeal arising therefrom, in which a British subject is defendant, and a subject of the Kings of Siam, or a subject or citizen of a Foreign State in amity with Her Majesty, is plaintiff.

VII.—And it is further ordered, that in the event of any suit of a civil nature arising between British subjects within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, it shall be lawful, upon the application of a party, for Her Majesty's Consul to hear and determine such suit, subject to an appeal to the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore: and every such appeal shall be made and conducted in the same manner and form, and under the same conditions, as in cases in which the defendant only is a British subject.

VIII.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to summon 2, and not more than 4, British subjects of good repute, to sit with him as assessors at the hearing of any suit whatever of a civil nature brought before him for decision; and in case the sum sought to be recovered shall exceed 500 Dollars, such suit shall not be heard by the Consul without assessors, if within a reasonable time such assessors can be procured; and the assessors aforesaid shall have no authority to decide on the merits of such suit, but in the event of such assessors, or any, or either, of them, dissenting from the decision of the Consul, the Consul shall enter the fact of such dissent, and the grounds thereof, in the minutes of the proceedings, and, in case of appeal, shall transmit the same to the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore, together with the documents relating to the suit.

IX.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to enforce his decision against a British subject in a civil suit, by distress or imprisonment, in like manner as a decision of the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore in a civil suit is enforced within the said Possession.

X.—And it is further ordered, that in an appeal to the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore from the decision of Her Majesty's Consul, it shall be lawful for the said Supreme Court to admit any further legal evidence, besides that adduced before the Consul, on its being established to the satisfaction of the said Supreme Court, by oath or affidavit, that the party desiring to produce such further evidence was ignorant of the existence of such evidence, or was taken by surprise at the hearing before the Consul, or was unable to produce it before the Consul, after due and reasonable diligence and exertion on his part in that behalf, or where, under the circumstances of the case, it shall appear to the said Supreme Court that further evidence ought to be received.

XI.—And it is further ordered, that Her Majesty's Consul shall have power in a civil suit to examine on oath, or in such form, and with such ceremony, as he may declare to be binding on his conscience, any witness who may appear before him, and shall have power, on the application of any party in the said suit, to issue a compulsory order for the attendance of any person, being a British subject, who may be competent to give evidence in such suit; and any British subject having been duly served with any such compulsory order, and with a reasonable notice of the day of hearing of such suit, upon his expenses of appearing as a witness having been paid or tendered to him by the party at whose application he shall have been ordered to attend, shall, on his wilful default to appear as a witness at the hearing of such suit, be punished with a fine not exceeding 100 Dollars, or with imprisonment for a period not exceeding 30 days, at the discretion of the said Consul; and every witness, being a British subject, so examined as aforesaid, in case of wilful false testimony, may be convicted of, and punished for, the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

XII.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to promote the settlement of a suit or contention by amicable agreement between the parties, and, with the consent of the several parties, to refer the decision of a suit or contention to one or more arbitrators, and to take security from the parties that they will be bound by the result of such reference, and the award of such arbitrator or arbitrators shall be, to all intents and purposes, deemed and taken to be a judgment or sentence of Her Majesty's Consul in such suit or contention, and shall be entered and recorded as such, and shall have the like effect and operation, and shall be enforced accordingly, and shall not be open to appeal.

XIII.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to cause to be apprehended and brought before him any British subject who may be charged with having committed any crime or offence within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, and such Consul shall thereupon proceed, with all convenient speed, to inquire of the same, and for such purpose and end shall have power to examine on oath, or in such form and with such ceremony as he shall declare to be binding on his conscience, any witness who may appear before him to substantiate the charge; and shall have power to compel any person, being a British subject, who may be competent to give evidence as to the guilt or innocence of the party so charged, to appear and give evidence, and to punish the wilful default of any such person to appear and give evidence, after reasonable notice of the day of the hearing of such charge, by fine or imprisonment, in like manner as provided in Article XI. of this Order; and shall examine every such witness in the presence and hearing of the party accused, and afford the accusing party all reasonable facility for cross-examining such witness; and shall cause the deposition of every such witness to be reduced to writing, and the same to be read over, and, if necessary, explained to the party accused, together with any other evidence that may have been urged against him during the course of the inquiry: and shall require such accused party to defend himself against the charge brought against him, and, if necessary, advise him of the legal effects of any voluntary confession, and shall take the evidence of any witness whom the accused party may tender to be examined in his defence; and every witness, being a British subject, so examined as aforesaid, in case of wilful false testimony, may be convicted and punished for the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury: and when the case has been fully inquired of, and the innocence or guilt of the person accused established to the satisfaction of the Consul, the Consul, as the case may be, shall either discharge the party accused from custody, if satisfied of his innocence, or proceed to pass sentence on him, if satisfied of his guilt: and it shall be lawful for the Consul, having inquired of, tried, and determined, in the manner aforesaid, any charge which may be brought before him, to award to the party convicted any amount of punishment not exceeding imprisonment for one month, or a fine of 200 Dollars.

XIV.—And it is further ordered, that if the crime or offence whereof any person, being a British subject, may be accused before Her Majesty's Consul as aforesaid, shall appear to such Consul to be of such a nature as, if proved, would not be adequately punished by the infliction of such punishment as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for such Consul to summon 2, or not more than 4, British subjects of good repute, to sit with him as assessors for inquiring of, trying, and determining the charge against such person; and the Consul when he shall try any such charge with the assistance of assessors as aforesaid, shall, if he is himself convinced of the guilt of the party accused, have power to award any amount of punishment not exceeding imprisonment for 12 months, or a fine of 1,000 Dollars; and the assessors aforesaid shall have no authority to decide on the innocence or guilt of the party accused, or on the amount of punishment to be awarded to him on conviction; but in the event of the said assessors, or any, or either, of them, dissenting from the conviction of, or from the amount of punishment awarded to, the accused party, the said assessors, or any, or either, of them, shall be authorized to record in the minutes of the proceedings the grounds on which the said assessors, or any, or either, of them, may so dissent; and the Consul shall forthwith report to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs the fact that such dissent has been so recorded in the minutes of the proceedings, and shall, as soon as possible, lay before him copies of the whole of the depositions and proceedings, with the dissent of the assessors or assessors recorded therein; and it shall be lawful thereupon for Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, by warrant under his hand and seal, addressed to the Consul, to confirm, or vary, or remit altogether, as to him may seem fit, the punishment awarded to the party accused; and such Consul shall give immediate effect to the injunction of any such warrant: Provided always, that in any case in which the assessor or assessors shall dissent from the conviction of, or from the amount of punishment awarded to, the accused party, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to take good and sufficient bail from the accused party to appear and undergo the punishment awarded to him, provided the same, or any portion thereof, is confirmed by Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, which punishment, or any portion thereof, shall commence to take effect from the day on which the decision of Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall be notified to the party accused.

XV.—And in order more effectually to repress crimes and offences on the part of British subjects within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, it is further ordered, that it shall and may be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to cause any British subject who shall have been twice convicted before him of any crime or offence, and punished for the same, and who, after execution of the sentence of the Consul on any second conviction, shall not be able to find good and sufficient security to the satisfaction of the Consul for his future good behaviour, to be sent out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam; and to this end the Consul shall have power and authority, as soon as may be practicable after execution of the sentence on such second conviction, to send any such twice-convicted party, if a native of the territories administered by the East India Company, to Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore, or to some other port of the said territories, or if such party is not a native of the said territories, to England, and in the meanwhile to detain such party in custody, until a suitable opportunity for sending him out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam shall present itself; and any person so to be sent out of the said dominions as aforesaid shall be embarked in custody on board one of Her Majesty's vessels of war, or if there should be no such vessel of war available for such purpose, then on board any British vessel bound to Singapore, or to some other port in the territories administered by the East India Company, or to England, as the case may be; and it shall be lawful for the commander of any of Her Majesty's ships of war, or of any British vessel bound to any such port as aforesaid, or to England, to receive any such person as aforesaid under a warrant from the Consul to him addressed, and thereupon to convey him in custody to any such port as aforesaid, or to England, in the same manner as if he were a distressed British subject, unless he shall be willing and able himself to defray the expenses of his passage.

XVI.—And it is further ordered, that in any case in which any British subject shall be accused before Her Majesty's Consul of the crime of arson, or house-breaking, or cutting and maiming, or stabbing, or wounding, or assault endangering life, or of wilfully causing any bodily injury dangerous to life, the proceedings before the Consul shall be carried on with the aid of assessors convened in the manner aforesaid; and it shall be lawful for the Consul, if to him it shall seem fit, to cause any person convicted before him of any of the crimes aforesaid, over and above any fine or imprisonment which may be awarded to such person, to be sent out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam in the manner pointed out in the next preceding Article of this Order, notwithstanding the crime laid to the charge of such person may be the first of which he has been convicted before the Consul.

XVII.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul, within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, upon information laid before him by one or more credible witnesses, that there is reasonable ground to apprehend that any British subject is about to commit a breach of the public peace, to cause such British subject to be brought before him, and to require such British subject to give sufficient security to keep the peace; and in the event of any British subject being convicted of, and punished for, a breach of the peace, to cause such British subject, after he shall have undergone the punishment which may have been awarded to him by the Consul, to find security for his good behaviour; and in the event of any British subject who may be required, as aforesaid, to give sufficient security to keep the peace, or to find security for his good behaviour, being unable, or wilfully omitting to do so, then, and in that case, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to send such British subject out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam in the manner pointed out in Article XV. of this Order.

XVIII.—And it is further ordered, that in all cases in which a British subject shall have been sent out of the dominions of the Kings of Siam, as provided in Articles XV., XVI., and XVII. of this Order, the Consul sending him out shall forthwith report such act of deportation, with the grounds of his decision, to Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, or, in a case where the party so deported is a native of the territories administered by the East India Company, to the Governor-General of India.

XIX.—And it is further ordered, that in cases of assault it shall be lawful for the Consul before whom complaint is made, to promote reconciliation between the parties, and to suffer compensation and amends to be made, and the proceedings thereby to be stayed.

XX.—And it is further ordered, that a minute of the proceedings in every case heard and determined before the Consul in pursuance of this Order, shall be drawn up and be signed by the Consul, and shall, in cases where assessors are present, be open for the inspection of such assessors, and for their signature, if they shall therein concur; and such minute, together with the depositions of the witnesses, shall be preserved in the public office of the said Consul.

XXII.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to cause any British subject charged with the commission of any crime or offence, the cognizance whereof may at any time appertain to him, to be sent, in any of Her Majesty's ships of war, or in any British vessel, to Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore, for trial before the Supreme Court of the said Possession; and it shall be lawful for the Commander of any of Her Majesty's ships of war, or of any British vessel, to receive any such person on board, with a warrant from the said Consul, addressed to the Chief Magistrate of Police of the said Possession, and thereupon to convey him in custody to Singapore, and on his arrival there to deliver him, with the said warrant, into the custody of the said Chief Magistrate of Police, or other officer within the said Possession lawfully acting as such, who, on the receipt of the said warrant and of the party therein named, shall be authorized to commit, and shall commit, such party so sent for trial to the common gaol of the said Possession, and it shall be lawful for the keeper of the said common gaol to cause such party to be detained in safe and proper custody, and to be produced upon the order of the said Supreme Court; and the Supreme Court, at the sessions to be next holden, shall proceed to hear and determine the charge against such party in the same manner as if the crime with which he may be charged had been committed within Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore.

XXIII.—And it is further ordered, that Her Majesty's Consul, on any occasion of sending a prisoner to Singapore for trial, shall observe the provisions made with regard to prisoners sent for trial to a British colony in an Act passed in the 6th and 7th years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to remove doubts as to the exercise of power and jurisdiction by Her Majesty within divers countries and places out of Her Majesty's dominions, and to render the same more effectual."

XXIV.—And it is further ordered, that the Supreme Court of Her Majesty's Possession of Singapore shall have and may exercise, concurrently with Her Majesty's Consul, authority and jurisdiction in regard to all suits of a civil nature between British subjects arising within any part of the dominions of the Kings of Siam; Provided always, that the said Supreme Court shall not be bound, unless in a fit case it shall deem it right so to do by writ of certiorari or otherwise, to debar or prohibit the Consul from hearing and determining, pursuant to the provisions of the several Articles of this Order, any suit of a civil nature between British subjects, or to stay the proceedings of the Consul in any such matter.

XXV.—And it is further ordered, that all fines and penalties imposed under this Order may be levied by distress, and seizure, and sale of ships, and goods and chattels; and no bill of sale, mortgage, or transfer of property made after the apprehension of a party, or with a view to security in regard to crimes or offences committed, or to be committed, shall avail to defeat any of the provisions of this Order.

XXVI.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul from time to time to establish rules of practice to be observed in proceedings before the said Consul, and to make regulations for defraying the expenses of witnesses in such proceedings and the costs of criminal prosecutions, and also to establish rates of fees to be taken in regard to civil suits heard and determined before the said Consul, and it shall be lawful for the said Consul to enforce by seizure and sale of goods, or, if there be no goods, by imprisonment, the payment of such established fees, and of such expenses as may be adjudged against the parties, or either, or any, of them: Provided always, that a table, specifying the rates of fees to be so taken, shall be affixed and kept exhibited in the public office of the said Consul.

XXVIII.—And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for Her Majesty's Consul to grant probate of the will or letters of administration to the intestate estate of a British subject deceased, and leaving property within the Kingdom of Siam; and in the case of a party so deceased either leaving a will, or intestate, it shall be lawful for the Consul, provided that probate of the will or letters of administration to the estate of the party deceased shall not have been applied for within 30 days by any person lawfully entitled thereto, to administer to such estate, and to reserve to himself out of the proceeds of such estate a commission not exceeding $2\frac{1}{2}$ per centum.

XXIX.—And it is further ordered, that a register shall be kept by Her Majesty's Consul, of all British subjects residing within the Kingdom of Siam, and that every British subject now residing within the dominions of the Kings of Siam who shall not be already enrolled in such Consular Register, shall, within a reasonable time after promulgation of this Order, to be specified in a notice to be affixed and publicly exhibited in the Consular Office, apply to the Consul to be enrolled in such register; and every British subject who may arrive within the said dominions, save and except any British subject who may be borne on the muster-roll of any British ship arriving in a port of Siam, shall, within a reasonable time after his arrival, to be specified as aforesaid, apply to the Consul to be enrolled in such register; and any British subject who shall refuse or neglect to make application so to be enrolled, and who shall not be able to excuse, to the satisfaction of the said Consul, such his refusal or neglect, shall not be entitled to be recognized or protected as a British subject in any difficulties or suits whatsoever, in which he may have been involved within the dominions of the Kings of Siam within the time during which he shall not have been so enrolled.

XXX.—And it is further ordered, that Her Majesty's Consul may exercise any of the powers which by any Acts of the Imperial Parliament now enacted or hereafter to be enacted for the regulation of merchant seamen, or for the regulation of the mercantile marine, may be exercised by one or more justices of the peace within Her Majesty's dominions.

XXXI.—And it is further ordered, that nothing in this Order contained shall be taken or construed to preclude Her Majesty's Consul within the dominions of the Kings of Siam from performing any act of administration or jurisdiction, or other act, which British Consuls within other States at amity with Her Majesty are by law, usage, or sufferance, enabled to perform.

XXXII.—And it is further ordered, that any suit or action brought against Her Majesty's Consul by reason of anything done under the authority and in execution of the power or jurisdiction of Her Majesty entrusted to him by this Order, shall be commenced or prosecuted within 6 months after he shall have been within the jurisdiction of the Court in which the same may be brought, and not otherwise, and the defendant in every such action or suit shall be entitled to the benefit of the provisions made with respect to defendants in actions or suits, in an Act passed in the 6th and 7th years of Her Majesty, intituled "An Act to remove doubts as to the exercise of power and jurisdiction by Her Majesty within divers countries and places out of Her Majesty's dominions, and to render the same more effectual."

XXXIII.—And it is further ordered, that the term "Consul" in this present Order shall be construed to include all and every officer in Her Majesty's service, whether Consul-General, Consul, Vice-Consul, or Consular Agent, or person duly authorized to act in any of the aforesaid capacities within the dominions of the Kings of Siam, and engaged in carrying out the provisions of this Order; and that wherever in this Order with reference to any person, matter, or thing, any word or words is or are used importing the singular number, or the masculine gender only, yet such word or words shall be understood to include several persons as well as one person, females as well as males, and several matters or things as well as one matter or thing, unless it be otherwise specially provided, or there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction.

ARTER TITLES

I HAVE received your Majesty's gratifying letter on the subject of the settlement of the boundary line between the Kingdom of Siam and the British Province of Tenasserim.

Lieutenant Arthur Herbert Bagge of the Royal Engineers, whom I had deputed as my Commissioner to demarcate the boundary, has also informed me of the satisfactory conclusion of this matter. He reports that there is now only one point remaining for adjustment between the two Governments, viz., the sovereignty of certain islands off the mouth of the Pakchan river.

There are altogether five islands or groups of islands situated there, viz., the island of Victoria, Saddle, Delisle, St. Matthew, and the Bird's-nest group.

Your Majesty's Government make no claim regarding St. Matthew and the Bird's-nest group. Regarding the three other islands, I am inclined to view the following as the best solution of the matter, viz., that the island of Victoria, which is nearer to the British than the Siamese Coast, should belong to the British Government, and that the two other islands, Saddle and Delisle, shall be considered part of your Majesty's territories. I have to invite your Majesty's friendly consideration to this proposed method of solving the only question remaining unadjusted. Feeling confident that its reasonableness will commend itself to your Majesty's judgment, I have affixed my seal and signature to the map prepared by Lieutenant Arthur Herbert Bagge, in which the islands are divided in the manner above proposed; and I have directed the Secretary of my Government in the Foreign Department to forward to your Majesty's Ministers the above map, with a duplicate, to which I have the honor to request that your Majesty will affix your Royal seal and signature, and will then direct its return to the Consul of Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland at Bangkok.

The 30th April 1808.
